

Little Symphony Presents Two Concerts; Stays for Weekend

County Board Hears Year-End Reports Yesterday

Commissioners Handle Tax Matters, Draw Jurors for March Court Term

County commissioners in monthly session at the court house yesterday morning heard three year-end reports, handled tax matters and drew the jury for the March term of superior court.

Reports on department activities for 1951 were given by Dr. N. T. Ennett, health officer, Miss George Hughes, welfare superintendent, and R. M. Williams, county farm agent.

William Way and W. V. B. Potter, Beaufort, appeared and requested that the valuation on the Beaufort Ice co. be reduced from $8,000 to $5,000. They were asked to present their request at the board of equalization meeting March 17.

Resolution Passed

This gave rise to passage of a resolution by the board to the effect that no valuation changes would be made during 1952 other than at the board of equalization meeting. Tax requests will be considered by Dr. K. P. B. Bonner, chairman of the board, said that absolutely no valuation changes will be made after the March 17 meeting.

Two men owning marsh land received tax reductions. They were K. W. Gaskill, owner of the Lorenzo Gaskill property, Sea Level, and J. Gordie Styron, owner of the former J. H. Salter property, Sea Level. Gaskill's reduction was from $104 to $52 and Styron's $97.50 to $48.75. Both were for years 1936 and prior and the reduction was made subject to approval by J. F. Duncan, attorney in charge of collecting back taxes.

The board emphasized that the reductions were being made solely on the basis that the property in question was "worthless."

W. L. Lockett, Newport RFD, said that he received a notice for taxes which he said he was assured had been paid in the course of making a business deal on the land. The board removed interest and penalties, reducing the tax to $64.34.

The same settlement was made in the case of Warren Gillikin, North River, who was represented by M. Leslie Davis, Beaufort. The board accepted $59.04, subject to immediate settlement and approval by Duncan.

Mrs. Clifton Lawrence offered $40 in settlement of $81.10, taxes for years which she said she was informed were not collectable. Fifty dollars was accepted for taxes, 1936 and prior, owed by Joseph W. Salter, Harkers Island.

Recommendations Okayed

Duncan recommended and the board accepted the following settlements: Mrs. Roy Simmons, $85; Parsons Investment co., write-off; Hattie Chadwick, $35; Lafayette Copes, $40; John Ellison, $50; Harold Hargett, $60; Lawrence Hazel, $75; Luther Henry, $30; Harriet Windsor heirs, $145; Ollie Davis, $20; Charles Stephens, $50; Carthagenia Davis, $10.

Dr. Bonner appointed Commissioner Moses Howard to investigate a request for change in valuation on the John Hall land, Newport. Howard will report at the March 17 meeting.

The board agreed to accept $75 in settlement of taxes owed by George A. Rose, Harkers Island. The county agreed to deed back to

The audience, though smaller than in previous years when the Little Symphony appeared here, showed intense appreciation of the music presented by the 24 musicians at Beaufort school Thursday night.

Hundreds of school children from throughout the county heard the free concert Friday afternoon. Orchestra members spent the weekend in the county, headquartering at the Jefferson hotel.

The printed program for Thursday's concert appeared in the form of a souvenir booklet. Appearing in it were pictures of the orchestra, conductor, members of the board of trustees, the tour schedules for both the little and full symphonies, list of community chairmen, orchestra personnel and advertisements from business houses throughout the state.

As encores Thursday night the orchestra played two narrative numbers, The Waltzing Cat, and Clink, Clank, Clunk. The third encore was a number by the contemporary Russian composer, Kabalevsky. Excerpts from Kabalevsky's The Comedians were also presented on the regular program and though extremely brief formed one of the evening's highlights.

Also outstanding was the overture from Rossini's opera Italians in Algiers. Haydn's well-known Clock symphony was performed as the second number on the program. The second movement, which comes forth with the defining clock theme was slightly ragged around the edges but the other movements were presented as expertly as possible for a 24-piece orchestra.

Other numbers were Berlioz' Ballet of the Sylphs from The Damnation of Faust, Wagner's Walther's Prize Song, Mozart's Rondo for Glass Harmonica, the Knightsbridge March (Coates), meditation from Thais (Massenet), and Franz Lehar's Gold and Silver Waltz.

During an interval in the second half of the program Dan Walker, manager of the Beaufort chamber of commerce, expressed appreciation to members of the Junior Woman's clubs of Beaufort and Morehead City for making the concert possible, and thanked persons who support the symphony by buying memberships.

He stated that concerns seeking locations for new plants ask what cultural advantages are available in the community. In recent years, this query has risen from 14th to third place in importance. The chamber manager added that Beaufort was proud to be able to list the appearance of the Little Symphony among Carteret's cultural features.

Five Carteret Men Will Be Inducted Tomorrow

Leaving tomorrow for Raleigh are five Carteret inductees, announced Mrs. Ruby Holland, draft board clerk, yesterday. They are as follows: George M. Russell, Guy C. Gillikin, jr., Edgar Pake, all of route 1, Beaufort; Thomas D. Iverson, Beaufort and Carry D. Wilson, Morehead City.

Notices have been mailed to 25 men for physical examinations Feb. 1. Fifty per cent of this number are registrants who have previously been rejected because they did not qualify on the intelligence test, Mrs. Holland explained.

Block Barricaded

Arendell street between 14th and 15th, Morehead City, has been blocked to traffic because of the serious illness of Mrs. Gene Willis. The barriers were put up Friday.

Billy Hamilton his land in payment of $200 within 30 days.

Commissioner Tilden Davis presented a request for paving of the Guthrie road, one-tenth of a mile on Harkers Island.

Full reports given by Dr. Ennett, Miss Hughes, and Williams will appear in Friday's NEWS-TIMES. Names of jurors will also be published then.
