Wagner received the award for the most outstanding work as chairman of an internal committee. He was recognized for his profit-making projects.

Wallace, retiring president, was recipient of the Key Man award and was also given $150 toward paying his expenses at the national Jaycee convention at Dallas in June. The Rudolph Dowdy Memorial award and the Key Man award were presented by W. B. Chalk.

Retired Jaycees were presented with "exhausted rooster" buttons. The recipients were Bob Howard, Bernard Leary, Bruce Goodwin, Chalk, Warren Beck, D. G. Bell, and A. B. Cooper.

Education Board Meets Monday

The county board of education, in monthly session Monday afternoon in the court house annex, Beaufort, approved action of local committees in election and re-election of teachers for the 1952-53 school year.

At four schools, Camp Glenn, Queen Street, W. S. King, and Morehead City, there will be no change in the number of faculty members. H. L. Joslyn, superintendent of schools, reported.

Some resignations were accepted at Newport, Smyrna, and Harkers Island schools, but there "will be relatively few changes," commented the superintendent.

In some cases there will be loss of a high school teacher and addition of a grade teacher or vice versa. The officials said that the official teacher allotment figures for the county probably will not be received until after May 20.

School principals will meet in the superintendent's office tomorrow morning. All schools in the county will close Thursday, May 29.

At the request of the health officer, Dr. N. T. Ennett and upon recommendations of Dr. C. E. Paden, veterinarian, the Beaufort town board Monday night authorized hiring of a dog warden and set up penalties for letting dogs run at large, also fees for dog tags.

If a dog is picked up by the dog warden, the minimum charge to reclaim him will be $5, three of which will go to the warden and the other two to the town. If the dog has not been vaccinated, the owner will be required to have him vaccinated and present proof of vaccination to the town clerk who in turn will issue a dog tag to the owner, $2 charge for a female and $1 for a male.

Dogs picked up by the warden will be taken to the veterinarian, Dr. Paden, and kept for a maximum of five days. If not claimed by then they will be destroyed. If claimed, the owner has to pay a board bill of $1 for each day that the dog has stayed at the vet's.

Commissioner James Rumley abstained from voting on the matter and the mayor cast the vote to break a 2-2 tie.

The letter written to the mayor, L. W. Hassell, in regard to dogs, follows:

May 3, 1952

My dear Mr. Mayor: I respectfully request, in the interest of health protection, that the town of Beaufort enforce its dog ordinance.

As rabies is largely a warm weather disease, the time is approaching when an outbreak of the disease is most apt to occur — already in a nearby town, Washington, N. C., it was reported a few days ago that a mad dog bit a child and seven other dogs.

Death from rabies (hydrophobia) is one of the most horrible of all deaths.

As to its fatality, I speak from two high medical authorities: "Once symptoms of rabies develop, death is inevitable in animal or man." Merck's Manual 8th Edition.

"When once established the disease is hopelessly incurable. Practice of medicine. Osler.

Our duty in protecting adults is plain but our duty to children is doubly plain.

Very truly yours, N. Thos. Ennett, M. D. Carteret County Health Officer

The commissioners authorized the town attorney to draw up the ordinance and suggested that Duncan Warren, who is equipped with truck and other necessary paraphernalia for dog-catching, be employed.

Dr. A. F. Chestnut, C. D. Kirkpatrick Select Spots To Plant Oyster Shells

Members of the staff of the Institute of Fisheries Research, Morehead City, will attend the meeting of the Atlantic Estuarine society the weekend of May 17 at the Maryland Fisheries laboratory, Solomons Island, Md.

Dr. A. F. Chestnut will give a paper on the growth rates of clams and Dr. Eugene Roelofs on the hydrography of Pamlico sound. Others from the institute who will attend the meeting are Austin Williams and William Fahy.

Dr. Chestnut and C. D. Kirkpatrick, commercial fisheries commissioner, this week were staking out beds for planting of oyster shells in North Carolina waters.

Due to the big season, from Oct. 1, 1951 to Feb. 29, 1952, approximately 85,000 tubs of shells will be available for planting this year. Last year 56,008 tubs of shells were planted, according to figures released by the commercial fisheries office, Morehead City.

The state requires that one half of the shells from oysters taken the previous season be returned to the state.

Working in the sound Tuesday were Dr. Roelofs and Williams. Dr. Roelofs was obtaining data on croakers and Williams on shrimp.

Curbs Lifted On Time Buying

Washington. (AP) — Controls over installment buying were suspended Wednesday because the government decided inflationary dangers have eased off.

For the consumer, the decision means no government requirements as to down payments or time to pay for automobiles, furniture, radio and television sets, and scores of other items.

Many authorities said the result would be a trend toward small down payments and more time to pay. Dealers and finance companies still may impose their own terms, in the absence of government regulations.

Industry hoped for an immediate boost in sales, which have been lagging in some fields. But some officials said they thought the stimulant would be slight, and perhaps only temporary.

After 90 Years, Confederate Battery Flag Returns to Fort

At Raleigh Monday a Confederate flag, captured upon the fall of Fort Macon in 1862, was presented to Thomas W. Morse, superintendent of state parks, for its return to the fort. The fort, located at the state park on Bogue banks, is now being converted into a museum.

The flag has been with the State Department of Archives and History since its presentation to the North Carolina Historical commission Aug. 17, 1916 by the late Mrs. Benjamin J. Bell of Beaufort. Mrs. Bell's husband was given the flag March 16, 1906 at Raleigh by survivors of the Yankee troops which took the flag upon the fall of the fort.

Bell was one of the surviving defenders of the fort, fighting with Battery H of the 10th regiment of the North Carolina State troops. The flag of Battery H was taken by men of Company E of the Fifth Rhode Island Volunteers and was returned by survivors of the Rhode Island soldiers to survivors of the Men in Grey in a ceremony at Raleigh in 1906. Many from Beaufort, including Mr. and Mrs. Bell, went to Raleigh for the ceremony.

The flag was made by the women of Beaufort and was presented to "Old Pistol Riflemen" in May 1861, according to information on a certificate presented Mrs. Bell when she turned the flag over to the state in 1916.

That certificate is now in the possession of the state. See FLAG, Page 7

Navy to Lease Two Warehouses At Morehead Port

Several Months' Negotiations Close with Decision Monday at Wilmington

The State Ports authority in special session Monday at Wilmington decided to lease a portion of the state's new port facilities at Morehead City to the Navy.

The state will lease two warehouses. The rental figure was not disclosed but reliable sources place the annual rental in the neighborhood of a quarter million dollars a year. It is anticipated that this amount will be turned back into the port to improve and rebuild facilities existing before construction of the new two and a half million dollar dock and warehouses.

The Navy originally sought, in addition to the two warehouses, use of a transit shed.

Under the lease agreement, the authority retains the transit shed and new docks, plus the facilities constructed by the Morehead City port commission in the mid-1930s. Negotiations on leasing the port to the Navy have been underway for the past few months.

Col. George Gillette, executive director of the state ports authority was scheduled to arrive in Morehead City yesterday, but plans were changed and he probably will not be here until the beginning of next week.

Planting of joint grass in the open section between the new dock and highway 70 was underway this week. The grass will prevent blinding sand from blowing across the area.

Beaufort Board Adopts New Rules on Cemetery

The Beaufort town board in session Monday night at the town hall adopted recommendations by a recently-appointed committee on operation of Ocean View cemetery, Ann street.

The recommendations as drawn up by the committee, Glenn Adair, chairman, Dr. N. T. Ennett, and D. F. Merrill, and adopted by the board, follow:

1. Continuous care of the cemetery at a minimum cost.
2. Governing body consisting of three directors (may be members of the town board), also a clerk (which may be the town clerk).

4. That the west cemetery wall be torn down and a driveway constructed at the west side of the cemetery.
5. Lots be divided in half with the center line parallel to the longest measure of the lot.
6. That no lot be reserved unless it be paid in full. If lot is bought on installments, assignment of definite plot cannot be made until last payment is received.
7. To construct walls around a plot, a permit must be obtained from the clerk. There will be no charge for this permit. Where joint walls are not used, adjoining walls must abut.
8. No walls may be constructed above 12 inches of average ground level of lot.
9. All wall tops must be level, no protrusions permitted.
10. All lot corner markers must be low enough to permit mowers to run over them.
11. After masonry construction, all remains of materials must be removed.
12. Twelve disposal baskets, made of wire, shall be purchased and placed in the cemetery as receptacles for dead flowers, wreaths, and trash.
13. Fifteen hundred dollars shall be appropriated annually for care and perpetuation of cemetery.
14. A caretaker shall be employed. He shall receive remuneration from grave-opening fees, proceeds from lot sales, and the $1,500 appropriated for annual care.
15. Graves will be opened for $15 upon obtaining a permit from the clerk.
16. Graves shall be opened only by the caretaker.
17. Lots in the newly-opened section shall be revalued before sale. The cemetery committee recommends $50 and $75.
18. Lots in the northwest quadrant, now available for sale, may be sold upon contacting the clerk.

The town board has not yet named the cemetery governing board. Until the appointments are made, the town clerk, Dan Walker, will act as clerk for the cemetery board.

Firefighters Work Desperately, Hope for Rain, Wind Shift

Five fires were raging yesterday in the open grounds and have kept fire-fighters on the jump ever since Monday when they first broke out. For the past two months Carteret county has been relatively free of forest fires, due to most of the farmers being careful in burning off fields, forest rangers declare. However, lack of rain during the past 10 days created a perfect set-up for fires.

The dryness and high winds from the north have been whipping the fires with a frenzy and unless the winds shift or rain comes, there is little hope of controlling the conflagrations.

At the beginning of the week one fire broke out at the head of Williston Creek, later another at the head of the creek at Davis, another between Stacy and Davis, and two more near Williston. All are burning now in the open grounds.

Long Hours E. M. Foreman, county forest ranger, with his crew of fighters have been on duty night and day. Mrs. Marvin Willis, spotter at the fire tower at Otway was on duty until 11:30 p.m. Tuesday night and until 10:30 Wednesday night.

The first fires are believed to have been deliberately set. Although the scrub timber and marsh grass are not valuable in the open grounds, Roy Beck, soil conservationist of Carteret county, says that the open grounds and one other spot in eastern Carolina are the only places in the state where the rich soil, muck, has not been burned out.

Danger of Soil Burning "If the ground catches fire, it will be too bad," he remarked. In another section of the state, such occurred and now he says the place is nothing but three or four inches of ashes and sand.

Muck results when small organisms decay and through the years continue to pile up, making a rich soil. At present, Miss Georgina Yeatman, owner of the open grounds, is undertaking an extensive drainage project to reclaim the land.

"The fires there have destroyed many of my stakes, about five days' work," commented Beck who is assisting Miss Yeatman in the drainage work.
