Cherry Point Armed Forces Day Will Operate on Daylight Time

Cherry Point.—"Open house" at the Marine Corps Air station here on Armed Forces Day, May 17, will be conducted on a schedule of daylight saving time, citizens were reminded today by the air station committee in charge of the day-long program.

Cherry Point has been operating on daylight saving time for two weeks, but most North Carolina communities in the area still observe eastern standard time.

Daily routine at the mammoth air base was set ahead by an hour on April 27 for the conservation of daylight hours during the months of late spring and summer.

Thousands of North Carolinians are expected to visit the base during the observance of the third anual Armed Forces Day. A number of parades, speaking engagements, and other special events are scheduled for nearby communities during the week preceding "open house" here on Saturday.

is 25 cents a pound. "So you see," he continued, "fish is not an economical food, when actually it could be."

In China the fisherman sells his catch to a dealer, the dealer sells it to a wholesaler, and the wholesaler in turn sells it to a retail dealer, thus the product is handled four times before it ever reaches the Chinese housewife. The fisherman, of course, gets just a fraction of the final sale price.

No Refrigeration

In China there are no refrigeration facilities at all, making transportation of fish very difficult. They make use of ice as much as possible, Chow explained.

In his home country, purse seining is practically unknown. It is practiced by the natives of Chefoo, a small village in northern China. There the fishermen seine, using sailboats, but the season is very short, just 20 days, for taking mackerel by that method.

"Since the Communists came in, we can't go there now," Chow added. He hopes that purse seining can be adapted for use in China waters as a means of increasing the supply of fish products. "If we can increase the supply by improved methods, we can get the cost down," the Chinese student remarked.

When Chow first came to this country, he went to Chicago for a two-week orientation course, then to Boston where he observed for four weeks deep sea trawling. His next visit was to San Pedro, Calif., for study of the sardine industry. He stayed there until the beginning of February when he went to Seattle to observe the northwest fisheries.

While there, he went on a fishing trip along the coast of Alaska, trawling for bottom fish. At the end of March he traveled cross-country again to St. Petersburg, Fla., to study mullet. After two weeks there, he continued to Miami to study at the Miami University Marine laboratory. He arrived in Beaufort from Miami Sunday night.

From New York's fish markets, he will continue north to Boston to study the mackerel fishery, and after two weeks there, go on to Portland, Me. He expects to spend the remainder of the summer there with the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Chow is impressed with this country, and says he likes it. "But I'm awfully anxious to get back home," he said with a grin.

Nutritionist Suggests Purchase of Enriched Meal

Miss Florence Cox, extension nutritionist from State college, who spoke recently to Home Demonstration club women in Carteret county, suggested that housewives always ask for enriched cornmeal. She pointed out that in the enrichment process vitamins and minerals are added to improve health of the individual.

Defendant Gets Eight-Month Suspended Term

John Henry Pritchett received a total of eight months in jail, suspended on condition he remain on good behavior three years, pay fines totaling $60 plus the costs in two cases against him. The cases were heard in recorder's court, Beaufort, Tuesday.

Pritchett pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of drugs or narcotics and was given a six-month sentence. For allowing Wilbur Sparrow to operate a car without a license, Pritchett was given 60 days and ordered to pay Rose Sloan Ely, whose car Sparrow hit, $75 within 30 days.

The accident occurred at 11:30 p.m. May 6 at 612 Pine st., Beaufort. Sparrow, driving, Pritchett's car, ran into the Ely car which was parked, causing damage estimated at $61.80. Damage to Pritchett's car was estimated at $25.

Pritchett Runs

When Chief of Police Carlton Garner attempted to serve warrants on Pritchett Saturday, Pritchett jumped in his car and sped away, but was finally apprehended. Then in addition to the charge of letting Sparrow operate his car without a license, Pritchett was charged with driving drunk. The police chief alleged that he was intoxicated at the time he tried to evade arrest.

Sparrow, charged with driving without a license and leaving the scene of the accident, pleaded guilty and paid $10 and costs. Pritchett's bonds for appearance Tuesday totaled $200 and Sparrow's bond was $100.

Cases against Edith and Dorothy Bell, charged with assault, and Derwood Fulcher, charged with theft, were dismissed.

Victor Allen Hancock pleaded guilty to driving drunk and was given a three-month sentence, suspended on condition he pay $100 and costs within 30 days. Jack Harrell, charged with giving a bad check, pleaded guilty, and was ordered to pay court costs and make good the check.

Rosetta Williams did not contest the charge of having non tax-paid whiskey in her possession for the purpose of sale. She was ordered to pay $50 and costs.

Four Pay Costs

Costs were levied against the following: Edward G. Albright for having an improper muffler; William Walter Farmer, for allowing an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle; Kathleen Farmer, for driving without an operator's license; Robert Lee Dennis, Jr., speeding.

Malicious prosecution was ruled in the following cases and the prosecuting witness ordered to pay costs: Otis Edwards, colored, cohabiting with another man's wife; John E. Mann, assault and exploding fire crackers; Joyce Ann Rutledge, assault with a knife; Sunie Bell Brooks, assault.

Pearlean Spencer paid half the costs for driving without an operator's license. The state decided not to prosecute the case against Hardy L. Bailey charged with driving with insufficient brakes.

Willie Stewart, charged with being drunk and a public nuisance, forfeited $50 bond for failure to appear. He was arrested Saturday in Beaufort. Others who forfeited bond were George Rogers Williams, Bonnie Oliver Walters, and Melvert Hugh Taylor, all charged with violating the motor vehicle law.

License Revoked

The operator's license of Richard J. Gastineau, Cherry Point, has been revoked again as the result of Gastineau's being convicted of driving after license was revoked and speeding.

ONE WAY TO BALANCE

(your budget)

Balancing the budget seems to be one of the favorite indoor sports in this day of high costs and prices. But there's one item in your household budget that is lower than ever before... that's your electric bill. Yes sir, more and more folks have discovered that their biggest bargain today is electrical living.

Right now, for all the folks living in the former Tide Water territory, there's a better-than-ever bargain. Since April 1, when the Carolina Power & Light Company instituted the new inducement rate, you can effect a real savings!

All residential customers using less than 250 Kilowatt-hours, (using electric lights, refrigerator and small appliances) will have a comparison billing. If you use more electricity this month than you used during the same month last year, your bill will be figured on inducement rate B and you will find you have earned additional electricity at NO EXTRA COST.
