Fletcher Hoggard, Jr., Weds Miss Marian Garrish

Ocracoke — In a beautiful candlelight service at the Ocracoke Methodist church Wednesday evening at eight o'clock Miss Marian Belle Garrish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Garrish, and Fletcher Colbert Hoggard, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hoggard, of Virginia Beach, were married, with the Rev. W. Y. Stewart officiating.

The chancel of the church was decorated with white oleanders against a background of green, with candelabra on both sides. Mrs. Ruby Garrish, aunt of the bride, played several organ selections. E. Carleton Kelly, cousin of the bride sang "O Promise Me."

Miss Garrish wore a lovely pale blue lace-over-taffeta dress and carried yellow roses; the groom wore the uniform of the United States Coast Guard. Miss Jean Dixon of Beaufort, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor; Danny Garrish of Ocracoke was groomsmen. In the absence of her father, due to hospitalization in Norfolk, the bride was given by her cousin, E. Carleton Kelly. Mrs. Garrish at the organ used the traditional wedding march and recessional. Following the ceremony the bride's mother entertained the wedding party and visiting guests at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher C. Hoggard, sr., and Mrs. Julia M. Phillips, grandmother of the groom, from Virginia Beach and Norfolk, and Miss Patsy Hardesty of Beaufort were out-of-town guests.

After a brief trip north, Mr. and Mrs. Hoggard, jr., will be at home at Ocracoke, where he is stationed in the U. S. Coast Guard. Prior to his enlistment in the Coast Guard, he attended Oak Ridge Military school. Mrs. Hoggard is a graduate of Ocracoke high school, class of 1952. Her father is a Coast Guardsman, her grandfather, the late Capt. Henry Garrish, was for many years in command of the local Coast Guard station.

Mrs. Jason Mann, the former Miss Patricia McCluskey of Greensboro. Mr. Mann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Mann of Newport.

Rent Director Answers Queries

(These questions were selected from those often asked of the rent office. If you have a question about the rent stabilization program, address it to: Branch Area Rent Office, Pender Bldg., 9th & Arendell St., Morehead City, N. C.)

Q: I live in a city not affected by rent stabilization regulations but one of the houses I own is located in Carteret county. Do I have to comply with your regulations and, if so, on all of the houses I own?

A: You must comply with ORS regulations only on your houses (and other dwelling units) located within the defense-rental area. The Carteret County Branch Area Rent office embraces Carteret county. Your units located out of this or other areas are not affected by the regulations.

Q: I saw something in the paper about rent controls going out on September 30, unless a local governing body asks that they be continued. Does this mean there'll likely be no controls in Carteret county from October 1 on?

A: The September 30, 1952 date does not apply to critical defense-rental areas such as Carteret county. The Congress extended rent stabilization in all such critical areas until April 30, 1953. In areas not declared critical, however, there must be a request from the local governing body or an affirmative vote by referendum if rents and evictions are to be controlled by the federal government after September 30, of this year.

Q: I am planning to convert part of my house into an apartment and offer it for rent. I have never had any dealings with the rent office and want to know what I should do. I'd also like to know what rent I'll be allowed to charge.

A: First, you should go to the rent office and make a written request for a prior opinion on the maximum rent you will be able to charge. You should furnish the rent office with complete information regarding size of the apartment, what furniture, furnishings and equipment it will contain and what services you will offer. Also, an estimate of the costs of the construction. The rent office will be glad to furnish you a prior opinion based on these facts. Secondly, within 30 days after the unit is first rented you must register it with the rent office on forms that will be provided. I would suggest that you pick up a copy of the Fact Sheet for Landlords and Tenants during your initial visit to the office.

Q: My tenant's lease has expired and he doesn't want to move. I would prefer that he vacate the property and don't want to renew the lease. He says I have to because of the rents laws. What can I do?

A: You cannot evict the tenant just because the lease has expired. But, for your protection, you should advise him in writing that your acceptance of rent after the expiration of the lease does not constitute consent for renewal of the rental agreement but is only because you are required to do so under rent stabilizations.

Airplane Advertising

Singapore (AP)—The director of civil aviation is considering the application of a Singapore advertising agency that wants to carry out aerial advertising at night. The agency plans sending up a plane between 6 and 7 o'clock each evening. The plane will tow an illuminated sign deriving power from the plane's generator.

Yachtsmen from Ireland Stop At Beaufort on Way to Canada

By Imogene Long

Tony Jacob 24, of Wexford, Ireland, and the honorable Anthony Blyth, 21, son of a lord, of Galway, Ireland, landed in Beaufort Wednesday night after a three-month voyage in their 45-foot ketch, Aisling. Originally there were six in the crew but four were put ashore at Puerto Rico, where they will work this winter.

Docking with the crew of two was Edwin Clarke, 22, of Pittsburgh, Pa., whom they met in Miami. He left for Washington while they were docked at Beaufort, to go into the Air Force.

The crew of six, including a wireless operator, set sail from Galway Bay, Ireland, on May 1 with the intention of ending their journey in Canada. They proceeded first to Spain, then Africa. Jacob, skipper of the yacht, has a sister working for the American government in French Morocco and the five days they stayed there were most enjoyable, they declared.

From there they headed west and the first port on this side was Puerto Rico; from there the little craft carried its crew of two to the islands of Haiti and Cuba. Miami was their first American port.

When the craft left Morocco its destination was the Canary Islands via Madeira but bad weather hit them and they gave up the idea of going to Madeira. On the fourth night they went through a violent thunderstorm with almost continuous flashes of lightning that made the sky bright as day.

Next morning the weather was all clear and the sun shining bright. The wind was at last right, blowing from the northeast. They sighted the outer group of the Canary Islands May 31, and docked June 1. They remained there for 10 days, giving the boat a thorough going-over in preparation for the non-stop journey across the Atlantic to Puerto Rico, 2,800 miles.

This is not Jacob's first trip across the Atlantic in a sailboat. In 1950 he made the journey with some friends in a much smaller craft. That time he set sail from Dublin. The purpose of the trip was to study architecture under Frank Lloyd Wright, famous American architect.

He says he likes the feel better. The Aisling pulled out of Beaufort early Friday morning headed for New York. There they hope to sell the sailboat and go on to their jobs in Canada. Jacob hopes to begin a building business there. He vows he will head south on his vacation and visit the folks who were so good to them on their short stay in Beaufort.

Jacob attended public school in Shrewsbury, in Shropshire county, and since there's little opportunity for professional young men in Ireland he decided he'd be better off to get his education in America. He later decided to return to this side of the ocean and work at his profession in Canada.

Blyth attended St. Columbus college near Dublin for four years and expects to work with the General Motors corporation in Canada as a mechanic.

Ice Box Purchased

Jacob purchased the Aisling in February and after working on her a couple of months had her in good shape. They left Ireland with two to three tons of supplies but it was only after they landed at Beaufort that they acquired an ice box.

Upon asking Blyth about prices of articles in Ireland he said things are fairly expensive compared to the wage scale, but you can purchase almost anything you wish. They have a system of rationing in some cases, for instance sugar. Each one is allowed one half pound a week for 5 pence, subsidized price. You are allowed to buy more than that, but it would be at an unsubsidized price.

When asked how the war affected their country, Jacob, who was a member of the Royal Air Force, stated that Ireland remained neutral but a few stray bombs dropped on Dublin.

On the craft, which has a kerosene capacity of 50 gallons, and will sleep eight people, are two radios, a "graphophone" which is the wind-up type but has an electric speaker, and a beautiful painting by Paul Henry. The painting is of a spot in Galway Bay near the place the Aisling was built.

The crew (who still get sick when at sea), all smoked "Sweet Afton" cigarettes which are made in Dundalk, Ireland, of Virginia imported tobacco. The cigarettes sell for about 30 cents in American money and come packed 20 to a box.

Skipper Jacob steers the craft with a tiller instead of a wheel.
