

Marines Bound For Labrador

Some one-thousand marines from Camp Lejeune are boarding four naval transports at the port terminal in Morehead City this week. The transports, which came in yesterday, are the Glynn, the Rankin, the Cambria, and the Botetown, according to Jack Holt, manager of the port.

The marines will load through Saturday of this week. They are on their way to Labrador for maneuvers.

Holt reports that there were two other ships in this week. One coming in on Monday was the Esso tanker Annapolis. The other was the Shell tanker Paludina, docked here Tuesday. Both ships were discharging oil and asphalt.

Sears Observes Annual Dixie Celebration

Illustrating Sears, Roebuck and co.'s ever growing participation in the economic development of the south, the company's order offices and retail stores in North Carolina have begun their third annual Dixie Progress celebration, Sears local manager Mrs. Gretchen Brinson, announced yesterday.

Southern products have long been featured in the familiar Sears catalogs and serve to point up the extent to which Sears is dependent on industry in the south and more especially in North Carolina. Such merchandise purchased by Sears in 1951 from North Carolina manufacturers amounted to $76,263,000.

County Shares Forest Proceeds

Carteret county will receive $3,993.06 as its share in a check from the U. S. Department of Agriculture paid to 25 North Carolina counties.

The money represents 25 per cent of the receipts from national forests in the state during the fiscal year ending last June 30. Each of the counties shares in the proceeds in proportion to the amount of national forest land contained in the county.

The money, returned to the counties in lieu of taxes, is to be used either for public schools or public roads.

town. The decision to pave the streets was made at the September meeting. The commissioners have extended the period for submitting bids on the work.

Attorney Ball was instructed to draw up an ordinance making it unlawful to park on sidewalks in the town. Police Chief Ormsby Mann was ordered to purchase six no parking signs to be placed where needed.

The board discussed the possibility of placing a stop light at the school crossing on highway 70. Mann suggested a three-way traffic light. The light would be used as a caution light except when children are entering and leaving the school.

A three-way light with controls would cost $354.72. A caution light alone would cost $71.68. Commissioner Murray McCain said that he did not believe that a caution light alone would do any good.

McCain urged the board to consider the matter fully before spending the money for the three-way light. He suggested that a regular traffic light be installed at the crossing. Chief Mann pointed out that such a light would create a traffic jam when workers were coming home from Cherry Point. No action was taken on the subject.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Gould, Chief Mann, Commissioners McCain, Edgar Hibbs, Charles Hill, D. Ira Garner and S. Early Mann and Miss Edith Lockey, town clerk.

Tree Seedlings Sold at Cost

Some 13 million forest tree seedlings are expected to be produced this season at the two state forest nurseries, according to R. M. Williams, county farm agent.

Williams says that these small seedlings will be sold to the farmers throughout the state at actual cost of production.

In order to promote better forestry practices, a number of North Carolina paper and pulp companies purchase these seedlings and distribute them free to 4-H clubs, Future Farmers of America, students and some adult groups for use in reforesting areas that in time will bring cash dividends to timber farmers.

According to Williams, forestry officials are urging that orders for seedlings to be planted during the winter months be placed just as early as possible. Some of the seedling species are limited. Applications will be filled in the order received.

Further information in obtaining tree seedlings may be obtained at the county agent's office.
