The Tri-Hi-Y club will amend its constitution so that anyone with less than a B on conduct will not be eligible for membership. It was decided Monday evening at the regular meeting of the club.

Carol Jones, president, presided over the meeting, the minutes were read by the secretary, Inez Woodard, and the treasurer gave her report.

During the meeting, Anita Copeland and Jane Robinson, delegates from the club, reported on their trip to Albemarle, and the members of the club chose as their project for the month, visiting shut-ins.

Following a Christmas program given by Bitsy Brooks, refreshments of fruit cake, potato chips, candy and soft drinks were served.

The senior English class, under the direction of Mrs. Willis, is completing a unit of work on Shakespeare and the Elizabethan period of English literature. Those students who have artistic ability are drawing scenes portraying the characters they have studied.

Others are planning booklets, studying various plays, dressing dolls to represent characters from Macbeth, or any other activity that interests them. They plan to see a film strip of Macbeth and to hear records of excerpts from the play.

The 10th and 11th grade English classes have been enlarging their personal libraries through purchase of books from two student book clubs, the Student Book Guild and the Teen-age Book club.

The guild books are standard sized books with hard backs, costing fifty cents. Many of the classics can be found among these.

The teen-age books are pocket books costing 25 and 35 cents. Both clubs offer excellent selections made by a group of educators. Both also offer a free book after a certain number of consecutive purchases.

A number of the students have taken advantage of a sale of the pocket books and will give them away as Christmas gifts.

Miss Duncan's junior history class had a term paper on Friday on an early American hero. The students have been busy studying every historical book, novel, encyclopedia and biography in the school and town libraries.

The Future Homemakers of America sold hot dogs and other refreshments at the basketball game with Newport Friday night. Proceeds will be used in buying a new refrigerator with a deep-freeze unit for the home-making department. The chapter also has boxes of Christmas cards for sale.

The regular monthly meeting of the FHA will be held at the home of Mrs. David Beveridge Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Each chapter member is asked to bring a gift wrapped for the Christmas party and a gift of food for a needy family. Mrs. Gerald Myers will demonstrate wrapping Christmas gifts.

Several high school students are learning library work. They have mended books and have sent others away to be rebound. A few new books have been ordered.

Students have varnished the woodwork and are looking forward to painting the walls of the library. They will appreciate the assistance and the cooperation of the townspeople as well as that of members of the school.

Miss Greene's sixth grade pupils are giving news items each morning. For good reports, extra credit is given on their English grades.

Benny Beachem, who has just returned from Korea, visited the class recently and told the pupils about Korea and how Koreans live. Mrs. Day's fifth grade class has organized a club in their room for

Beaufort Book Club Holds Christmas Meeting at Inn

The Beaufort Book Club held its Christmas meeting Thursday evening at Inlet Inn, when the members enjoyed a turkey dinner.

Mrs. D. F. Merrill, president of the club, presided during the business session, before turning the meeting over to Mrs. N. T. Ennett, program chairman for the evening. Mrs. Ennett introduced Miss Pat Webb who told of the origin of Saint Nicholas. Mrs. Ennett gave a brief talk on Christmas wreaths and introduced Mrs. W. M. Gilchrist who told of Della Robia wreaths.

Three members of the club, Mrs. Gilchrist, Mrs. Ennett and Mrs. M. Leslie Davis displayed Della Robia wreaths, made of greens and fruits, which they had made, and which were later presented to Mrs. F. R. Bell and Mrs. A. V. Pierson.

During the program, cedar wreaths and baskets of greenery were brought in so that each club member might make her own Christmas wreath.

At the end of the evening the club joined in singing Christmas carols, in which they were led by Betty Lou Merrill, with Mrs. Joe Howe accompanying them at the piano.

Mrs. Dudley Honored At Open House Sunday

Mrs. Dollie Dudley was guest of honor at an open house last Sunday in celebration of her 66th birthday.

Hosts for the occasion were her three children, Leaton Dudley, Mrs. A. J. Grady and Mrs. Jimmy Powell of New Bern. The party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leaton Dudley of Beaufort RFD.

The living room was decorated with narcissus, roses and petunias, all from the gardens of Mrs. Dudley's neighbors, and the dining room table was centered with sprays of silvered magnolia leaves and yellow tapers in silver candelabra.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell greeted the guests at the door. Mrs. Dudley received the guests informally.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served with Miss Betty Lou Merrill pouring the coffee and Miss Minnie Belle Grady of New Bern, granddaughter of the honoree, serving the three tiered birthday cake.

About 100 relatives and friends called during the afternoon to see Mrs. Dudley.

Each Friday they have a program taken from their school work. Officers of the club are: president, Calvin Jones; vice-president, Pamela Hassell; secretary, George Huntley and treasurer, Patricia Lupton.

Mrs. Rogers' third grade members are writing the story of the first Christmas and are planning a scene of the coming of the wise men as a cover for the Christmas booklet. The Christmas story will be portrayed in a colored chalk frieze. The pupils have learned to spell such words as Bethlehem, Palestine and Judea in connection with the study. There are 40 such Christmas words.

Miss Piver's first grade has organized a writing club. The requirements for membership are to keep the writing on the line with the tall letters two spaces high, the small letters one space high and no erasures. The club members were invited to show samples of their writing to Miss Rumley's third grade. Those going were Anna Salter, Clem Woodard, Brady Way, Gay Felton, Suzanne Guthrie, Eleanor Patterson, Arthur Koon, Tommy Bell, Vance Noe, Larry Teel, William Newmon, Richard Stanley, Martin Guthrie, Joyce Rhue, Mary Beachem, Donald Cannon, Bonnie Merrell, Sandra Mishael, Shelton Harvell and James Roarty, Jr.
