

Cecil Guthrie Appeals Two-Year Road Sentence Imposed Monday

Cecil Guthrie on Monday appealed a two-year sentence on the roads, meted out by Judge George McNeill in Morehead City Recorder's Court. Judge McNeill set bond at $750.

Guthrie was charged with peeping into a woman's room and being drunk and disorderly. He pled guilty to the drunk and disorderly charge, but pled not guilty to the peeping tom charge.

Guthrie was arrested March 12 by Highway Patrolmen J. W. Sykes and E. W. Pickard in the 1500 block of Shackelford avenue. Patrolman Sykes told the court that he saw Guthrie looking into the window of an apartment from an alley that enters the street.

Patrolman Sykes said that Guthrie ran when he was discovered, running about in the neighborhood until captured by Patrolman Pickard.

Said He Was Drunk
Guthrie told the court that he was drunk and was trying to get home by using the alley to escape being seen. He said that he was walking up the alley, which he claimed was blocked by a fence, when he saw Patrolman Sykes. He said he ran to keep from being caught and was intercepted by Patrolman Pickard.

Judge McNeill, however, found Guthrie guilty as charged.

Five Negroes were allegedly in a fight and appeared to answer to charges of fighting and assault. Two cases were continued. They were against Joseph Anderson, charged with fighting and assaulting Harvey Horton Jr. with a knife, and Harvey Horton Jr., charged with fighting and simple assault.

The court tried the three others. Clyde Jones and George Dudley Jr., both charged with fighting and simple assault, were sentenced to 30 days on the streets. Dudley served notice of appeal to superior court. Judge McNeill set his bond at $200.

Joseph Washington, also charged with fighting and simple assault, was sentenced to two weeks on the streets.

The court heard three drunk driving cases. Gordon Herbert Salter, charged with drunk driving, told the court that he wanted a jury trial. The case was docketed for the June term of superior court and his bond set at $100.

Found Guilty
John David Ambrose was found guilty of drunk driving and was sentenced to 90 days on the roads. The sentence will be suspended if Ambrose pays $100 fine and court costs.

Prayer for judgment will continue two weeks in the case of William Fred Anderson, charged with drunk driving.

Traffic violation cases heard by Judge McNeill were Frederick Ray Tillery, reckless driving, $10 and costs; James Edward Wadell, reckless driving, $10 and costs; and David L. Shirey, expired license plates, $10 and costs (second offense).

Paul D. Betts and Patricia Ainsworth, charged with no operator's license, $25 and costs, the fine to be remitted if a valid license is shown to the clerk of court in 30 days.

The state decided not to prosecute three traffic violation cases. They were Joseph Braxton Blake, improper registration; Antoinette Rogal, no operator's license, a valid license was shown that was good at the time of arrest and Holden E. Pumphrey, expired license plates.

The court found Jimmie Pittman not guilty of speeding in excess of 35 in a 35-mile zone.

Ronald Earl Goodwin, charged with having expired license plates and speeding 45 in a 35 mile zone and speeding in a 20 mile zone, was fined $25 and costs.

Fails to Appear
Clarence F. Bell, charged with public drunkenness, did not appear in court. He is to appear in court Monday or his bond will be forfeited.

The prosecuting witness was ordered to pay court costs in the case of William A. Guthrie, charged with using loud and profane language and disturbing the peace. The prosecuting witness withdrew the warrant.

One-half court costs were ordered paid by the following: Edward Tyson Jr., speeding; Robert Lawrence Anderson, expired plates; Daniel J. Rubbio, failing to display license plate properly; and Andrew Zirkebach, expired license plates.

Court costs were ordered paid by the following:
David L. Shirey, expired California plates and speeding; Robert June Tibbs, running through a stop sign; James H. Gregory, speeding; and James David Martin, speeding.

Cases Continued
Cases continued were Leo Eubanks, passing a worthless check for $50; Norman Fisher, drunk driving and reckless driving; Billy M. Douglas, no operator's license; Calvin Alexander Edwards, overloading; John James Jr., running through a red light; and Marvin Andrew Holcombe, drunk driving.

William "Pete" Fulford Jr., having stolen property; Robert Alvin Kelly, speeding, reckless driving, and drunk driving; Albert Lee Copes, misuse of dealer plates; Will Lawrence Jr., failing to have a valid license plate; Harold Willis, drunk and disturbing the peace; and Wadell Gillikin, two counts of speeding.

Health

ses from the health department will give shots in the communities where the outbreaks occur. Such was done on Harkers Island and Smyrna this year when one case of typhoid occurred on Harkers Island.

Children Stricken
The health department has received numerous reports of children having "virus colds." Although the sickness has been called whooping cough, Mrs. Leota Hammer, health department nurse, said that usually the illness is not whooping cough.

It is evidenced by violent coughing and vomiting. Between 75 and 100 children at Ocracoke were afflicted with the virus colds recently. Public health workers from Raleigh visited the island to investigate and said that the affliction was not whooping cough.

There have been several cases of measles and chicken pox reported also.

The health department is continuing with its service to school children who must have tonsils removed or other minor operations performed. The operations are authorized for children whose parents cannot afford the treatment. Funds are obtained through an appropriation from the state authorized by the legislature in 1949.

Carteret's funds are limited, amounting to slightly more than $3,000 annually, the health department says.

County surgeons perform the operations for a minimum fee at the Morehead City and Sea Level Hospitals. The health department said that the splendid cooperation of the doctors and the hospitals is deeply appreciated. Dr. Herbert Webb at the Sea Level Hospital has recently performed 10 tonsillectomies and one hernia operation under the program.

Among U. S. families with incomes of more than $7,500 a year, about 70 per cent own their own homes.
