

Canned Pears with Tang Of Orange Make Fine Salad

Canned pear salad for a Lenten meal.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Such twosome doings with pears! We're thinking of how good canned pears taste with the tang of fresh oranges, as in the salad pictured here. And how well rosettes of cream cheese and cherries garnish this salad.

For another kind of pear salad, fill the halves with something crisp — a mixture of celery, walnuts and mayonnaise. Add pretty green leaves of romaine.

For after-Lenten desserts, we dream on the French way of filling pears with vanilla ice cream and topping with chocolate sauce! And still another luscious combination: coarsely grated semi-sweet chocolate folded into sweetened whipped cream and used as a topping for canned pears.

Ever have pears heaped high with glistening flakes of lemon gelatin? The gelatin is prepared as usual and poured into a shallow pan to set; when it is firm it is flaked with a fork.

Do you like preserved ginger? Chopped fine, it's perfect to spoon into pear cavities; a little of the ginger syrup should be added, too.

This may be served as is, but we highly recommend giving it a turn in the oven.

Another dessert we especially favor. Pears topped with a soft custard sauce that has had a little brandy flavoring added to it.

If you follow these suggestions what are you going to do with the pear juice, you ask? Try combining it with frozen orange juice for the family's morning eye-opener or midafternoon or evening snack.

Or substitute the pear juice for part of the liquid in a flavored gelatin dessert. We never knew what made one of our sister's gelatin desserts taste so good until we discovered she did this. Use the pear juice with any of the gelatin flavors — orange, lemon, lime, strawberry, raspberry or cherry.

Does your family like old-fashioned cottage pudding? Accompany it with a sauce of the pear juice, adding lemon juice and rind, and thickening with cornstarch.

Pear-Orange Salad
Ingredients: 6 drained canned pear halves, 1 head romaine, water-cress, 2 large oranges, 12 cherries (sweet canned or maraschino), 1/2 of a three-ounce package cream cheese, 3 tablespoons honey, 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

Method: Arrange pear halves and romaine on salad plates. Peel oranges so no white membrane remains; cut sections away from dividing membranes with small sharp knife; add orange sections to salads. Garnish with sprigs of watercress. Fill cavities of pears with cherries. Have cream cheese at room temperature; force through a cake decorating tube to make rosettes for blossom ends of pears. Stir honey and lemon juice together; pour over salads. Makes 6 servings.

Average College Man Is Mathematical Myth

Clinton, N. Y. — (AP) — Hamilton College's "average freshman" doesn't exist except in the figures compiled by Robin Holloway, a mathematics major.

The average is 5 feet 10 inches, weighs 152 1/2, has brown hair and blue eyes, is the son of a college-trained business executive and worked as a bell hop at a summer resort hotel. He went to public high school, won a varsity sports letter, belonged to three clubs and worked for the school paper.

$150,000 Goal Set for Easter Seal Campaign

Chapel Hill—An appeal to North Carolina citizens for generous support of the annual Easter Seal Campaign, which opened Thursday and continues through Easter Sunday, April 18, was made at state headquarters here today by Oscar G. Barker of Durham, 1954 State Chairman.

The goal for the state is $150,000, Chairman Barker said.

The 100 county units affiliated with the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children will mail Easter Seals to 400,000 residents in the next two weeks. Coin cards will be distributed through cooperating schools and the annual Lily Parade will be held on April 10, he said.

"County chapters will conduct information programs to re-acquaint the public with the scope of activity," Chairman Barker said. "Money contributed goes to meet needs that otherwise would be neglected and all expenditures are annually audited, with complete financial reports sent to any interested person."

"Last year more than 1,800 people received 65 direct services through local societies and 91.7 per cent of all money raised stayed in North Carolina."

He pointed out that a new service is planned for this summer, if funds are available, a special camp for crippled children in the central part of the State.

"North Carolina has 130,000 physically handicapped and many of them can be brought to live active and profitable lives if treatment and training are provided through badly needed centers, including sheltered workshops, special clinics and classes, and camping programs for crippled children," Chairman Barker said.

Ancient Safe Hunted

Bridgeport, Conn. (AP) — The Bridgeport-City Trust Co. has offered a $100 reward for a small iron safe, the first used by the bank to store its assets. The bank lost track of the safe many years ago. It wants it back now for its centennial celebration.
