

Eagles, Atlantic, Smyrna Ball Clubs to Play Today

Morehead City, Atlantic, and Smyrna baseball teams are scheduled to swing back into action today after a forced layoff due to wet fields.

Wet fields cancelled the Morehead City-Smyrna game Tuesday, also the Atlantic-Pamlico County tilt. Today Morehead City is scheduled to journey to Pamlico County for a game and Atlantic will travel to Smyrna.

Eagles Are Still Happy Over Jones Central Win

By SHELLY SMOYER Sports Editor

After Friday's win over Jones Central, the Morehead City High Nine are still in high jinks. And for good reason too. It was the first time Coach Gannon Talbert had the pleasure of besting Jones Central in four years.

It was a repetition of last year when the two teams met. The Eagles had won two games without defeat. Walter Thomas was on the mound for the Eagles. But there the similarity ended.

Thomas went on to win the game by his fine clutch pitching along with a grand catch in the last of the seventh by Gene Smith. The team was so grateful, Smith was carried off the field on his teammates' shoulders.

The rumor department has been working overtime in Morehead City in regards to the Eagles' next football coach. The story we heard is that the Pamlico County Coach Crellon Manire is slated to pilot the Eagles on the gridiron come this fall. Another faction would like to see John Evans, former Beaufort coach, return to this county for Morehead.

No official word has come from Morehead City High officials as to who the new coach will be. Meanwhile, rumors will keep on flying.

John Maxwell and party of Goldsboro, officially opened sea trout season in Morehead City in shore waters last Thursday. Maxwell caught 24 speckled sea trout and many of them were pretty good size.

Old Man Weather has been a bit unkind to Carteret County baseball teams so far this week. By the looks of things he's not too anxious to relent for the games scheduled today.

Rain forced Morehead City, Atlantic, and Smyrna out of action Tuesday. There may be a chance these games will be rescheduled later on in the season.

Of local interest was the College All-Stars-Harlem Globe Trotters tilt in Raleigh Wednesday. Several sports fans were planning on going. Another attraction was the Cincinnati Redleg-Washington Senators

Swansboro Nips Camp Lejeune 2-1 Tuesday

By S/SGT. J. J. OGGERINO

A walk, two errors, and a three-man conference as to who should catch a fly ball gave Swansboro a 2-1 victory over Camp Lejeune High Tuesday afternoon at Swansboro.

First man up at the bottom of the second was Swansboro's left fielder Darrell Matthews, who walked to first. A pick-off attempt by moundsman Johnny Mugford resulted in a wild throw, allowing Matthews to reach third.

An infield hit by Cal Duplissy was fielded by third baseman Kip Hering whose wild throw to the plate resulted in Matthews scoring the first run of the game.

At the top of the sixth Devilpup catcher George Russell beat out third baseman Jerry Cannon's throw to first for a single. He made the round trip on a double error by shortstop Keith Littleton and Darrell Matthews, tying the game up at one-all.

When Swansboro came to bat, Littleton was good for a single. Second-sacker Alex Reeves hit a high fly to short center field. The Lejeune second baseman, shortstop and centerfielder converged on it and watched it drop between them.

By the time the mistake was rectified Littleton had scored Swansboro's winning run.

Winning pitcher Duplissy, who faced 27 batters, struck out 14, yielded five hits and two walks. Lejeune hurler Mugford pitched to 25 batters, allowed four hits and two walks, and struck out 12.

Hog is Unromantic Name To Give a Pretty Island

Spent the weekend at Hog Island as guests of Laura and Pete Wallace. Now contrary to popular opinion, Hog Island, (or rather Hog Islands, there are six of them), are in Pamlico Sound and not in the ocean, as I was sure they were. Also, with a name like Hog Island I surely didn't expect to see such a beautiful place.

The scenery is to me beyond anything that I am capable of putting in print and do justice to the place. Wild ducks in a pond just a few hundred feet from the lodge, 40 wild cattle, the most ferocious looking animals at first sight; but tame as your puppy dog. They will come a-running from the furthest point at Monroe Gaskill's call, which is a cross between a good hog call and what I would imagine Tarzan would bellow like if he were three sheets under.

Monroe and his brother Luther are the guides and fabulous characters in their own right; could write a whole book on just these two, and when you eat food prepared the way Rolanda Fulcher from Salter Path does it, Brother, you've lived! He sure cooks a mean oyster.

Well anyway, scenery beyond compare. Mother Nature supplied clouds and a sunset that no one could ever forget. Hosts and hostesses the best and a gang of characters: Edna and Phillip Ball, Mack and Vickie McCuiston, Ellie Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Morton from New Jersey, and last but not least, my Glamour Gal and me.

Brother you put all these ingredients together and you have a weekend that goes down in your memory book as a double whammy!

Another thing, it's so wonderful there because there are no telephones, no TV that doesn't work just when you want it to the most, and no mail to bring bad news. Did you ever stop to think about how much bad news you get in the mail?

Also, no roads and no law. Now if you get mad at someone and want to go home, brother, slimmer down, 'cause unless either of the two guides happen to be going to the mainland, you are likely to stay put, like it or not. It takes a bunch of crazy people to have this brand of fun and believe me we had a four-star cast.

There were some 50 gals visiting the golf course Tuesday. We had a tournament, but it looked more like a golf fashion parade. Man alive, some of these little gals could really hit a golf ball, and cute; there were some of the cutest little chickadees I've seen since I left Hollywood. All I had to do was follow them around and take pictures. And to think, I get paid for this kind of nonsense. Wow!

One of them asked if we had any caddies, and someone else, to be cute, said, "Caddies, what are they?" I thought the answer which popped out was wonderful: "Caddies? They are the guys that get all the healthful benefits from golf YOU'RE supposed to get, plus two dollars."

An open letter to mothers: Please watch your children around the waterfront. Wednesday morning at 11 a.m. Penny heard a child crying. She opened the back door to the studio and there in the water beside the dock and the Gulf Breeze was a little 3-year-old girl.

She had fallen overboard. Fortunately Penny heard her and that great old Captain, Willard Lewis, was already fishing the child out. This is the second time this has happened in our back yard. Captain Willard happened to be there the time before, also. I hate children's funerals.
