Morehead Seniors Rehearse For 'Mother is a Freshman'

Rehearsals are now in progress for "Mother is a Freshman," the three-act comedy to be presented by the Morehead City High School senior class Friday, April 9, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The story revolves around a glamorous young widow who cannot afford to send her daughter to college until she finds that she herself is eligible for a scholarship. With this windfall, both she and her daughter are able to enroll in fashionable Pointer College.

Complications immediately arise, not the least of which is a romantic triangle involving the mother, the daughter, and the handsome professor of zoology. The action moves rapidly throughout the play and promises a full evening of real entertainment.

The principals in the cast are Maxine McLoon as Mrs. Abigail Abbott; Corinne Webb as Susan Abbott; David Small as Professor Michaels. Others are Wynona Blanchard, Ann Swanson, Sue Conner Spears, Peggy Miller Hargett, Betsy Davis, Jackie Taylor, Ann Scripture, Gus Davis, Tommie Olsen, Hilliard Eure, Alvin Wade, and Linwood Jones.

From 1940 to 1950 the gain in U. S. population was 19,028,000 or more than the total population of the country in 1840.

Judge McNeill Hears 26 Cases

Three Found Guilty of Drunken Driving Appeal To Superior

Morehead City Recorder's Court had a long day Monday, staying in session until 5 p. m. Judge George McNeill heard 26 cases, most of which were contested.

Kenneth Claude Howell was found guilty of drunk driving and was fined $100 and costs. He served notice of appeal to superior court. Judge McNeill set his bond at $150.

Robert Alvin Kelley, charged with drunk driving, reckless driving, and speeding, waived preliminary hearing. He also requested a jury trial. The case was docketed for superior court and his bond was set at $250.

Liamont Edgerton, charged with drunk driving and failing to stop for a stop sign also requested a jury trial. The case was docketed for superior court and bond was set at $225.

Prayer for judgment was continued for one week in the case of William Fred Anderson, charged with driving drunk.

Judgment deferred for one week in the cases of Joseph Anderson and Harvey Horton Jr., charged with fighting and assault.

The court ordered a mental examination of A. H. Swain, charged with passing a worthless check for $115 to C. E. Styron. During trial the court found cause to believe that Swain was of unsound mind and ordered the examination. The case was continued until results of the examination can be learned.

H. H. DeVane, charged with speeding, was sentenced to 60 days on the roads. The sentence will be suspended if DeVane doesn't drive in North Carolina for 90 days, pays $50 fine and court costs. His license was suspended for 90 days.

James Chatman, charged with public drunkenness was sentenced to 30 days on the streets. The sentence will be suspended if Chatman remains sober and of good behavior for six months and pays court costs.

Benny Bell, charged with no operator's license and driving with an expired license plate, was sentenced to 30 days on the streets to be suspended on payment of $25 and costs.

Donald Fitzpatrick, charged with reckless driving, was fined $25 and costs. The court found William Richard McClanahan not guilty of reckless driving. But he was found guilty of driving on the left side of the highway. The court ordered him to pay $10 and costs.

James Jackson, charged with assaulting his wife, Beatrice Jackson, was cleared when Mrs. Jackson refused to testify against her husband.

Plaintiff Pays Costs
The court ruled frivolous prosecution and taxed Mrs. Jackson with court costs.

Moses Smith, charged with no operator's license and driving after license was revoked, was found guilty of the first charge. The state decided not to prosecute the second charge. Smith was fined $25 and costs. The fine will be remitted if he shows a valid license to the clerk of court in 30 days.

The state decided not to try Trulla Cupp DuBan and David J. Gesicki, both charged with no operator's license, when valid licenses were shown to the court. Billy M. Douglas also showed the court a valid license and the State did not prosecute.

The court found Martine Godette not guilty of allowing an unlicensed person to drive. Prayer for judgment was continued for four weeks in the case of Leon English, charged with public drunkenness.

Costs Paid
Court costs were imposed on the following, Joseph McCarthy Carter, speeding and passing on a

Three Months Pass Since Native Son Becomes U. S. District Attorney

Three months have passed since Julian T. Gaskill, son of the late Norman and Leola Gaskill of Sea Level, took over in Raleigh as United States attorney for the eastern district of North Carolina.

Mr. Gaskill, quiet, friendly, easy-going, left a 23-year-old law practice in Goldsboro to take one of the top federal posts in the state. It's a job that keeps him busy. In charge of federal prosecution in seven divisions, his work covers 44 counties. Federal cases are prosecuted in courts at Raleigh, Fayetteville, Wilmington, New Bern, Wilson, Washington and Elizabeth City.

Although Mr. Gaskill, a Republican, was active in Republican affairs in Wayne County and the eastern part of the state, this is his first political office. President Eisenhower's appointment put Mr. Gaskill in the spot formerly held by Democrat Charles P. Green of Louisburg.

Attends Beaufort School
Young Julian attended the Beaufort public schools, receiving his high school diploma in 1922. Then he went to Wake Forest and continued taking graduate work there in 1926 and 1927. For three years after that he was principal of the Powellsville High School Bertie County. In 1930 he went to Goldsboro where he started law practice.

A lifelong Republican, Mr. Gaskill was a candidate for Congress from this district in 1936 and 1940 and frequently was a candidate for state and local office.

Chairman of the board of deacons of the First Baptist Church, Goldsboro, he is also active in civic affairs and fraternal organizations. He's a member of the Civitan Club, a Mason and member of the Odd Fellows. He's a former Odd Fellows State Grand Master and served for five years as resident trustee of the Odd Fellows Home, Goldsboro.

District Attorney Julian T. Gaskill

Has 8-Year-Old Son
In 1939 the new district attorney married Fayetta Sutton. They have an 8-year-old son. Because the new job keeps Mr. Gaskill busy traveling about, he believes they may keep Goldsboro as their home rather than move to Raleigh.

On his staff he has four assistant attorneys and seven clerks. Mr. Gaskill says the eastern district of this state ranks 15th in case load in the 94 federal districts in the nation.

Julian, as he is called by his many friends here, frequently comes home for a little boating and fishing. He attended the dedication of the Community Hospital at Sea Level and folks in these parts are real proud of his achievements. He holds the highest federal office ever attained by anyone from this county.

Majorettes Chosen

Three new majorettes and one alternate were chosen this week at the Morehead City High School. Terry Lowe, Virginia Morris and June Bell are regulars and Jean Ingram is alternate.

Man Tries Hitting Fish In Barrel and Misses

Watsonville, Calif. (AP) — "As easy as shooting fish in a rain barrel."

That old wheeze was used by Maurice Perstein, an international councillor for the Lions Club, in a speech before the local club.

Club members hurriedly filled a barrel with water, plopped in a live trout and handed a loaded shotgun to Perstein.

He took careful aim, fired — and missed the fish!
