Hens That Lay Are Ones That Pay, Says Expert

By MARTHA BARNETT
Home Agent

Mr. Thomas B. Morris, Extension Poultry Specialist gives us the following poultry suggestions and reminders for April.

The hitchhiking (non-laying) hen does not pay her way. The profit of at least one good laying hen goes to pay for the feed that a cull hen eats. If you have 80 culls in a flock of 400 hens, it will take 80 laying hens to pay the feed bill for the loafers, and you will have only 240 hens working for you. Since egg prices are on the downward trend, it will pay you to cull the low producers and non-layers as they appear in the flock. Remember, a flock that lays is the one that pays.

- April Reminders
- Plan to grow the pullets on range away from the old hens. Healthier and better developed pullets can be produced on tender green grazing crops at less cost.
 - Crowding chicks in the brooder house may encourage cannibalism. A sun porch or range shelter should be used to give the chicks more room when they are around four weeks of age. Chicks can be debarked at three weeks, or even at a few days of age, in order to stop the picking habit. Some broiler growers find that debarking at day-old, or by three to four weeks of age, will help to eliminate feather picking and barebacks.
 - Crushed corn cobs added to shavings or other material will help to keep the litter drier and in better condition. Crushed corn cobs alone will make good litter for brooding or for layers.
 - Reduce the brooding temperature each week until no heat is needed, but don't overlook sudden changes in the weather.
 - Gradually reduce the lights. Never stop the use of lights suddenly, as the hens may lay fewer eggs and go into a molt.
 - Plan now for outdoor waste-free feeder and a continuous water supply for the pullets on range.
 - Check for lice and mites. If present, use one of the recommended treatments.

8. Keep eggs cool. Remember that eggs are perishable. Conserve egg quality.

Last week, April 5-10, Home Demonstration women in Merriam, Wildwood, Newport and Pelletier Clubs enjoyed seeing a kit of handbags in an exhibit loaned to Carteret County by the Fa-Cile Spring Pastener Co. The bags were examples of bags which may be made by any woman who sews. Patterns and fasteners are available for making these.

Types of bags included were shoulder, bags for dress of fabrics, envelope bags, vanity bags and party bags. Suitable materials ranging from felt to velvets and failles were used for these bags. Making handbags at home gives the opportunity to have a larger number for different costumes and occasions. Party and vanity bags would also make nice gifts.

Curb Market women enjoyed seeing this display of bags on Wednesday morning. Since summer is just around the corner, these bags might be made in cottons, linens and other summer fabrics and could be washed.

Cab Driver Tells Judge He Got There on Time

Hillsboro, N. C. (AP) — Taxi driver William Ernest Albert was accused of running 70 miles an hour. What was the hurry, the judge wanted to know?

Albert testified a man urged him to hurry his wife, expecting a baby, to a hospital.

"Did you get her there in time?" asked the judge.

"Just did," replied Albert.

"That's all right then," the judge relaxed. "Case dismissed."
