

Judge George McNeill Hears 27 Cases in Monday Session

Sitting in session until 4 p.m., Judge George McNeill heard 27 cases Monday in Morehead City Recorder's Court.

Emmett L. Allen, charged with malicious damage to personal property and petty larceny, was sentenced to 90 days on the roads, suspended on 12 months good behavior and payment of $50 and costs of court.

Allen was charged with theft and destruction of certain papers. The plaintiff was W. C. Mason, captain of an Army freighter docking in Morehead City. Captain Mason placed the charge after Warren J. Grover, assistant engineer, told him of seeing Allen with the papers.

Grover told the court that he met Allen in the Broadway cafe and that Allen read him the contents. He also said that he saw Captain Mason's signature on them.

Grover said when he returned to the ship he told the captain about the affair after which Captain Mason searched his desk and found certain papers missing.

The defendant told the court that he heard the crew telling about some papers the captain had and he went to the captain's quarters and took them. He said he went to the galley where he and the cook proceeded to read them. He said that the papers were put back.

Kinston Man Fined $500; Carteret Officers Testify

Virgil Lee Roberts, Kinston, was found guilty of possessing and transporting 60 gallons of non-tax-paid whiskey this week in federal court at New Bern. He was fined $500 and his automobile confiscated.

Roberts led Carteret County Sheriff Hugh Salter and ABC Officer Marshall Ayscue a chase that hit speeds up to 100 miles an hour the night of March 3. The officers came upon Roberts in the Harlowe section.

Roberts' car wrecked, ending the chase but he was not found until the next afternoon in Kinston. Then he was given a preliminary hearing and posted $1,000 bond for his appearance in court at New Bern where Sheriff Salter and Officer Ayscue testified in the case Tuesday.

Fishermen Must Display Tags

C. Gehrmann Holland, assistant fisheries commissioner, yesterday reminded commercial fishermen that their license tags for boats must be displayed and net license receipts must be aboard the boat.

Beginning Monday, fishermen who do not comply with those regulations will be liable to prosecution. Commissioner Holland said tags should be put on the side of the cabin, engine box or on the bow.

The hard crab season closed Tuesday. The fisheries officer said the soft crab is expected to be at its peak in a couple weeks. It has been somewhat late this spring because of cold spells.

The crab won't turn his hard coat loose until he's sure he won't get chilled, explained Commissioner Holland.

ler or other vessel owned by a non-resident, will be liable to arrest. All shrimp so taken will be confiscated by the assistant state fisheries commissioner and sold by him. Proceeds will go into the state's commercial fisheries fund.

Must Buy Licenses
Non-resident shrimpers may, Douglas said, have the same shrimping privileges as those permitted to North Carolina shrimpers if they comply with state laws by paying the usual license fees and taxes imposed on residents by the regulations and the laws for the conduct of commercial fishing.

Director Douglas pointed out that shrimping privileges in North Carolina's inland commercial fishing waters shall not be given a non-resident shrimper if the state of which he is a resident prohibits North Carolina shrimpers from operating in the inland waters of that state.

The C&D head said the inland commercial fishing waters of North Carolina are those sounds which are separated from the Atlantic Ocean by bodies of land to which access from the Atlantic Ocean is possible only through inlets or channels; and all rivers emptying directly into the Atlantic Ocean up to the present commercial fishing line. Inland waters begin at the mouth or bar of such river.

Bicycles will be inspected at the Morehead City School at 3:15 Tuesday afternoon. Bikes must pass inspection before riders may qualify for the rodeo Friday.
