 Lewis and Neta Lawrence also stopped.
 Both testified that Willis was sober at the scene of the accident. But both admitted under cross examination they weren't particularly interested in finding out if Willis was sober or drunk. Both said they could tell when a man was drunk, but didn't have any experience with different forms of drunkenness.

 Willis testified that he had been working all day and hadn't had a drop to drink until after the accident. He said the light on the tractor made him think a car was travelling on the wrong side of the road.
 After hitting the trailer, he said he gave Chadwick his name and address and said he'd pay for the damages, borrowed a tow chain from Nora Lewis and helped get the wreckage off the road.
 He then got in his car, accompanied by Lloyd Davis, and drove to Smyrna. He said he got to brooding about the accident and went with Mr. Davis to his barn and started drinking from a pint of whiskey.
 By the time Patrolman Sykes arrived, he said, the pint was almost empty.
 Judge Morris dismissed the case, drunk at the time of the accident saying he doubted Willis was afterwards.

Homing Balloon

Oklahoma City (AP)—An observation balloon released by the Weather Bureau here recently acted like a homing pigeon—it floated eight miles away, then returned home. G. P. Crawford, meteorologist in charge of the airport station, said it was extremely unusual for a balloon to land near where it was released. Instruments showed the balloon went eight miles east after climbing to 85,000 feet.

Chamber of Commerce Sets Up Two Art Scholarships

The board of directors of the Beaufort Chamber of Commerce established two Fine Arts School summer session scholarships when they met Tuesday night at the Beaufort town hall.

The scholarships, one for a child and one for an adult, will be known as the G. W. Duncan Memorial Scholarships. They have been named in honor of Mr. Duncan who served many years as secretary of the chamber, was a charter director when the chamber reorganized in 1948, a director for five years, vice-president for two years and he declined the presidency twice due to ill health.

The scholarships, to be awarded annually, amount to $80 for the adult and $30 for the child. Gerald Hill, president of the chamber, presided. He appointed a committee to investigate the building of a launching ramp for light craft. On the committee are H. D. Paul, J. O. Barbour Jr., Roy Barbour and Gray Hassell. Odell Merrill, in charge of the planting of 85 trees along Ann street, said that the trees are coming into leaf.

Eure. The benches are being made by Wardell Fillingham and Gray Hassell on their own time. They are being paid for by the Chamber and businessmen.

They will also make benches for individuals, Mr. Ballou added. Attending the meeting, in addition to Mr. Hill, were Dan Walker, manager, Dr. W. L. Woodard, Mr. Ballou, Mr. Adair, Mr. Merrill, E. W. Downum, Gene Smith, and Norwood Young, a visitor.
