Dr. Chestnut Elected President of Parent-Teacher Association

Dr. A. F. Chestnut was elected president of the Parent-Teacher Association Monday night. He succeeds Mr. J. R. Sanders. Other new officers are Mrs. John O. Fussell, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Sample, treasurer; Mrs. Mamie Taylor, secretary.

Mr. Clyde Carr, manager of the Ocean Park Drive-In, spoke to the association about a party that will be given graduation night for the seniors of both Morehead City and Beaufort.

Dr. Chestnut asked Mr. G. T. Windell, principal, to report on school needs. He told the group that one need he had planned to present had already been taken care of by the county. That was the putting of table tops on the first grade desks.

He reported that four new history maps had been bought for the high school and that the total cost was about $72. The association voted to pay half the cost. Another need is a set of new World Book encyclopedias. The price is $108. The association decided to make the purchase.

Mr. Windell also stated that an inter-communication system was badly needed and that the estimated cost would be $3,000. He asked if the PTA would contribute toward it. Mrs. Delfido Cordova moved that the matter be referred to the executive committee and let them decide. The senior classes this year have decided that their gift to the school should be used toward this project if it is decided to buy the system.

Attendance banners were won by Mrs. Bob Williams' third grade, Miss Flora Davis' sixth grade and Mrs. Helen Bailey's twelfth grade. Mrs. Williams' class was in charge of the program.

Well-Laid Plans Make Bridal Shower Successful

By ADELAIDE KERR, AP Newsfeature Writer

In hundreds of towns and cities all over the country, thousands of women are planning showers for some bride right now. Showers of frothy lingerie, filmy stockings and smart linens to give them more beautiful trousseaus. Showers to equip their closets, bathrooms, gardens and kitchens. Showers of music records, cosmetics, cookbooks and canned goods.

If you are among the planners, there are some things to avoid. Don't shower the bride with what you or your sister want. Find out what her preferences and her color scheme are. Don't use the shower to repay your own social obligations. Since every one is expected to bring a gift, it is fitting that the guest list should be made up of the bride's friends—not some people who, scarcely know her. And—a last word—plan well, so that things run smoothly; but don't try to be too fancy.

You can, of course, spend a lot of time and energy creating elaborate decorative effects for the shower gift table or tea table. But many hostesses consider that they are not very smart. These women give their energy to seeing that the refreshments are good, that there are attractive bowls of flowers in the house and that the shower gifts are there on time, well diversified and harmonizing with the bride's color scheme.

Guests are supposed to confer with the hostess before they purchase their gifts and to have them delivered to her house well in advance of the party, so that all may be assembled before the guest of honor arrives.

For this reason some hostesses prefer to telephone their invitations and discuss the gift question then and there. If you prefer to mail yours, you can use your own visiting card and write on it: "Kitchen shower for Miss Mary Hanum, Tuesday, June 23rd" and the address.

Showers may be given at any hour of the day or evening. But the favorite time is afternoon, if the guest of honor and other guests are not working then. If they are, an evening party is in order.

On the day of the party all the gifts should be assembled on a table in the living room, perhaps concealed behind a screen until it is time to open them. When everybody has arrived, the table is brought forward and the guest of honor begins the ceremony of unwrapping them, expressing her thanks to the givers as she does. If there are only a few guests and gifts, the ceremony can be lengthened by making a treasure hunt of it.

After that, the guests have light refreshments—hot tea, thin sandwiches and little cakes in the afternoon; ice cream, cakes and coffee in the evening. Of course, if you prefer, gifts may be opened and refreshments served at the dining table, if it is large enough and your guest list small enough.

Three Things Cause Gray Wash

By RUTH CURRENT, State Home Demonstration Agent

Dingy gray laundry has been plaguing women for centuries. But the modern housewife now has detergents that go a long way toward eliminating the problem. Graying is caused by three things: 1. Unremoved soil. 2. Redeposited soil. 3. Hardwater soap scum.

The first and third are caused by inefficient washing methods and old-fashioned washing products. The approved new method is this: use plenty of detergent, plenty of hot water and, if things are very soiled give them two sudings instead of one.

Redeposited soil is that which has been washed off garments and then, because of lack of detergent or prolonged washing time, is redeposited on the clothes. To avoid this, clothes should be washed in a good detergent. And they should be washed only long enough to get them clean.

Wash clothes that have about the same amount of soil on them together. Do not wash a very badly soiled garment with one that is lightly soiled. Soil from the heavily soiled garment will be redeposited on the cleaner garment. Redeposited soil makes some clothes look grayer after washing than before.

The secret of removing redeposited soil: many quick, hot washes is time to open them. When everybody has arrived, the table is brought forward and the guest of honor begins the ceremony of unwrapping them, expressing her thanks to the givers as she does. If there are only a few guests and gifts, the ceremony can be lengthened by making a treasure hunt of it.

After that, the guests have light refreshments—hot tea, thin sandwiches and little cakes in the afternoon; ice cream, cakes and coffee in the evening. Of course, if you prefer, gifts may be opened and refreshments served at the dining table, if it is large enough and your guest list small enough.
