ers rely solely on the sales talk of the agent who is selling the in-surance instead of reading the pol-icy in detail and finding out just exactly what it will do. Unfort-unately, the company will not pay off on the sales talk of the agent and the agent himself has nothing and the agent himself has nothing whatsoever to do with settling the

Therefore, each prospective buyer of hospitalization or health and ac-cident insurance should realize that it is the responsibility of the buyer himself to determine just exactly what a policy will do when it ac tually is needed.

Carteret County Medical Society has had personal experience with thousands of patient who have hospitalization and health and accident insurance. Each member of the society has considered it his duty to advise his patients in the purchase of such insurance and it is the belief of the society that prior to the purchase of any type of hospitalization insurance person should go to his family physician and discuss with him jus what type of policy would be satis factory.

The multiplicity of terms which have been applied to hospitaliza-tion insurance by out-of-state com-panies as well as some in the state has brought a great deal of con-fusion into the minds of many people who understandably are not familiar with what constitutes a good policy and a poor one. There fore, just as they seek advice from the family physician on other med ical matters they should also seek the advice of the family doctor re garding the type of policy to take Many people think that the cheapest policy is for them the very best that they can buy but the same thing applies to hos-pitalization insurance as it does to quality in anything else—you get just what you pay for and not anything more.

If you want quality insurance you have to pay a little more to get it but in the long run that is the type of policy which will not be cancelled and the benefits are far greater than those on the low pre

Judge Finds Julius Jordan Guilty Monday

Julius A. Jordan, 307 Pollock St., Beaufort was found guilty of reckless driving Tuesday. Judge Earl Mason, in Beautort Recorder's Court, assessed Jordan $50 and Beaufort, had been charged drunk driving following an dent at 11:30 p.m. May 3, After hearing evidence, the state amended the warrant to reckless driving.

The drunk driving charge was placed by Assistant Chief Carlton Garner after Jordan struck the left rear fender of Glenn Willis's car on Ann Street, Beaufort.

Officer Testifies

Officer Garner testified Tuesday that Jordan was highly excited and confused. He also said that there was no smell of alcohol about Jordan. Patrolman Steve Beachen confirmed Officer Garner's state The drunk driving charge was placed against Jordan because of crowd sentiment, said Officer Garner. He said persons in the crowd around the wreck were saying Jordan was drunk.

Jordan's counsel told the court Morehead City with three passen-gers when a car headed east blind-ed him.

Solicitor Gene Smith said the warrant would be amended to reck-less driving. Judge Mason then passed judgment.

Pays Costs

Robert C. Carr was taxed court costs on a charge of failing to stop for a stop sign. Carr was cit-ed by officer Garner April 26. He was charged with failing to stop at Turner and Front streets. Carr told the court he wasn't sure he came to a dead stop, but said he was hardly moving.

Judge Mason said the sign says stop and that is what drivers are to do.

Judge Mason dismissed the charge of threatening to do bodily harm which was placed against Thomas Noe. His wife, Linnie Noe, brought the charge. The case was dismissed because of lack of evi-ing an improper muffler, was given 24 hours to show proof that the muffler was fixed. Davis was also charged with no operator's li-cense. The state did not press charges when Davis produced a
