

At The Beach

Construction Begins On Catholic Chapel

Construction has begun on the new Catholic Church on the Fort Macon road at the entrance to Atlantic Beach, according to the Rev. J. Paul Byron, pastor of St. Egbert's Catholic Church in Morehead City. Building is in the hands of the James A. Simon Co. of Wilmington, low bidders on the project.

The church is being built as a "chapel-of-ease," for the seasonal use and convenience of Catholic tourists coming to this area in the summer month. Father Byron said. Construction was made possible by a gift of land from Alfred Cooper, mayor of Atlantic Beach. The church, which will be served as a mission of St. Egbert's parish, is scheduled for completion by the middle of July. However, Father Byron said services would be held there as soon as construction stages permit, and before completion and dedication.

The Most Rev. Vincent S. Waters, Bishop of the Catholic diocese of North Carolina, has designated St. Mary, Star of the Sea, as the title for the new church. It will seat approximately 150.

German Refugees Aid Korean Mother, Sons

Cooperstown, N. Y. —(AP)—A German-born family, well-acquainted with the meaning of fear and a lost homeland, has made a Korean mother's dream of peace and safety come true.

Mrs. Kim Yoo Nam, 32, and her sons, Sung Nam, 7, and Soo Yang, 10, have come from war ravaged Tadjon to live with Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Frelan in this upstate New York village.

The Frelans fled Hitler's Germany 18 years ago. Their elder son, Nicholas, met Mrs. Kim while he was serving with the Army Medical Corps in Korea. He offered to share his family's American haven with her.

Mrs. William Arrington, principal, and her faculty of 20 workers have made plans for about 150 pupils. A program of Bible, missionary and character study is planned in addition to recreation and handwork.

they wanted beef heifers. All 4-H members interested in getting a beef calf should contact the county agent's office. Help in selecting, locating and financing a calf can be secured.

The first county talent contest will be held Tuesday, June 22, in Beaufort. Bob Reynolds and Allen Trader of Newport have a black-face act and song that they plan to give. Other types of talent in the contest will include solos, duets, trios, instrumental selections, dancing, and novelty acts.

During hot weather one of the most important things to remember in the management of livestock such as hogs, cows, chickens, and sheep is their comfort. Tests have shown that hogs and chickens are very sensitive to fluctuation in temperature. These animals do not have pores so they can sweat and remove excess heat from their body. As the weather gets hotter the animal's body gets hotter.

About the only way to keep hens laying and hogs gaining during the heat of the summer is to provide plenty of shade and a supply of cool water. Brush type shelters are cheap and easy to construct. Hog wallows may not be attractive but they really help in keeping hogs cool. Also buildings constructed out of aluminum will be cooler than those constructed of other materials.

Soil and water conservation demonstration (individual or team); tractor operator (individual); vegetable marketing demonstration (individual or team); vegetable use demonstration (individual or team).

There will also be a talent contest, from which a district blue ribbon group will be selected. This group will enter the State Talent Show during 4-H Club Week in Raleigh.

The Carteret County eliminations in the above contests will be held on June 22. Any 4-H Club member who wishes to enter one of these contests, and has not given his name to the home agent or assistant county agent, should contact Mr. Newsome or Miss Barnett at once.

Last year Cecil Gillikin of Bettie and Larry Howard of Newport purchased two nice Hereford beef heifers each from Mr. Albert Venters of Jacksonville. These animals are the basis of what will some day be a nice, well-bred beef herd.

There are cases from all over the country about farmers that started dairy herd or beef herd by acquiring one or two foundation animals while they were 4-H Club members. Gerald Fulcher of Beaufort and James Meares of Gloucester have both indicated that

Specialty Engineered Tread Design

Slippage—going on unevenly in rain—is the real cause of tire wear. With every revolution of the wheel, there is some slippage. It is this slippage that wears the rubber on the road and eventually wears out the tire.

Some engineers considered horsepower as the cause of slippage and its relationship to tread design.

In the specialty-engineered tread of the Gates Tire, the compound slippage of the road has been made—without skidding, and without wearing out the tread—by adding EXTRA MILES to the life of the tire.
