

31 Children To Finish Work In Speech Clinic

Parents Will Visit Clinic Tomorrow to Study Progress Made

Thirty-one children will finish their courses at the Speech Correction Clinic, Morehead City by observing Parents' Day tomorrow. The parents of children who have attended the clinic will hear the tape recordings of the children's speech when they entered the clinic two weeks ago and will then hear recordings of the children's speech at the end of the course.

The clinic is sponsored by the Carteret Chapter of the North Carolina League for Crippled Children. Sessions are held in the Recreation Center.

Children who have attended the clinic come from Atlantic, Smyrna, Beaufort, Camp Glenn, Newport and Morehead City.

According to Fred G. Lewis, director, two weeks before school was out teachers were asked to give the clinic the names of children with speech impediments. The children were then given articulation and audiometric tests. Some of the children were found to have speech difficulties because of faulty hearing. The clinic sought to deal only with the substitution of sounds and the omitting of sounds.

Children were put into five groups, according to ages. Each group, except the first graders, attended four different classes each morning with each class lasting thirty minutes. Each teacher drilled on one or two special sounds.

Teachers for the clinic are Mrs. J. D. Willis, Miss Gertrude Styron, Ralph Wade, Mr. Lewis and Mrs. Bob Williams, all of Morehead City, and Miss Catherine Gaskill, Beaufort.

The parents' conference will begin tomorrow at 10:30. After the parents hear the tape recordings, they will be given the results of the audiometric tests.

Letters will be written by the administrators of the clinic to the parents of the children and also to the teachers of the children next year so that the program may be followed through. Mr. Lewis pointed out that the program has to be followed through in the homes and the schools or the clinic's work will be of little value.

This is the third year of the clinic and it has grown in enrollment every year. The first year of the clinic there were 13 children and last year there were 18.

Four children who have been attending the clinic all three years will be graduated this year. All four have almost perfect speech now, Mr. Lewis said.

Judge Clawson Williams Refuses To Let Track Operate This Summer

Firemen to Stage Weekly Drills

Morehead City firemen will begin a series of weekly fire drills starting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the fire station, Morehead City. During these Wednesday sessions fire fighting techniques and equipment will be studied.

The drills are an outgrowth of a meeting of the department last Monday in the fire station. A report of the fire school, recently held in Charlotte, was given by George Stovall and Harry Burns. They reported on new methods and equipment which they studied and used.

It was also announced that four members of the department were eligible for 25-year service pins. They are E. Stamey Davis, Hubert Fulcher, William G. Lewis, and Harold E. Willis.

A movie on fire fighting was shown after the meeting.

Claiming that many small businesses in Morehead City would suffer financial loss if the Morehead City dog track did not open this season, attorneys for the Carolina Racing Association asked Judge Clawson Williams Thursday night to let the track operate until the State Supreme Court could rule on the constitutionality of the act creating the track in this county.

Judge Williams refused. The judge issued an injunction against the track in Superior Court in Beaufort Wednesday afternoon. He said the act creating the Morehead City track, passed by the general assembly in 1939, was unconstitutional in that it permitted pari-mutuel betting.

Attorneys asking the judge to grant a stay of injunction were George H. McNeill for the town of Morehead City, Harvey Hamilton Jr., for the Morehead City Racing Commission, John Dawson and W. A. Lucas for the Carolina Racing Association.

The attorneys said that small businesses in Morehead City had made investments in anticipation of the track's operating this summer and that private individuals who had planned on earning extra money at the track by being inconvenienced if the track did not open.

Present at the Thursday hearing were Wiley Taylor Jr., County Recorder's Court solicitor who brought action against the track, and Frank B. Aycock, Elizabeth City, lawyer representing Mr. Taylor.

The injunction went into effect Wednesday afternoon.

Carteret Joins In Celebration Of Dairy Month

Dairies and dairymen of Carteret County have joined with the dairies of the nation in celebrating June as Dairy Month.

The purpose of Dairy Month is to emphasize the superiority of dairy foods, to stress the economy of dairy foods, to stimulate the sale of more dairy foods and to promote better public understanding of the dairy industry and its products.

"Dairy foods for taste, health, economy" is the theme of Dairy Month.

It has also been pointed out that over ten million Americans are dependent on the dairy and allied industries for a livelihood and that countless citizens of North Carolina derive economic security from this industry. The need for milk and dairy products towards the health of every human being is also featured in the program celebrating Dairy Month.

"According to tables released early this year by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Research Service, milk and cheddar cheese are way out in front of all other foods as plentiful and cheap sources of calcium," R. B. Howard, manager of White's Ice Cream and Milk Company, said.

"Penny for penny, that bottle of milk on your doorstep is a terrific buy," says W. F. Dowdy Jr., manager of Maola Milk and Ice Cream Company.

Airman Robert A. Hesse Serves at AFB in Alaska

A/1c Robert A. Hesse, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hesse of Morehead City, has been transferred to Ladd Air Force Base, Fairbanks, Alaska.

Airman Hesse is working in the Chaplain's Service Specialists group and told his parents in a recent letter that he enjoys his work. He is also the base's choir director.

Airman Hesse and two friends went prospecting recently in Alaska. He describes their adventure in a letter as follows:

"Sunday T/Sgt. Doyle, A/2c Rowe, and I went in the hills panning for gold. Doyle panned last year and knows quite a lot about gold. Saturday afternoon was spent building a rocker for the project.

"But there wasn't too much gold in the mud hole, so we dumped the rocks and panned dirt scraped from the rocks of a sealed mine shaft. I guess we found one-half an ounce, ($35 an ounce). Most of the flakes were the size of a baby's nail—if you can picture anything that small.

"The pioneers didn't get their money from such small supplies of it. We weren't the only prospectors however. The mosquitoes were doing a little of their own.

"At $50 per pint of blood, I'd say they did right well. (Alaskan mosquitoes are just a little smaller than our mosquito hawks, and I ain't kidding.)"

Airman Hesse has been in the service three years and will be discharged July 1955. During his hitch he has been chaplain's assistant and choir director. Before being transferred, he was stationed in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

He left there in May and stopped at San Francisco. From there he sailed to Port Whittier, Alaska, stopping at Elmendorf AFB before being assigned to Ladd AFB at Fairbanks.

Beaufort policemen are now wearing their new gray summer uniforms. Chief of Police M. E. Guy said the uniforms are cool and very comfortable.

Chamber Will Aid Tourists

The Morehead City Chamber of Commerce will begin its summer tourist service Friday. The chamber office will remain open Friday and Saturday nights from 6 until 11 p.m. to help summer visitors find rooms, says Ted Davis, chamber manager.

Residents of the county are asked by Mr. Davis to call the chamber, 6-3404, and list with him rooms that are available for tourists.

Incoming tourists will be lodged in rooms according to these lists, said Mr. Davis. Last year visitors were sent as far as Atlantic to get rooms for the weekend.

When rooms are filled, Mr. Davis asked that the chamber be notified immediately so that the location can be crossed off the lists.

Mr. Davis also announced that the office will remain open all night July 3 during the long July 4 weekend.

Tentative plans call for the office to remain open weekend nights until September as a special service to tourists, Mr. Davis concluded.

State Committee Meets Here Sunday, Monday

Meeting here Sunday and Monday were members of the North Carolina National Park, Parkway and Forest Development committee, Ted Davis, manager of the Morehead City Chamber of Commerce, reported yesterday.

Among those attending were Dr. Kelly E. Bennett, chairman, W. R. Winkler, vice-president; C. M. Douglas, secretary; Robert Presley, E. C. Guy, W. F. Osborne and Mrs. Edith Alley.

Chief Issues Warning

Chief of Police M. E. Guy warned yesterday that motorists parking in posted no-parking areas will be cited to court. He said all members of the police force have been ordered to enforce strictly the ordinance on no-parking areas.

An advisory council, an advertising committee and a transportation committee have been appointed by Theodore B. Smith, president of the Sea Level Community Chamber of Commerce.

The advisory council will meet with the board of directors and to advise the directors. Cecil Morris, Alva Taylor, Wesley Willis, Jim Harker, Monroe Gaskill, Romain Gaskill, Corbett H. Davis, John Valentine, C. G. Holland and Irvin Davis are included on the advisory council.

The advertising committee, which will put into effect an advertising campaign designed to attract tourists and retiring couples to this section has Sam Leffers as chairman. Members of the committee are Roy Eubanks, Norwood Young, Theodore Ronohaler and Grover Munden.

The transportation committee will seek immediate improvement of bus and motor express service and will start a more vigorous campaign for an All Seashore Highway, Mr. Smith said. Other duties of the transportation committee will be to work for inland waterway improvements and to keep in touch with state highway officials for the best of highway maintenance and construction. Earl Mason will serve as chairman of this committee with Lambert Morris, Hugh Salter and Dr. H. F. Webb as members.

Manager J. A. DuBois is preparing a "down east" directory which features information concerning rooms for tourists, boats for hire, and hunting and fishing guides. Mr. DuBois has requested that anyone having any such information available should contact him at once.

President Smith also announced that there were 80 members of the Sea Level Community Chamber of Commerce as of June 10.

Manager Issues Sales Warning

Dan Walker, manager of the Beaufort Chamber of Commerce, issued a warning Saturday that dishonest magazine salesmen have been soliciting subscriptions in the Beaufort area.

While the solicitors are evidently working as a group, a girl who gave her name to the chamber as Jean Reynolds, has been canvassing the town, he added.

He said Miss Reynolds has told prospective customers that the chamber had cleared her and gave names of several chamber officials who she said had endorsed the solicitation.

Mr. Walker said the chamber does not clear solicitors. All the chamber does is register them. He added that no strangers who make door-to-door calls to sell products have permission to use any chamber or town official's name.

He advised persons approached by salesmen or solicitors to call the chamber before giving the solicitor money or placing an order. He added that one trick being pulled is to tell the customer, "I have to get some change." They then take the customer's money and never return.

Chamber Begins Member Drive

Board of Directors Sets Up Budget of $12,000 For Coming Year

The 1954 membership drive of the Morehead City Chamber of Commerce formally got underway yesterday. The drive is being conducted by the board of directors.

Ted Davis, manager of the chamber, said that $1,200 of 1954 dues have been collected to date.

The board met Thursday night at the chamber offices in the Recreation Building and adopted a $12,000 budget for the coming fiscal year. The budget, Mr. Davis said, is essentially the same as last year's.

The directors approved the purchase of red and blue reflector strips and will pay half the cost of 5,000. The strips, which will be fastened to car bumpers in the Atlantic Beach and Morehead City area will read "Year 'Round Vacation Land."

The remainder of the cost will be borne by Atlantic Beach businessmen.

The board discussed means whereby the North Carolina extension courses can be offered here next summer. Mr. Davis informed the board that the state intends to sell the buildings at Camp Glenn which now house the classrooms used during the summer course.

Bernard Leary, new president of the chamber, said that he will appoint chairmen and committees within the next several weeks.

Mr. Leary succeeds Warren Beck, who upon retiring gave the Chamber of Commerce office a fluorescent light fixture.

Attending Thursday's meeting were Mr. Leary, W. B. Chalk, Albert Gaskill, W. J. Blair, George Ball, H. S. Gibbs Jr., Mr. Beck and Mr. Davis.

J. D. Holt, manager of the state port, Morehead City, reported Saturday that the Board of Engineers of Rivers and Harbors has given full approval to deepening the Morehead City channel and turning basin to 35 feet.

The next hurdle to be passed is getting Congress to approve the money for the dredging and maintenance. Army Engineers had recommended last month a 34-foot inside channel only 300 feet wide.

Based on the Army Engineer recommendations, cost of dredging would be $1,127,000 and $10,000 annually for maintenance.

Mr. Holt, D. G. Bell, representing the town of Morehead City, and Col. Richard S. Marr, state ports-director, appeared before the board of engineers at a hearing Friday afternoon in Washington.

The board also approved a 400-foot channel width, increasing to 300 feet at the turning basin. Depth at dock side will be 34 feet.

It is anticipated that the widening of the channel and turning basin and deepening to 35 feet will enable the docking of small Navy aircraft carriers here.

Luther Hamilton Jr. Asks For Second Race June 26

Greenville — Luther Hamilton Jr. of Morehead City has asked the State Board of Elections for a runoff in the Fifth Judicial District so-called race.

Hamilton, who placed second in the five-man district race in the Democratic Primary May 29, signified his intentions of asking for the second primary by telephone.

He explained his formal request will arrive in the mail shortly.

In the district solicitor race on May 29, Mr. Hamilton received 8,300 votes while Robert D. Rouse Jr., of Farmville, placed first with 9,204 votes. Three other candidates, H. Horton Roundtree of Farmville, J. W. H. Roberts of Greenville and Cecil Beaman of Snow Hill, had about 12,000 votes between them.

With Mr. Hamilton asking for a runoff, it gives Pitt County a total of five races on June 26; however, only three will receive county-wide vote.

There will be no other contest in Carteret except the solicitor's race.

Youth Arrested

Charles Henry Stephens III, Raleigh youth, was charged with driving drunk early Sunday morning after leading state highway patrolmen a 20-mile chase between New Bern and Dover.
