WITH the 4-H'ERS
 by MARTEA BARNETT Home Agent and ALVIN C. NEWSOME Ass't. County Agent

If sufficient interest is shown on the part of 4-H Club members, a State Band will be organized during 4-H Week. Maj. C. D. Kutschinski, Director of State College Band, has agreed to give a special course of instruction during the week. If this is carried through, a special concert will be given on Friday night of 4-H Club Week. Any 4-H Club member interested in participating in this band, should contact the home agent's office at once, since it will be necessary to send in an application form, in order to participate. Club members who are in high school bands might participate, if their applications are accepted.

The 4-H district eliminations contest at Washington, N. C., will take place Thursday and not today as stated in last Tuesday's NEWS-TIMES. Ten boys and girls from Carteret will participate.

The annual 4-H Club Week, commonly called 4-H Short Course, will be held at State College in Raleigh, July 19-24. During this week approximately 1,000 of the top 4-H Club members from 100 counties in North Carolina will gather on the State College campus for a week of instruction, inspiration and fun.

While in Raleigh the 4-H members will live in the college dormitories. Most of the meetings will be in the giant William Neal Reynolds Coliseum, a building on the campus that can accommodate 12,500 people for a basketball game. During the mornings there will be classes on things of interest to 4-H members. One of the classes this year will be "It's Nice to Know How." This class will be on manners and how to act in public places. Also the finals of the various 4-H contests will be held. Demonstrations on vegetable production, livestock, conservation, electricity, public speaking and several others will be given.

On Wednesday night the State Health Pageant will be held with the county health kings and queens from all over North Carolina participating. Then the state dress revue will be presented Thursday night with beautiful dresses made
