Number of Veterans in GI Training Reach New High

For the first time since the enactment of the Korean GI Bill two years ago, Veterans Administration said, more Korean veterans are in training than those enrolled under the original GI Bill.

While the great majority of World War II veterans in training have completed their programs and the numbers in training are dwindling fast, the number of Korean veterans in training has shown a steady increase, as more young veterans are released from active military service each month.

The number of post-Korean veterans who have taken education or training under the Korean GI Bill — Public Law 550 — in the past two years has passed the half-million mark, according to VA.

At the same time, the number of post-Korean veterans actually in training at the present time has mounted to approximately 300,000. By comparison, the number of World War II veterans in training under the original GI Bill has dropped to 235,000 and their enrollment figures are showing a steady decrease.

In college GI training, the number of Korean veterans enrolled is almost double that of World War II veterans.

However, in vocational, trade and business schools below the college level, there are still more World War II veterans in GI training, with a total of approximately 106,000, compared to less than 100,000 below-college trainees from the post-Korean ranks.

Q—I'm planning to take flight training under the Korean GI Bill. Will I be allowed 30 days absence a year, the same as veterans taking trade and vocational courses?

A—No. Under the Korean GI Bill, you will be paid on the basis of flight instruction actually received — and nothing more. You will not be paid for absences.

monthly indemnity payments of $92.90. Will those payments stop if I remarry?

A—No. Remarriage will not bar your continued entitlement to the indemnity payments.

Q—I understand I can pay off my GI loan in advance, without penalty. Can these advance payments be of any size, or is there some minimum amount below which they can't go?

A—There is a minimum amount. It is the amount of one regular monthly payment or $100, whichever is less.

Grandfather Pays $100 For Boys, $25 for Girls

Muntzing, W. Va. (AP)—Ed S. Reeser Sr., established a policy of paying $100 premiums for grandsons. He offered the reward to his three sons several months ago. At that time he had four grandchildren — all girls.

In quick order, the wives of son Joseph S. Reeser of Coral Gables, Fla., and son Robert L. Reeser of Huntington presented Reeser Sr. with grandsons. They collected $100 each.

A third son, Ed S. Reeser Jr. wired from Pittsburgh, Pa., "It's a girl again." The Reeser Jr. received a $25 consolation prize.

Faye Kelly of Newport Sr. 4-H Club was second-place winner in vegetable-use contest in the Eastern District Elimination Contest, held in Washington, N. C., Thursday. Faye prepared a vegetable salad in her demonstration, and gave reasons why we need five fruits and vegetables each day in our diets. She also gave the following suggestions for cooking vegetables and preparing meals using them.

Vegetable dinners that have eye and appetite appeal follow the rules of any good meal. They have contrast in color, flavor, texture, and food value. Consider these things when selecting your vegetable combinations:

- 1. Have variety in color — but be sure that they look well together. One bright red or yellow, one green, and one white vegetable makes a colorful combination. 2. Choose vegetables that harmonize in flavor. Avoid serving two vegetables that taste alike in flavor, as cabbage and cauliflower. 3. Some crisp food as sliced cucumbers, celery or raw carrot strips add contrast in texture to a meal. 4. Watch out for shapes. Serve some vegetables whole, others sliced, cubed, in strips or mashed. 5. The meal will be more satisfying if you choose one filling vegetable as potatoes, rice, macaroni, spaghetti, or dried beans or peas.

libretto. But at the director's suggestion, Jean Madeira, in the role of Bertha, works in some pretty business bringing Blondie on in a basket.

The canary appears in "Pagliacci." Bought outright for $10, the bird is kept by a super who lives nearby. The company used to have a make-believe bird, but manager Rudolf Bing, whose eye is on the canary as well as bigger matters, preferred the live one.

There are also make-believe birds and animals. In "Lohengrin" there is a swan, and one opera bears a bird's name, "The Golden Cockerel." In "The Ring" there's a bear, and birds with voices, and Falner the dragon — presumably Bing, who had to have a live canary, will rest content with a stuffed dragon.
