If Sam Snead were to depend on his U.S. Opens for a living he would have a tough struggle.

The best the 40-year-old pro

Snead was runnerup to Ralph Gulhal in 1937; he lost an 18-hole playoff to Lew Worsham by one stroke in 1947; finished second with Clayton Haefner to Dr. Cary Middlecoff in 1949, and was second to Ben Hogan in the 1953 Open.
