Convalescent Home Will Observe First Anniversary

This November the Bogue Sound Rest Home, located in Mansfield Park west of Morehead City, will observe its first anniversary. The home accepted its first guest, Mr. Darvel West of Newport, Nov. 15, 1953. Operated by T/Sgt. and Mrs. Edward DeGaetano, the home over-looks Bogue Sound and now has eight guests, the oldest of whom is Mrs. Emma Willis, 86, known as "Aunt Emma."

The youngest is 6-year-old Loretnner of Morehead City who ta O'Co is still recuperating from severe burns received last March when she pulled a little boy away from a trash fire.

Mrs DeGaetano said Loretta is a special case because most of her guests should be 18 years old or older. "But Loretta has become the darling of the household," she says.

Mrs. DeGaetano's husband is sta tioned at Cherry Point. "My whole family has made this convalescent home possible," Mrs. DeGaetano says. "My husband has given us financial help and my two sons co-operate. It's a family enterprise," she explains. The DeGaetano boys are Richard who is 16 and Larry, 12. Before the home had enough patients to make hiring of additional help possible, Richard did most of the cooking and nursing, his mother proudly reports.

The convalescent home is licensed as a boarding home for the censed as a boarding nome for the aged by both the county and state. As required by law, it has been in-spected both from the fire and san-itation standpoint.

Mrs. DeGaetano is a practical nurse. Three other nurses on the staff are Miss Reba Willis and Mrs.
