Willis said that he was in his car, a 1949 Plymouth, stopped at the stop sign at Queen and Pine Streets, Beaufort, headed south.

According to Police Chief M. E. Guy, one of "seven or eight groes standing at the corner came to Willis and asked for a match. When Willis reached for it, the chief said, all the other fellows piled in the car and one stuck a knife in his back and ordered him to turn left. He followed their directions an
