

Driver Escapes Injury Friday Night

Malcolm Rex Lawrence, 18, Otway, escaped injury at 11:25 Friday night when the 1952 Chevrolet he was driving ran off the Harkers Island Road.

According to State Highway Patrolman W. J. Smith Jr., Lawrence was headed east. He said his right front tire was going flat and caused him to run off the right shoulder of the road and hit a pine tree.

Lawrence was alone in the car. Damage to the automobile was estimated at $250. No charges were preferred.

They are Connie Sabiston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Sabiston, Beaufort, Malcolm Sabiston, son of Mr. and Mrs. North Sabiston, Beaufort RFD, and Jerry Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alonza Thomas, Highland Park, Beaufort.

I Corps, Korea — Pvt. Timmie Willis, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willis, Salter Path, is serving with the I Corps in Korea.

The I Corps, one of three in the Eighth Army, coordinates an intensive post-truce training program for UN units under its control.

A pole lineman in Company A of the 51st Signal Battalion, Willis entered the Army last February and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Aviation Cadet Robert E. Willis of Beaufort is nearing his goal of becoming a jet pilot in the United States Air Force.

The 20-year-old student is learning to fly the T-28 propeller-powered trainer at Greenville Air Force Base, Miss.

After completing his T-28 courses, he will begin flying the speedy T-33 jet. This is the training version of the F-80 fighter.

Cadet Willis is scheduled to receive his silver pilot's wings on Feb. 24. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Willis, route 1 Beaufort.

Bermuda, B.W.I. — Navy Lt.

Cdr. H. L. Joslyn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Joslyn of 2906 Evans St., Morehead City, has reported for duty as administrative officer of Patrol Squadron 49 here.

During the Korean conflict, Commander Joslyn served as air intelligence officer and aid to Admiral J. Turner Joy, USN, during the truce talks at Panmunjom and Munsan and as briefing officer for Commander Naval Forces, Far East.

Commander Joslyn is married to the former Miss Katherine J. Shoeney of 3718 Ednor Rd., Baltimore, Md.

A graduate of Morehead City High School, he graduated from Erskine College in 1939.

Sgt. Richard A. Yeager, husband of Mrs. Carolyn Yeager of route 1 Morehead City, has made his fifth jump from a C-119 aircraft. That marked the end of three weeks of intensive physical and technical training and qualified him as a paratrooper.

Sergeant Yeager is with the 325th Airborne Infantry Regiment, a unit of the famed 82nd Airborne Division, "America's Guard of Honor," at Fort Bragg.

Nickels Program Pays for Texts

Nickels for Know-How, which has already paid for one 48-page text for use by agriculture teachers and students, will pay for another in the near future.

A. G. Bullard of the State Department of Public Instruction's vocational agriculture division, said last week that the first publication — on soil fertility and fertilizer — filled the need for a complete North Carolina reference on the subject. Existing texts were either out of date or did not combine the information into an overall reference that is needed in the classroom.

The next publication will deal with the production of flue-cured tobacco. Nickels for Know-How will also make this possible.

Bullard said that many agriculture teachers have called Soil Fertility and Fertilizers their "most valuable text." Reception of the paper-bound book was such that the Agricultural Foundation, which administers Nickels for Know-How, approved funds for a similar text on flue-cured tobacco.

Nickels for Know-How pays for a total of 38 projects, most of them research in the State College School of Agriculture.

JC's Accept Nominations For Outstanding Men
