

Governor Appoints Representative

Grayden M. Paul Plans To Represent All People

(This is one in a series of stories on political candidates which will appear until the election, Nov. 2.)

Grayden M. Paul, Beaufort, is running for the legislature "as the representative of all the people of Carteret County."

Mr. Paul also points out, "I was born and raised in Carteret County and have been engaged in business for 35 years, which puts me in daily contact with the farmer, fisherman and professional man. I think I know the needs of the county as well as anybody."

Mr. Paul was born in Davis in 1899 and moved to Beaufort in 1912. He attended high school in Beaufort and had one year of college preparatory school at Winterville.

He attended Wake Forest College prior to spending six months in the Army during the first World War.

He married Mary Clark Wilhelm, of St. Petersburg, Fla., in 1921. They have three children: Grayden Jr., now an engineer with Pan American Air Ways, Miami, Fla.; Harry Allen, sales manager of the Baltimore division of Western Auto Co.; and Mary Frazier, who works with Maryland State Road Commission, Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Paul owned and managed the Machine Shop and Marine Railways in Beaufort from 1921 to 1946.

He was mayor of Beaufort and chairman of civil defense from 1940 to 1943. He is a past president of the Beaufort Rotary Club and a deacon in the First Baptist Church. He also was Sunday School superintendent for a number of years as well as being a teacher in the Sunday School department and belonging to the choir.

Mr. Paul is now owner and operator of the Sunshine Court Motel Apartments and is car sales manager for Paul Motor Company.

He says, "There are some mighty important things coming up in the next legislature which will effect our county, state and nation; such as, health, education and finance. Not since 1935 has the General Assembly faced an empty treasury, and spending exceeding revenue."

Mr. Paul, who is running on the Republican ticket, also states, "If the people decide to send me to the legislature, I do not make any rash promises, but I do promise to study carefully each bill and resolution, and vote my convictions 'with malice toward none and charity for all.'"

Toastmasters Receive Charter

Elbert Ward, Goldsboro, Makes Presentation

Wednesday Morning

By NORWOOD YOUNG

The Carteret County Chapter of Toastmasters International received its official charter amid a round of speeches at its bi-monthly breakfast meeting in Holden's Restaurant, Beaufort, Wednesday, Area Governor Elbert Ward, of Goldsboro, made the presentation.

Coining a phrase used by a certain TV station serving this area Governor Ward said "Things that happen today make history tomorrow." You are making history today. Toastmasters is an organization of fellowship. Yours is a movement of unselfish people. You are striving to better yourselves, and in so doing you are helping your fellowmen better themselves. Toastmasters offers you information for study. Your local club offers you a place to practice.

"Experimenting with new ideas," Mr. Ward continued, "and finding better means to put across your points should be shared with your fellow clubs. You are expected to share in a work that has been going on for the last 30 years."

Accepts Charter

The charter was accepted by incoming President, J. P. Harris, of Beaufort. Mr. Harris succeeded Ronald Earl Mason, also of Beaufort. The latter was awarded a Toastmasters past president's pin.

Gene C. Smith, of Beaufort, served as toastmaster at the meeting. The first formal speaker on the program was Past President Mason, who made his third prepared address as a Toastmaster. His topic was the "Importance of attentive listening." "An attentive audience," said Mr. Mason, "is to a speaker what a cheer is to an athlete."

The speaker listed four rules for good listening. They are: 1—look at the speaker; 2—listen to what is being said; 3—think of the suggestions made by the speaker; and 4—after the address is completed take the meat of the speech and weigh it.

Dan Walker, Beaufort town clerk, was the second speaker, and chose as his subject, "Civilians and Common Takers." "Yesterday, today, and tomorrow history is being made," said Walker. "Each of us propounds his evaluation on the passing parade. Yet our classification of ourselves as evaluators and critics increases out of all proportion with anything imaginable. How many times last week have you said: 'If I were editor! If I were solicitor! If I were commissioner! If I were coach!'"

Mayor Speaks

Beaufort's mayor, C. T. Lewis, made his second formal Toastmasters address: "The Dry Cleaners Are Clothes' Best Friend." Mayor Lewis traced briefly the history of dry cleaning from 1845 down to the present day.

"Turpentine, spilled on a tablecloth, was the beginning of a billion dollar industry," said Mr. Lewis. He explained that the cloth looked brighter and cleaner where the fluid was spilled. He added that the dry cleaning business has increased from a $55,000,000 industry in 1919, to $1,522,000,000 in 1952.

Elmer D. Willis, of Davis, delivered a second formal address also. His subject: "The Importance of Being in Earnest." "Little people gossip about people," said the speaker.

Wreck Victim Leaves Hospital

Curtis N. Gillikin, Otway, was discharged from the Morehead City Hospital Tuesday. He was hospitalized Monday night following an accident at 8:31 p.m. seven miles east of Beaufort on Highway 70.

Two others involved in the accident, Raymond Carl Cox, route 2 New Bern, and Pearlina Guthrie, Harkers Island, were treated at the hospital and discharged.

Cox, who was driving a 1949 Ford, with Miss Guthrie as a passenger, said he was proceeding east at 45 miles an hour and as he approached the curve west of the North River Bridge he saw a car bowling toward him at a high rate of speed.

He told State Highway Patrolman J. W. Sykes that he pulled off the highway to the right and had come to a stop when the oncoming car smashed into him.

Driving the car which hit him was Gillikin. Both automobiles were demolished. Gillikin's automobile was a 1953 Plymouth. Cox, Gillikin and Miss Guthrie were taken to the Morehead City Hospital in the Adair ambulance.

Elliott Scott Draws Two-Year Suspended Term

Elliott Scott, Harker's Island, was given a suspended sentence of two years on the roads in County Recorder's court Tuesday after a 10-year old girl testified that he had picked her up and made advances toward her.

Scott was charged with assault on a female. He was placed on five years' good behavior, fined $25 and taxed court costs.

The little girl who lives on Harker's Island testified that Scott picked her up when she was on her way home from school at lunch time Tuesday.

She saw Scott and asked him to take her home, she said. Scott got half way to her house when he turned around and, after asking her if she was in a hurry, said he had to go see someone, according to the little girl.

She told the court that he drove to a field and got out, saying that he had "to see a man about a dog." He stayed outside, at the back of the car for a few minutes and then got back in the car, she said.

Offers Her Money

He then offered her a quarter to do what he asked her. She started crying and said she was going to tell her mother, the girl testified.

Scott started then to take her home and picked up Calvin Rose on the way, according to testimony. The girl got in the back seat and Rose rode in the front, she told the judge.

Representing Scott, Attorney Harvey Hamilton asked the girl if she hadn't made up the story because she was late for school.

People Who Burn Off Brush After 4 P.M. Need Permit

County Forest Ranger E. M. Foreman reminded residents of the county this week that persons wishing to burn off land between midnight and 4 p.m. must first obtain a burning permit.

If the burning is done between 4 p.m. and midnight, no permit is needed. The state's brush law went into effect Oct. 1.

The law applies to all forest land under state protection. Carteret County participates in the state forestry program therefore the law applies to the entire county area.

This is the second year that the law has allowed individuals to burn between the hours of 4 p.m. and midnight without first obtaining a permit. It was found last year that no people were able to get their necessary burning done during these hours, according to the ranger. Also, the fires started after 4 p.m. were much easier to keep confined to the desired area than were the fires which started in the morning or middle of the day.

If burning must be done at times other than between 4 p.m. and midnight, permits may be obtained, without cost, at the following places:

Sheriff's office, courthouse, Beaufort; Ranger Foreman, Core Creek; Tom's Service Station and Beaufort Hardware Co., Beaufort; Dewey Hardesty, North River; Cleveland Gillikin and Roland Salter, Bettie.

National Guard Will Conduct Drill Sunday

Battery A of the National Guard, Beaufort, will hold a four-hour drill Sunday afternoon from 1 until 4 p.m. First Lt. Norman Masters, battery commander, in announcing the extra drill, invited the general public to come by the armory during these four hours and observe their fellow guardsmen at work and instruction.

The purpose of the extra drill, Lieutenant Masters stated, is to perform periodic cleaning of equipment not possible to clean during the two-hour weekly drill and also to prepare for the forthcoming annual Third Army inspection. It will also serve, he added, as an excellent opportunity for the residents of Beaufort and Morehead City and all of Carteret County to observe the work and duties of the various members of the unit personnel.

Main emphasis will be placed on motor equipment, signal equipment, mess, radio, small arms and clothing equipment.

By specifically inviting the public to observe and watch, Lieutenant Masters stated that it would afford an excellent chance to show how the unit performs and observe the type of equipment used by the heavy field artillery battery.

It will be impossible on this day, he said, to set up displays and give detailed instruction to those visiting the armory, due to the importance of the maintenance work, but everyone is urged to come in during the hours of the drill.

Plans are underway at the present time to hold another Sunday drill at which time displays of all equipment will be set up and operated.

On that date persons will be given an opportunity to communicate on the strong radio sets issued to the unit, sample some of the food prepared on the field stove units, make an inspection of the small arms, which include 30 calibre carbines, M-1 rifles and sub-machine guns, as well as watch a practice drill with the large, deadly 155 mm howitzer.

Full information as to qualifications for prospective new recruits into the battery would be available from the unit administrator, the battery commander added.

Auto Burns Monday Morning

The car owned by Miss Ruth Esther Wooten, Marshallberg, was destroyed by fire at 7:30 Monday morning near the junction of the Merrimon Road and Highway 70.

She said at first she thought it would stop smoking but everyone else "balled out" so she did too. A passing motorist called the Beaufort Fire Department but the car had burned badly by the time firemen arrived.

Miss Wooten said the automobile, a 1950 Buick, was insured. She and her three passengers were carried to work by others bound for Morehead City.

The merchants committee is working on the plans with the Rev. Leon Couch who is chairman of the chamber's religious committee. Chaplains of Cherry Point, Camp Lejeune and Stallings Air Force Base, Kinston, will be asked to be judges of the floats.

Ted Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce, said some of the churches of the county may combine their efforts in making a float.
