

Newport Firemen Undertake Fire Extinguisher Selling

Members of Veterans Office Visit at Beach

Members of the legal staff of the regional office, North Carolina Veterans Administration, Winston-Salem, spent the weekend at the C. B. Brooks cottage, Atlantic Beach.

They were C. P. Pate, H. W. Blackstock, J. O. Howard, R. B. Campbell, all of Winston-Salem; D. L. Swayngum, Connerville; A. M. Scarborough, Greensboro.

Lamar Galloway, Asheville; W. J. Short, Mt. Airy; E. L. Quillen, Sanford; and J. E. Caviness, Lillington.

To help protect Newport homes and businesses from loss by fire, Newport firemen have launched a two-week fire extinguisher sale.

Firemen have sent letters to each householder and businessman explaining that the fire department is for fire prevention as well as fire fighting.

The letter says, "We feel that one of the most efficient agents for extinguishing fires of all kinds, including gasoline and oil fires which are spread by water, is carbon dioxide. These CO2 extinguishers are very simple to operate and are not bulky or hard to carry. They will not damage clothes or furniture and will not leave a mess to clean up; will not damage food or freeze up..."

Members of the fire department will make personal calls in the extinguisher-selling campaign.

Chief Leon Mann, Jr. says the extinguishers are of varied design for the home. For instance, one of the models resembles a set of door chimes and serves as an ornament in the home as well as a protection against fire.

Capt. Charlie Gould Jr. said that the extinguishers being sold are of proved, well-known brand. The firm sells its products only through fire departments. Profit from the sale will go to the fire department for use in the Christmas program.

Assistant Chief Bennie Garner pointed out there is little profit in the sales. "We are more interested in people having an extinguisher than we are in making money," he added.

Much fire damage could be prevented if a small hand extinguisher were available when a fire first broke out, commented I. J. Jones, secretary of the department. All firemen are participating in the sale.

Home Economics Teachers Meet

Four home Economics teachers from Carteret County met with teachers from Craven, Beaufort, Hyde and Pamlico Counties in the Bath High School Saturday to discuss problems of the Future Homemakers of America, the high school organization which is sponsored by the American Home Economics Association.

Mrs. Geraldine Beveridge of Beaufort and Mrs. Floy Garner of the Smyrna School contributed to the topic "Program Ideas," and Mrs. Ruby Simmons of Newport and Mrs. Florence Cordova of Morehead City aided in the discussion of "Money Making Ideas."

Nineteen teachers with their supervisor, Mrs. Mabel Lacy Hall, enjoyed a covered dish luncheon at noon in the Bath Homemaking Department.

The next meeting in February will be held in the Englehard School and the program will be "Ideas for Special Occasions."

Band Makes $600 During Tag Day

Six hundred dollar was raised by the Morehead City School Band Saturday on Tag Day.

Fred Lewis, president of the Morehead City Band Association, G. T. Windell, principal of the school, and Ralph Wade, band director, are pleased with the results and express thanks to the townspeople for their support.

"A student-minded public inspires the student to higher achievement and is an asset to the community," Mr. Lewis commented.

The band will participate in the Christmas parade at Raleigh Monday, Nov. 29. They were invited on the expense-paid trip by the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce.

They will also play in the Christmas parade in Morehead City Friday night, Nov. 26.

Billy Graham Stars in Movie

The Rev. Billy Graham, nationally known evangelist and producer of the world's first Christian western film "Mr. Texas," will be seen in another religious film, "Oiltown, USA," to be presented here Friday night at the Morehead City High School.

Dr. John Bunn, pastor of the First Baptist Church and in charge of local arrangements for the showing, announced that the picture will begin at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. with the doors of the auditorium opening at 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Graham's film features the evangelist and members of his team in their city-wide evangelistic crusade in Houston, Texas. Highlighting the film are scenes from the meeting in Rice Stadium where 60,000 gathered to hear Graham for one of the largest evangelistic meetings in American history.

Featured in the film are professional Hollywood players who have become Christians themselves, including Colleen Townsend Evans, Georgia Lee, Paul Power, Robert Clarke and the stars of "Mr. Texas," Redd Harper and Cindy Walker. "Oiltown, USA" is in natural color and approximately ninety minutes in length.

Dr. Bunn pointed out that there is no charge for admission, and that the seats will be on a "first come" basis.

Firemen Put Out Blaze At Grocery Store Friday

Morehead City firemen put out a fire at Cherry's Market, Arendell and sixth streets, Friday morning at 11:30.

The fire was started when a gas heater fell on the floor, according to E. L. Nelson, Morehead City fire chief.

The fire was put out quickly and did not cause any damage.

Church Closes Deal On Property Purchase

The First Presbyterian Church, Morehead City, has purchased the Sudie Nelson property on Arendell Street, Morehead City, for $10,000, according to Bob Howard, who was in charge of the negotiation.

John James, attorney, provided legal assistance for search of title and the preparation of papers.

Beaufort Resident's Dream Comes True with House Hangar Combination

By Pvt. R. W. DICKEY

Cherry Point — After being at Cherry Point all day surrounded by airplanes, some people might seek an escape from anything that even suggests flying. Not so in the case of Charles Vellines, an official at the Overhaul and Repair Department. After work, Mr. Vellines returns to one of the most unusual homes in North Carolina from the standpoint of design and function.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Vellines, located in west Beaufort doesn't look unusual at all when driving past, but upon close inspection, you will find it radically different. A seemingly normal two-story white house turns out to be a combination home, woodworking shop, and an airplane hanger, complete with airplane.

Naturally there is a story behind this "dream-come-true" home. Mr. Vellines has long been a flying enthusiast, and this love of flying is shared by his wife. He also pursues the hobbies of woodworking and fishing.

Mr. Vellines, who has been at Cherry Point since 1943, toyed with the idea of combining a hangar for his airplane, a woodworking shop, home, and a convenient location for fishing activity in one package for quite sometime. The perfect location was found in Beaufort adjacent to the airport and only a stone's throw from the inland waterway.

After finding this ideal location, Mr. Vellines drew up rough plans of what he wanted and a friend who is an architect designed the home. It is a home truly built around an airplane, which is a sleek "125" Swift. The ground floor contains the hangar, a woodworking shop complete in every detail, and an enclosed, attractively furnished breezeway. Upstairs is the tastefully furnished two-bedroom living area, highlighted by pine panelling and an open fireplace in the living room. The Vellines moved into their home in April 1953. Much of the work on the house was done by Mr. Vellines himself and now he is beginning to make new furniture for the breezeway.

When Mr. and Mrs. Vellines leave on a trip by air, they only have to taxi their Swift 150-feet to the airport runway and they are off. Their enthusiasm for flying is shared by their blonde cocker spaniel, who has logged many hours in the air.

Among the many unusual and practical features of the house is an "inter-com" system which enables a person on the first floor to talk to the second floor and vice versa. This little device saves many trips up and down the stairs.

Another practical feature is the fact that the spacious hanger, minus the airplane, becomes the perfect place to entertain a party of guests, thus saving wear and tear on the living quarters.

Needless to say, there have been many curious people to see the house and hangar combination. It seems they always leave with a misty, far-away look in their eyes, already planning their own dream home. Truly, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vellines is a dream come true.

Scattered School

Scottsburg, Ind. (AP) — Some pupils are having to use a turkey barn, an old bank building and a church basement for their classes because the State Board of Tax Commissioners has rejected a $175,000 classroom-gym project, says Earl Mills, school trustee.

From the front this is an attractive, normal looking two-story house. But from the rear its "plane" to see the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vellines is an unusual combination of airplane hangar and living quarters. Another unusual feature of the home is the complete woodworking shop located in what appears to be only a garage. Mr. Vellines did much of the work on the home himself. Mrs. Vellines contributed an expert job of interior decorating.

To be Tried Today
Three men, charged with public drunkenness, will be given hearings in Beaufort Recorder's Court today. They are Bernard Tanker, who was apprehended Saturday night; Walter Copps, picked up Friday; and Jasper Easter, cited Saturday, Nov. 6. Copps is also charged with using loud and profane language.

HEADACHE OFTEN THE DANGER SIGNAL

By DR. R. O. BARNUM

Although a headache is painful experience, oftentimes the one who suffers from it should be thankful for it is an indication that something is wrong with the mechanism of the body. It is like a red light on the railroad track that warns one to stop, look and listen.

Headaches may mean that something is wrong with the liver, the stomach, ears, eyes or other organs. It's the beginning of preventable illness, and it comes as a warning to repair any initial mischief and ward off the ultimate consequences. Taking an aspirin or other drug to relieve the headache is like the ostrich putting his head in the ground to avoid danger. The drug may temporarily relieve the pain but will not remove the cause.

Chiropractic adjustments remove the cause of many types of headache and may avert future trouble.

ABC Officer Recovers Whisky

Marshall Ayscue, county ABC officer, fished a gallon of "important evidence" out of a king-size mud puddle at 9:30 Friday night. The "evidence," a jar of bootleg whiskey, was thrown there by a Negro in a pickup truck.

According to the sheriff's department, the ABC officer started chasing the truck on the south side of the Core Creek bridge. The truck turned off the highway, down into the woods into a camp and then out across the highway again.

The driver threw the jar out in a deep ditch as he spun and churched through the water and mud. Unable to follow in his car, the ABC officer got out and retrieved the jar.

The sheriff's department says the identity of the driver is known and an arrest will probably be made in a few days.

Appomattox, Va. (AP - T. W. Moses began his family retreat from Appomattox. He entered a Lynchburg hospital for an operation. Early next day his wife went to the hospital for checkup and treatment. State Sen. Charles T. Moses, their son, followed them a few days later — a pneumonia patient.
