Body of Missing Fisherman Found

The body of Willie Grave, crew member of the menhaden boat Quinn, who was reported missing Dec. 15, was found Tuesday morning in Gallant's Creek near Smith's fish factory, Beaufort.

The body was sighted by a fisherman, Raymond Springle, Beaufort, who notified the sheriff between 8:30 and 7 a.m. Grave was identified by Jim Betts, Negro fisherman from Mobile, Ala.

Coroner Leslie Springle, unable to detect any indication of foul play in the death, has ruled Grave dead as the result of accidental drowning. His wallet and other personal belongings were found on the body.

Capt. Percy Garner of the Quinn told Morehead City police Dec. 15 that Grave had been missing since Saturday night, Dec. 11, when he was paid off. He was last seen "heading for a poker game."

Sheriff Hugh Salter said that Grave's family, Cuthbert, Ga., has refused to bear the expenses of shipping the body back to Georgia. He will be buried here at the county expense.
