

Becker Ensemble to Present First Community Concert

The Becker Ensemble will appear at the Beaufort School at 8:30 tomorrow night featuring Mary Becker, violinist, Marcia Barbour, cellist, Lily Miki, pianist, and Romana Dahlborg, flutist. This will be the first of the 1955 Community Concert series.

Each of the artists has achieved distinction in a solo capacity as well as in ensemble playing.

The ensemble is now on its second North American tour.

Their program is a diversified selection of classics and popular favorites. It is made up of solos for each instrument, numbers for combinations of one or more of the instruments and compositions for the entire ensemble.

Born in Syracuse
Mary Becker, the violinist, was born in Syracuse, N. Y., and began her study of the violin at the age of 10 under the direction of her father, the late Professor Conrad L. Becker, a pupil of Joachim and head of the violin department of the Syracuse University College of Fine Arts.

In a span of 12 months she completed the entire four-year course at Syracuse in both violin and piano and graduated with top honors.

She has since worked at the Juilliard Graduate School in New York with the late Albert Spalding and Paul Dochanski.

Marcia Barbour, cellist, was born in Winfield, Kan. Her father was an amateur musician and, under his guidance, she was awarded fellowship to the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia and the Juilliard School of Music in New York. At both institutions she studied under Felix Salmond.

Volunteers Services
When the United States entered World War II, Miss Barbour volunteered her services to the USO. After the war she appeared as soloist with the Juilliard Orchestra in New York and with other orchestras in the West and Midwest.

Born in New York of Japanese parents, Lily Miki, pianist, was a scholarship pupil and honor student at the Juilliard School of Music where she was taught by Mary Louise Sims, Carl Friedberg and Gaston Dethier.

Wins Awards
Among her awards there were the Harry Rosenberg Memorial, the Frank Damosch Scholarship, and the Morris Loeb Memorial Prize. She made her professional debut as soloist in the Greig Concerto with the Chautauqua Symphony under Franco Auri.

Ramona Dahlborg, flutist, was born in New Haven, Conn., and was a scholarship student at the Juilliard School where she has been awarded two degrees in music.

Miss Dahlborg has also received scholarships to the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., and the late Dr. Serge Koussevitzky awarded her a scholarship to the Berkshire Music Center at Tanglewood.

House guests of members, who are from 50 miles away, and members of the armed forces and their families may purchase tickets at the door.

License Office Reports on Sales

With the deadline for new registration plates drawing near, the tag agency at the First-Citizens Installation Loan Department, Morehead City, announced that 2,606 automobile tags have been issued to motorists.

Deadline for obtaining a license tag is Jan. 31.

For private trucks, 345 tags have been issued and 68 tags have been issued for farm trucks. One hundred and seventy licenses have been issued for trailers and eight for motorcycles.

Miss Foy Ingram, director of the state agency's registration division, said only about half of the state's 1,400,000 motor vehicle owners had bought new plates so far. Through mid-January the department's 76 branch outlets and the Raleigh office had passed out 555,904 new sets of plates.

The balance must be issued before the deadline — midnight, Jan. 31. No extension will be made, according to Miss Ingram.

New tags may be obtained from the branch offices or through the mail from Raleigh.

Attendance Up
Attendance at Fort Macon State Park in 1954 was 514,475 as compared with 280,092 in 1953. Fort Macon's attendance was higher than at any state park, but all parks had an increase in attendance last year, according to Ben Douglas, director of the Board of Conservation and Development.

Four lovely musicians will present the first Community Concert in Beaufort School auditorium tomorrow night. The time has been changed from 8 p.m. to 8:30 because church services won't be over by 8 p.m.

TB Seal Sale Totals $1,863

Mrs. W. I. Loftin, executive secretary of the Carteret County Tuberculosis Association, announced yesterday that $1,863.50 had been received in the TB Christmas Seal sale.

She said that final reminders to those who have not made contributions will be sent out next week. Total received last year was $1,912.

Mrs. Loftin said quite a lot of money will be needed because a bit of bills for X-rays are piling up. She released the statistics on TB in the county, during the past year, as follows:

Deaths from tuberculosis totaled three, new cases 13, patients in sanatoriums 19, cases being treated at home 8, waiting to be admitted placed in those.

Thirteen county residents are suspected of having tuberculosis and are being checked and five patients left the sanatoriums without being officially discharged. One new active case was uncovered within the past few weeks.

When the mobile X-ray trailer was here last year to take X-rays of former patients and those suspected of having the disease, 225 persons were checked and several cases of lung cancer discovered.

Mrs. Loftin said the county TB association hopes to be able to finance mass X-rays this year if enough money comes in.

Contributions may be mailed to Mrs. Loftin, Beaufort, N. C.

County Historical Society Meets

Group Receives Paper Of 1930, History of Attack on Beaufort

Almost a full membership of the Carteret County Historical Society was at the quarterly meeting of the society in the social rooms of the Civic Center, Morehead City, Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Nat Smith, president, presided.

Reports from the several committees appointed at the meeting last October, covering research of historical matter and obtaining of new members, was most encouraging. Mrs. Smith said. Twenty new members have been added to the charter membership of 31.

To secure historical material of county interest for the files of the archives, assignments were given to various members to cover certain sections of the county, gathering any facts of early county history and securing as far as possible original copies of land grants, deeds, Army records, books and cemetery listings of early settlers.

Presentations were made by John S. Jones of Cedar Point of a copy of the Carteret County Herald published in 1930 containing a reprint of an oration given by the Honorable Appleton Oaksmith in Beaufort on July 4, 1876. Also Milton F. Perry of West Point, N. Y., former curator at Fort Macon, sent in a well-compiled history of the Spanish attack on Beaufort in 1747.

Mrs. Hilda Davis Mebane, a visitor from Aberdeen, formerly of Davis, gave an impromptu talk covering the work of the Moore County Historical Society of which she is a member. The society of Moore County has restored several old houses, one of which has been converted into a museum and tea room. Through the work of the society a history of Moore County has been published.

No set program was given but a general discussion took place. Pictures consisting of photographs and cuts of building, personages and other scenes collected by F. C. Salisbury were on display. An invitation from Mrs. E. A. Council in charge of the Civic Center and library, to hold the meeting of the society at the Civic Center at any time, was accepted and a vote of appreciation extended to Mrs. Council. Space also has been allotted at the center for the caring of records and other material if the society so desires.

To stimulate interest in the society in the eastern part of the county it was voted to accept an invitation from Joe DuBois, manager of the Sea Level Inn, to hold the next quarterly meeting at the Inn Saturday, April 2, at 2 p.m.

W. T. Oden, Charles Baxter Testify at Inquest

Key witnesses at the Thursday night inquest on the murder of Albert Fallin, 19-year-old Negro, were William Thomas (Sergeant) Oden and Charles Baxter, Negroes who testified that they saw the shooting New Year's Eve at Pine and Queen Streets, Beaufort.

Oden said that he saw Lucille (Candy-Baby) Williams raise a rifle and fire at Fallin, and Baxter told the coroner's jury that he saw Levi Williams fire at the victim. Both Levi and Lucille, brother and sister, are being held without bond pending meeting of the grand jury in March. Each is charged with murder.

The two were present at the inquest but did not testify. Lucille, about 5 feet 3 inches, was dressed in a chartruese sweater, dark suit, gray shortie coat, and anklets. She's a heavy woman, weighing about 140 pounds.

Levi, light-complected like his sister, had on dark trousers, a navy blue jacket with an imitation sheepwool collar. Because of his drooping eyelids, he had to tilt his head back to look at persons on the witness stand.

Neither was asked to testify. Lucille sat sullenly throughout the proceedings, her heavily-lip-sticked lips drooped in a pout.

Coroner Leslie D. Springle, Beaufort, called Police Chief M. E. Guy as the first witness. Chief Guy said that he was notified of the shooting at 7:15 Dec. 31. When he arrived at the scene, Fallin was dead. After getting some information, he said he and other officers went to Levi's home where they arrested Lucille.

Levi was not there and neither did they find any weapon.

Oden Testifies
Oden, a tall bespectacled Negro, was the next witness. He said that he was at the Elks Club which is located near Pine and Queen. He, Roy Ellison, Isaac Jordan and a couple others were steaming oysters for a New Year's Eve feast.

"I saw calls me to the window (on the second floor) and said they were fighting out there," Oden testified. "I looked out and said 'I'm going to get me a good look' and I went downstairs."

After he got down to the ground floor he said he saw Levi Williams and Alberta Fair "come around the corner." He told the jury that he heard Alberta say she was scared and Levi, he added, was carrying a rifle.

The boys who were fighting were Fallin and Abraham Williams, Lucille's son. The witness continued, "The boys were beatin' at each other and Candy came across the street and told them, 'Break it up.' Then Albert said 'Make her leave me alone.' I was watchin' the fightin' and then I turned and saw Lucille throw up the rifle (the witness dramatized for the court how she put the rifle up and aimed) and heard the shot."

Heard Two Shots
Under questioning by Harvey Hamilton Jr., attorney for Lucille and Levi, Oden said he then heard another shot. "Levi had a rifle and she had a rifle," he said. The first shot sounded like a cap pistol, he said.

Lawyer Hamilton asked Oden how he knew the man with a rifle was Levi. "Because he's shorter than the other one," Oden replied. (Levi has a twin brother, Nehemiah, who was being held by authorities for a while but was later released.)

Then followed a tremendous hassle about names and who was who, with sharp exchanges between the witness and the attorney. At one point Oden told Mr. Hamilton, "Don't try to mess me up when I'm trying to say something!" Oden emphatically stated that "the man in the courtroom" (he pointed to Levi) was the man he saw with the rifle.

Oden said that after the shooting he went back upstairs in the Elks Club and asked that the law be called.

One-Room House Burns at Newport

The one-room frame home owned by Arthur P. Pollack, two miles east of Newport on Highway 70, burned to the ground at 8:30 Friday morning.

The fire was caused when the oil heater exploded. The Newport Fire Department answered the call but the house was almost to the ground by the time firemen arrived. Very few of the inside furnishings were saved.

The blaze was reported by a passing motorist and Johnny Smith, who lives nearby, also phoned in the alarm. The loss was not covered by insurance.

Newport firemen also put out a blaze in the home of Sam Simmons at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday. According to Lt. Doug Henderson of the fire department, the wood stove overheated and caught the woodwork around the mantel fire.

Nine firemen answered the call and had the fire out in about 15 minutes. Loss was estimated at $200. The Simmons home is located three miles from Newport.

Farmers Have Until Jan. 26 To Apply for Aid

B. J. May, manager of the agriculture stabilization office, Beaufort, announced yesterday that farmers have until Wednesday, Jan. 26, to sign up for assistance in soil conservation practices for 1955.

Farmers in the Bogue community may sign up from 8 to 5 today at Joe Taylor's Store. Farmers in Pelletier, Newport and White Oak were given the opportunity to sign up during the past several days.

The total allocation of funds to Carteret for 1955 is $15,660. Five per cent of this goes to the soil conservation department for technical assistance.

Farmers may apply for financial aid for the following practices: permanent pasture (either hay cover or planting that will be turned under in several years under a crop rotation plan); open ditch and tile drainage practices, winter cover crops, summer legume planting, or year 'round cover.

A new practice has been added this year. Farmers may get financial assistance to improve poor pastures that are intended to be permanent.

After the county ACP committee meets to determine the amount of assistance each farmer will receive, notices will be mailed out. Some of the farmers will probably receive their notices this month.

Mr. May said that the total budget has been divided into two parts. Nine thousand dollars will be allocated now and in June the remainder of the money will be used to finance fall practices.

Money left over from the first six months will be applied to money to be allocated the second six months.

Two Motorists Lose Licenses

The driver's licenses of Clayton John Bramhall, Beaufort, and Robert Leo Eslinger, Harkers Island, have been suspended, according to the North Carolina Highway Safety Division.

Eslinger's license was suspended for speeding over 70 miles per hour and Bramhall's license was suspended for failing to comply with the insurance law.

No Suspension
State Highway Patrolman W. J. Smith Jr. said that the license of Ralph Lupton Daniels, Beaufort, evidently has not been suspended, as reported from Raleigh last week.

According to the State Highway Safety Division, Daniels failed to comply with the state law requiring the carrying of liability insurance.

Time Cross-Up
Patrolman Smith said that in some instances the state is notified by insurance companies that a motorist's insurance has lapsed and the state motor vehicles office sends out suspension notices. Meanwhile, the motorist renews his insurance.

Patrolman Smith said that he was notified, too, of the suspension of Daniels' license, but until he gets further notice, Daniels apparently is authorized to drive his car.
