County Bridge League Plays Master-Point Game

The Carteret County Bridge League played a master-point game Monday evening when they met at the Morehead City Recreation Center. The game was a charity game as is the game every fifth Monday, and proceeds from it will go to the charity sponsored by the American Contract Bridge League.

Six and one-half tables were in play and the Mitchell Movement was used.

North-south winners were first, C. L. Beam, Calvin Jones; second, Mrs. C. P. Davis, Dorsey Martin; third and fourth were a tie between Al Dewey, B. O. Ketter and Mrs. W. A. Mace Jr., Mrs. George Eastman.

East-west winners were first, Mrs. Alvah Hamilton, Mrs. J. S. Steed; second, S. K. Hedgecock, Jack Windley; third, J. J. Patterson, L. R. Powell; fourth, W. A. Abernathy of Williamston, Miss Charlotte Guthrie.

Others still remain on the sick list. Things reached such a state last Friday that a substitute had to be procured for the substitute, Miss Peggy Hill, remedial reading teacher, who has been substituting in the absence of Mrs. Fulcher was taken ill herself last Friday and a substitute had to be called in for her.

Mrs. Grace Fodrie is at this time the latest absent member of the High School faculty and her presence is sorely missed. But the school is like the theatre and the show does go on.

Report cards were given out last Wednesday. On those report cards were the mid-year averages which means simply this: parents of students who failed at this time need to insure that some good hard work is forthcoming or else the student will be a failure for the year.

Class meetings were held last Monday at activity period. Plans for springs events were begun.

Work on the annual was completed last Tuesday. More information will be in next week's Chalk Dust.

"Let's Stay Well" has been our slogan for this week. The county health nurse visited our room last week and she checked our eyes and teeth for us. She got our heights and weights, too.

We have been finding out how we can care for our eyes and teeth, and how to eat the right food to make our bodies strong.

— Mrs. Betsy Dail, First Grade

The home economics girls enjoyed seeing the Carolina Power and Light Co. demonstrator, Miss Emily B. Burrage, demonstrate easy surface meals and oven meals Thursday in the homemaking department.

Miss Burrage served the four meals to the girls, who highly approved of her culinary arts. She also demonstrated cleaning the electric stove and gave suggestions for using the electric stove and the stove accessories.

Several home ec girls and Mrs. Beveridge were given facials by the House of Hollywood demonstrator, Mrs. Brunson. It seems that the best skin treatment for teenagers is to keep the skin clean, eat well-balanced diets, and get plenty of sleep and rest. The most popular cosmetic for the teen-ager is light shades of lipstick.

Alice Pake, Brenda Smith and Virginia Robinson will be responsible for the care of the school sick-room during the month of February. Carolyn Daniels, Nancy Longest and Nina Darling, were kept busy on this committee during January, because the first-aid room served as a shipping center for flu.

Paintings by Mrs. Piner Exhibited in New York

Mrs. James A. Piner, the former Laura Davis, is one of four art graduate students whose work was chosen as representative of southern colleges. Her paintings are being shown at the New York Forum Gallery in an exhibit of art by college students.

Mrs. Piner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Davis of Beaufort, is now a member of the faculty at Camp Glenn School.

Flu Keeps Students, Teachers From School; Reports Come Out

For the past weeks since Christmas, attendance at school has suffered. Many, many students have been ill with colds and influenza. Nor were the faculty members immune. Several of the teachers have just returned to school after their bout with whatever this winter's scourge has been.

Others still remain on the sick list. Things reached such a state last Friday that a substitute had to be procured for the substitute, Miss Peggy Hill, remedial reading teacher, who has been substituting in the absence of Mrs. Fulcher was taken ill herself last Friday and a substitute had to be called in for her.

Obituaries

ALTON G. WILLIAMS

Ocracoke—Funeral services were held here Sunday for Alton Goren Williams, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Williams of Staten Island, N. Y. Alton died Wednesday, Jan. 26.

Services were held at 11 o'clock Friday morning at the Silver Funeral Home, Staten Island, with the Rev. Andrew J. Long, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Staten Island, officiating.

The body was brought here for burial in the Ocracoke Community Cemetery. The Rev. W. M. Hale, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiated.

Alton was the grandson of Mrs. Jacob Williams and the late Jacob Williams, and had many aunts, uncles, and cousins here. He spent all of his summers here as a child and visited as often as possible as an adult, claiming that Ocracoke was more home to him than his Staten Island home. He had visited here about three weeks ago and his sudden death was a shock to his many relatives and friends here. He is an only son, survived by both parents.

In addition to his parents, several relatives and friends came to the island for the services, among them Mrs. Gilbert Tostang of Bridgeport, N. J., Mrs. Julia DeLuca of Staten Island, Mrs. Allie Atkinson of Staten Island and son, Clifford Atkinson of Morehead City, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Helpenstill, and also a number of friends from Atlantic: Hugh Styron, Boyd, Aron, Grace, Dale and Veda Styron, Lionel Gilgo, and Mrs. Selby Fulcher.

— James L. Gaskill

Ocracoke—James Lumley Gaskill, 79, died Feb. 1 at his home here. He was found dead in bed by his son, John Gaskill. Funeral services were held at the home at 5 o'clock this afternoon, with the Rev. Mr. Whitaker and the Rev. Mr. Hale officiating. Burial was in the family graveyard.

Mr. Gaskill was the last of his generation of Gaskills, his brothers, Ben Gaskill and Bill Gaskill have predeceased him. He is survived by two sons, J. L. Gaskill Jr. and John Gaskill, both of Ocracoke; three daughters, Mrs. Felix Fleig of Newport News, Va., Mrs. Nora Bruce of Texas, and Miss Polly R. Gaskill of Raleigh; and five grandchildren, Felix and Mary B. Fleig, James Barrie and Joseph Wayne Gaskill, and Lucy Gale Bruce.

Mr. Gaskill served in the Spanish-American War and was for many years in the U. S. Coast Guard, living the latter years of his life retired.
