Committee Alters School Gym Plan

Finer Carolina Project Includes Working for Entire New School

At a special meeting of the Finer Carolina committee in the Fort Macon Hotel dining room yesterday, the entire school gym roject was changed. After discussion, with a review of growth of the educational needs in Carteret County by School Sup-erintendent Harvey Joslyn, the committee made the following recommendation to the chairman: that the project be amended to include a complete school plant for the city of Morehead to be built on the 30 acres of old Taylor property purchased by the County Board of Education last year.

The new plant would consist of an adequate high school building with cafeterias, auditoriums and gym costing a minimum of $750,-000.

"The number of school children," said Mr. Joslyn, "is grow-ing faster than the county's ability to build new rooms to house them. Our enrollment has increased 21.4 per cent since 1948."
