Jaycees to Hold Sheriff's Party Monday Night

The sheriff's party for members of the Morehead City Jaycees will be held Monday night at 7:30, according to an announcement made at the weekly meeting Monday at the Fort Macon Hotel by Oscar Joslyn, sheriff of the organization.

The members will each pay one dollar for themselves and one dollar for each of their guests, for the boat ride aboard the Carolina Queen, with the beverages to be supplied from the sheriff's funds.

It was also announced at the meeting that the Morehead City Festival brought a profit of $384 to the Jaycees, according to co-chairmen James Macey and Jerry J. Willis.

Luther Lewis, chairman of the lamp bulb sale, requested that members get out on Saturday at the booths that will be set up in Morehead and help sell some of the light bulb packages with the members of the Lions Club.

Dr. Silas Thorne gave a report on the Milk Festival held Wednesday at the Recreation Building, and Russ William gave a report on the Little League, explaining that the league was doing very well and was being well attended.

Hal Shapiro volunteered to handle all details for the visit of Miss North Carolina to Morehead City, and the members voted to start a miniature golf tourney on Monday nights following the club meetings, starting with Monday night, July 4.

The members stated that since the first place winner in the Morehead City Road-e-o was unable to go to Winston-Salem for the state contest this weekend the club wouldn't send anyone.

The club voted to purchase a Slow Down and Live sign to be placed at the entrance to Morehead City.

Two prospective new members, Don Fisher and Gene White, were introduced at the meeting.

CD Officials Inspect County

A group of high ranked Civil Defense officials, led by Brig. Gen. Edward F. Griffin, director of the State Council of Civil Defense, with headquarters in Raleigh, were in Carteret County late Tuesday to inspect the temporary rehabilitation work done on Hurricane Hazel damage.

Others in the party included Judge Thomas Goodman, Regional Administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Administration with office at Thomasville, Ga.; Earl Mader, Thomasville, Ga., Regional Engineer of the Federal Civil Defense Administration; Glenn Brooks, Raleigh, State Budget and Disbursing officer, and W. H. Riley, Wilmington, Director of the Disaster Relief office.

Davis, DuBois Attending Meeting

Ted Davis, Morehead City, and Joe DuBois, Sea Level, are representing their respective Chambers of Commerce at the 12th annual Southeastern Institute for Chamber of Commerce Executives at Chapel Hill.

At 10 o'clock this morning in the courthouse at Beaufort the State Stream Sanitation Committee will conduct a hearing on water pollution in the White Oak River Basin.

Three hundred fifty of Carteret's 531 square miles lie within that river basin.

To be presented to the public this morning are the classifications recommended for local waters. Since this is a coastal area, most classifications are in the salt-water rather than fresh water category.

The highest quality water, for example, is that from which shellfish may be taken for marketing purposes. This is classified SA.

From SA, on down the scale to waters of lesser quality, the classifications and recommended usages are:

SB — Bathing and any other usage except shellfishing for marketing purposes
SC — Fishing and any other usage except bathing or shellfishing
SD — Best for navigation, but not fishing, bathing or shellfishing.

The survey of waters in this area was undertaken by the state upon authorization of the legislature in 1953.

Conclusions reached as the result of this survey have been set forth in the state report as follows:
1. The White Oak River Basin is rich in natural resources including fertile land, large forests and an abundance of water.

2. The waters of the basin are not presently used to their utmost. There is an adequate quantity of both ground and surface water. Surface water is too salty for domestic use but can be used extensively for industrial uses.

3. The waters around Beaufort, Morehead City, Atlantic and Swansboro are being polluted by raw sewage discharged directly into Calico Creek, Town Creek, Taylor's Creek and Bogue Sound.

'Drowned' Parties Very Much Alive

A rumor that two marines had drowned at Atlantic Beach Wednesday afternoon was dispelled by Police Chief Murphy Jenkins Wednesday evening.

According to Chief Jenkins the two marines were caught in the strong undertow at the beach on Wednesday afternoon and were brought to safety by the life guards at the beach.

Wednesday morning another swimmer was saved when he too was caught in the undertow.

Chief Jenkins said that the newly organized beach patrol, comprised of youngsters 9-13 years of age, did a fine job of getting assistance to the swimmers.

The youngsters, who are being taught all phases of water safety by Chief Lifeguard Clifford MacLeod, patrol the beach and take charge of smaller children at the edge of the water.

Firemen Need Donations To Pay for Resuscitator

The Beaufort fire department realized about $75 from the showing of the feature, Fireman Save My Child on Tuesday night at the East Drive-In Theatre, but they are still shy about $300 towards the price of their new resuscitator.

It is absolutely necessary that the people of the county help keep the resuscitator here, and all donations and contributions are requested to be sent to the Beaufort Fire Department, Beaufort, N. C., as soon as possible.

The resuscitator proved its value in the county recently when it brought back to life a man presumed to be drowned after falling from a party boat at Cape Lookout.

The man, M. B. Harper, cashier at the Central Bank and Trust Company, Sanford, sent the following letter of appreciation to E.

D. Rhue, member of the fire department.

Dear Mr. Rhue:
"Once again I would like to express my sincere appreciation to you and other members of the Beaufort Volunteer Fire Department for your efforts, and I might add successful efforts, in maintaining and preserving a life that was almost gone.

"The sense of duty that you showed was to me more than one of obligation, but one of deep interest in the job that needed to be done and a job that was successfully done.

"Words are not available to me to express my sincere appreciation to you and others for whatever part you might have played in my being able to write this letter to you today. Your visit to the hospital to see me on Sunday night was appreciated very much and I wish you would pass on to the others my deep heartfelt appreciation for the wonderful efforts that a volunteer fire department can exert.

"Should you ever be in or near the vicinity of Sanford, I would appreciate a visit from you and urge you to come by and see us at any time. Thanks again for what you have done for me."

Sincerely,
M. B. Harper, Cashier

The company that sold the resuscitator to the firemen (cost $581) wants their money or the resuscitator back.

It's now up to the people of the county whether or not the fire department will be receiving letters such as this.

Blackout Sunday In Rural Areas

Many rural areas of Carteret and Craven Counties will be blacked out early Sunday morning as larger transformers are being added to the Newport substation of the rural electric cooperative.

Postmaster Explains New Mail Service

Postmaster Harold W. Webb of the Morehead City postoffice announced today that many of the patrons of the postoffice are not yet familiar with the change in the registered mail service which reduces the cost to patrons and speeds the delivery on letters now sent by registered mail.

The new mail service is called "certified mail." A charge of 15 cents is made for giving the patron a certificate of mailing and for having the letter carrier take a delivery receipt from the addressee. This is in contrast with the present minimum charge of 40 cents for registered mail.

This certified mail service is used for first-class mail for which no indemnity value is claimed. The 15 cents charge is in addition to regular first-class or airmail postage. Special delivery is also available for the customary extra charge.

The 15 cents charge does not include the cost of obtaining a return receipt. As in the case of registered mail, a receipt is received by the carrier and retained on file at the postoffice. An additional charge of seven cents is made for delivery of a return receipt to the sender.

Certified mail stamps are available at the postoffice. However, the fee and postage may be paid by ordinary postage stamps.

You may mail certified mail at the postoffice or in any street letter box or give it to the rural carrier. Blank certified mail coupons (no charge) are obtainable at the postoffice or from the rural mail carrier.
