Cherry Point Marine Suffers 'Jelly Fish' Sting

Cpl. Ronald G. Carver, Cherry Point, was stung by a Portuguese man-of-war at Atlantic Beach in front of the pavilion at 5:50 p.m. Sunday.

Corporal Carver was taken to Morehead City Hospital where he was treated by Dr. W. M. Brady for stings around his ankles and his hands. He was discharged from the hospital at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Approximately 20 bathers have been treated for the stings. Portuguese man-of-wars have been prevalent along the coast this summer. They are more numerous during stiff southwest winds such as those prevailing Sunday.

Catholic Motor Chapel Starts Visit at Salter Path Tonight

Father Paul Byron, pastor of St. Egbert's Catholic Church, Morehead City, speaks from the motor chapel, Madonna of the Highways.

The Catholic Motor Chapel "Madonna of the Highways" is to be in Carteret County for the first time this week, according to Father Paul Byron, pastor of St. Egbert's Church, Morehead City.

The chapel will be in Salter Path this week, and the two priests in charge, Father Francis M. Smith and Father Henry Becker, will offer a religious program each night at 8 o'clock, beginning tonight and ending Sunday. Next week the mobile unit will be in Newport, and the nightly religious program will be presented Monday, Aug. 1, through Sunday, Aug. 7.

This trailer chapel, Father Byron explained, is a unique unit. It is sponsored by the Catholics of North Carolina as a gesture of good-will towards their fellow citizens. Its purpose, he said, is to impart information. The chapel has visited over one hundred communities in North Carolina, during the past ten summers, where there is no Catholic church.

I think, said Father Byron, that many people who never heard of the Catholic church before, would like to have more information about it. This the motor chapel provides through its nightly outdoor programs, he said.

The rear of the trailer opens in front of the altar to form a platform, and here the program takes place. A sermon is preached each night, questions are answered, a religious movie is shown, and then the chapel is opened for the inspection of visitors. Chairs are grouped outside the platform for those who come, or they may sit in their cars. Religious literature is available, but nothing is sold, nor is any collection taken.

Twenty-seven years ago, Father Byron recalled, a Catholic chapel on a railroad car came to Carteret County. "I still meet non-Catholics here who attended its services and remember them with pleasure. I hope that many will visit the new Motor Chapel in Salter Path or Newport, and have the same memorable experience," he said.

Southern Railway hearing at Goldsboro and said Southern is working on a rate schedule for Morehead City to bring rates in line with freight rates to other ports.

Letter Read

A letter from Wanamaker and Wells, South Carolina contractors who repaired the old dock at Morehead City, was read. Cost of repairs was $382,000, a sum which came out of the original seven and a half million dollars set up for state ports.

The letter thanked ports personnel for their cooperation on the job.

Colonel Marr reported that the Navy has been asked to clear its property out of warehouses at the port by Jan. 1, but he has received no reply to the request. He added, however, that Navy property was gradually being moved out and not replaced. The warehouse space is needed for storage of commercial cargoes.

Chairman Pate commented that revenue from Esso Standard Oil Co. is up even though tonnage is down. Esso rents part of the port property.

Colonel Marr and Mr. Thompson reported on this year's Rivers and Harbors Congress. Colonel Marr said efforts are being made by North Carolina's senators and congressman to obtain $557,000 for deepening the Wilmington harbor and about a million for deepening Morehead City channel to 34 feet.

Mr. Thompson, regional South Atlantic director of the congress, suggested that each member of the authority become an individual member of the congress. A membership is $10.

Crane operation in loading and unloading ships was discussed and Bryan Caldwell was introduced as the new SPA publicity director.

Attending the meeting, in addition to those mentioned were authority members Harvey Moore, Concord; Raymond Bryan, Goldsboro; and Harold Coffey, Lenoir.

Gerald Woolard, Beaufort, has been granted a lease by the town of Beaufort on the town-owned property at the east end of Front Street.

Mr. Woolard will pay the town $100 a year for a period of 10 years. He proposes to repair the dock there at present and make a sports fishing pier. His lease also includes use of land on the north side of Front Street where picnic tables will be placed and a parking area made.

In Mr. Woolard's proposal lease, he said that he will repair the present dock and keep it in repair. He also plans to place a refreshment stand either on or in the vicinity of the dock.

Mr. Woolard's proposal to lease was posted at the town hall for the required period of 10 days. When no one opposed the proposal or increased the proposed rental fee, the lease went into effect.

Crash

Mrs. Dill has been contacted by an official at Cherry Point to describe complete details of the accident. When he asked if she would report what she saw at an official investigation Mrs. Dill said she "would be glad to do anything, even go to Washington, if necessary, if what I saw can be of any help."

The plane was a Marine F3d Skyraider jet fighter on a routine training flight. It was attached to Marine All-Weather Squadron 20.

Colonel Reynolds, a veteran of both World War II and the Korean conflict, came here only a month ago from the Marine Air Station at Quantico, Va.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mildred Frances Reynolds, and two small daughters who live at nearby Havelock. His mother, Mrs. Ada Reynolds of Clinton, also survives.

Corporal Mayo is survived by his widow, Mrs. Corrine Marie Mayo of Havelock, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony A. Mayo of Revere.
