A conveyor takes the fresh-caught luscious North Carolina shrimp to the grading machine in the Fulcher shrimp house.

Our fleet of boats is busy supplying us with FRESH SEAFOODS. We insure their freshness by prompt shipment to the market.

The Fulchers survey Atlantic harbor from their fish house dock. In the right foreground is 8-year-old Clayton Fulcher III. Next to him is his father, Clayton, then his uncle, Harry, and his grandfather, Clayton Fulcher, who started the business.
