Applications Filed for Food

Countains Wanting Surplus Foods Must Make Request by October 29

Ninety applications for surplus federal foods have been received since Monday at the county welfare office.

Applications will be accepted until Saturday, Oct. 29. Persons applying for the commodities, to be taken from Uncle Sam's warehouses of stored surpluses, will be interviewed by welfare workers to determine whether the family is financially in need of help.

Foods are expected to be flour, dried beans, shortening, cheese, dry milk, cornmeal, butter and rice. It was decided to request the surpluses after the welfare department expressed the opinion that many countians would suffer from lack of food this summer due to losses they suffered in storms.

The first shipment of commodities is expected next month. Junior Woman's Club members and Jaycees have agreed to help sort the foods and give them out at a central distribution center.

None of the food can be stored here. The federal government requires that it all be distributed immediately. If more is wanted, it will be ordered and distributed in December.

No food will be given to anyone except those who apply for it now through the welfare department.

Committees in communities throughout the county will assist welfare workers in checking on applicants. Miss Georgie Hughes, welfare superintendent, said that names of those committees will not be released because the welfare department believes they can function to better advantage if members are not generally known.

Should a committee state that an applicant is not eligible for the food, the welfare department will review that particular case and has the power of overriding the committee's decision.

Corporal Guthrie Speaks to Rotary

Cpl. Ernest Guthrie of the State Highway Patrol spoke on "That Life We're Living" at the weekly meeting of the Newport Rotary Club Monday night at the Community Building.

Guests at the meeting were members of the Newport School Safety Patrol.

Corporal Guthrie said that the majority of motorists are too careless with their lives.

He stated that there were 3,563 men in the Highway Patrol who had to cover 70,000 miles of paved roads. He also said that often youngsters have fear of the patrol, which is a mistake, since the patrol is a friend of the motoring public.

Corporal Guthrie said the patrol estimates it saved 125 lives last year, but that this year there were 93 more deaths on the highways than last year at this same time. The main causes of these added accidents, he said, was because too many people were operating a motor vehicle after having had a few too many drinks. Neither do the drivers of today have enough patience, he remarked.

He closed off his talk with the following admonition: "Don't drive too fast to save time that you'll never live to enjoy."

Program chairman for the meeting was C. S. Long. Corporal Guthrie was introduced by R. H. Brown, a member of the Highway Patrol who lives in Newport.

Guest Rotarians were Carl Short, New Bern; and H. L. Joslyn, Clyde Carr and Walter Edwards of the Morehead City Club.

Next Month's Water Bills Will Be Higher; New Rates in Effect

Mr. Toop's Bewildered!

Nobody is quite sure who got anybody in a "foine kettle o' fish" but you can be assured it's a riotously confusing situation in See How They Run, the Carteret Community Theatre play to be given Monday and Tuesday nights at 8 o'clock in the Morehead City School auditorium.

In the cast are Ed Walston, left, Mr. Humphrey; Frank Jones, who plays the male lead, Mr. Lionel Toop; Walton Hamilton, "the man"; Thomas Respass, an MP; Lillian Frances Giddens, Miss Skillion; Floyd Stewart, Clive; John James, the Bishop of Lax; seated is Susan Bridgman who plays Mr. Toop's wife, Penelope, and beside Mrs. Toop is Ida, the maid, played by Dorothy Freeman.

All are veteran Community Theatre players with the exception of Mr. James, who is appearing for the first time.

Mr. Walston is well-known for his portrayal of Major Cooper in One Foot in Heaven and his excellent performance as one of the gangsters in Arsenic and Old Lace.

Dorothy Freeman was the lovely, innocent niece terrorized by her fortune-hunting uncle in The Nightmare and Floyd Stewart stole the show as Teddy in Arsenic and Old Lace.

Also in that cast were Thomas Respass, Frank Jones and Walton Hamilton.

Susan Bridgman was the flashy gunman's moll in The Night of January 16th and Lillian Frances Giddens appeared brilliantly in that production as the Swedish cleaning woman. Walton Hamilton portrayed the role of the dashing gangster in love with the woman accused of murder.

Directing See How They Run is Tressa Royal Vickers, who directed One Foot in Heaven and played the part of one of the old maid sisters in Arsenic and Old Lace.

Tickets are being sold by members of the Carteret Business and Professional Women's Club, who are sponsoring the play.

Community Concerts Will Not be Given This Season

David F. Jones Finishes Course

David F. Jones Jr., work unit conservationist of Carteret County, has returned from a five-week training school at Athens, Ga. The school was held at the Soil Conservation Service Training Center on the University of Georgia campus.

The training school is for soil conservation service technicians of the southeastern states and Puerto Rico. Twenty-one technicians from eight states, two from Puerto Rico, and one from Honduras attended.

Mr. Jones said, "The knowledge I received better equips me to assist farmers of this county in planning and applying soil and water conservation practices." Mr. Jones also feels that the ideas he received from other technicians will benefit local farmers.

Instructions were given in agronomy, biology, engineering, farm planning, land use, soils, forestry, and many other subjects.

Mr. Jones received his bachelor's degree in agricultural engineering in 1952 from North Carolina State College. He worked as a student trainer with the Soil Conservation in the summers while attending college.

Upon graduation he was assigned to Carteret County to complete his training. Upon transfer of Roy R. Beck, his predecessor, he was promoted to work unit conservationist in July 1954.

Hearing Will Not Take Place Until Dec. 20

Your water bill will be about double next month if you live in Beaufort or Morehead City.

The hearing on the rate increase has been deferred until Dec. 20 but Carolina Water Co. will put the new rates into effect in November, C. W. Williams, manager of Carolina Water Co., Morehead City, said Wednesday.

Utilities are permitted by law to charge the advanced rate they are requesting providing they post bond, bank the difference between the old and new rate, and agree to pay back to the customer the money due him if the new rate is not granted.

Mr. Williams said his firm has posted $6,000 bond. Water bills, covering services in October, will start going out the first of November and all will probably be in the hands of customers by Nov. 18, the water company manager said.

The State Utilities Commission had set Tuesday for hearing arguments for an against Carolina Water's proposed new rates, but when the commission convened at Raleigh, the water company asked for a continuance until Tuesday, Dec. 20.

Postponement Protested

The towns opposing the increase, Beaufort, Morehead City and Snow Hill, protested postponement, but the commission believed it advisable to grant the water firm's request.

According to Mayor George Dill of Morehead City, the water company attorneys apparently were not satisfied with the utilities commission audit of their books.

Representing Carolina Water Co. are Joyner and Howison, a Raleigh law firm, and Leon E. Brock, Boston attorney.

According to George McNeill, attorney for the town of Morehead City, the water company is asking 100 per cent increase in rates for Beaufort and Morehead City and 35 per cent increase in Snow Hill rates.

No explanation was given for the Snow Hill increase being less than that requested for the Carteret towns.

Annual Income

According to Schedule 2 of the auditor's report furnished by the State Utilities Commission, the gross operating revenue of the company for the 12 months ending Aug. 21, 1955 was $80,813.68. If the increase is granted, the gross revenue would amount to $154,785.03 annually.

The revenue received from Morehead City annually at present is $46,329.43 and with the increase it would amount to $93,235.71; present Beaufort revenue is $22,734.47 and with the upped rate, it would amount to $45,237.37.

Snow Hill provides an annual revenue at present of $11,749.76 and with the 35 per cent increase would produce $16,311.95.

Appearing before the utilities commission Tuesday were Mayor Dill and Mayor Clifford Lewis, Beaufort, who were prepared to present public opinion on the proposed increase. Also present was Mayor W. W. Exum, Snow Hill, and George Edwards, Snow Hill attorney; Mr. McNeill, and Gene Smith, attorney for Beaufort.

No private water customers were present.

Prepared to hear the case Tuesday in the commission office, library building, Raleigh, were the five members of the commission of which Stanley Winborne is chairman.

Under the proposed rate increase as set forth by the Carolina Water Company, the rate would be 64 cents per thousand gallons for the first 5,000 gallons, with a minimum of $2.

The old rate was exactly half of this.

For 10,000 gallons the rate will be 56 cents per thousand, for 15,000 the rate will be 52 cents per thousand, for 20,000 gallons the rate will be 44 cents per thousand, for 50,000 gallons the rate will be 36 cents per thousand, for 100,000 gallons the rate will be 25 cents per thousand, and over 100,000 gallons the rate will be 20 cents per thousand.

Mayor George Dill of Morehead City advises all Carolina Water Company customers to save their bills in the event an adjustment is made by the State Utilities Commission.
