Wife of Jet Pilot Flies Helicopter

Washington — Marilyn Himes Riviere, pint-sized wife of a former jet pilot, is a member of one of the world's most exclusive women's clubs. She's a Whirly Girl.

The 4-foot-11-inch Mrs. Riviere holds the distinction of being one of the nine women helicopter pilots in the United States, and the only one with a helicopter instructor's license.

Daughter of a former Ohio congressman who is now a director of an aircraft division of the General Dynamics Corp., Marilyn learned to fly in a fixed-wing aircraft but sold her private light plane when she discovered the fun of helicoptering.

A few years ago, when she was working toward her commercial helicopter pilot's license at Lockport, Ill., Marilyn eased her whirly bird down onto the crowded parking lot of an open-air theater 30 miles from her take-off spot. She can't remember the picture any longer, but she says she did stay for the whole show.

She put more aviation in her life in 1951 when she married Joseph Dyer Riviere, then a jet plane flier. Now he's in the brokerage business.

They have flown together only once, and Marilyn doubts that she and her husband will indulge in many more tandem flights.

"There always would be an argument," she says, "over who was going to be the pilot."

Students Make Own Reports

Seattle, Wash. (AP) — Third graders at the Gatewood School have a new wrinkle in self-service report cards.

Mrs. Vivian Mackey, the teacher, says the youngsters are often surprisingly honest in the estimates she has them prepare for their parents twice a year.

One 8-year-old girl wrote: "I copy Cindy sometimes. And sometimes I copy Charmagne, but I do not very much now."

And an 8-year-old boy sized his work up in these terms:

"Dear Parents: 1. I'm medium in arithmetic; 2. I'm medium in reading; 3. I'm medium in writing; 4. I'm medium in talking; 5. I'm medium in education."

The teacher thought it was a medium good estimate.

Blood, Not Name, Tells

Newtown, Conn. (AP) — Testimony that blood tests showed he was not intoxicated cleared a motorist of a drunken driving charge after a long trial here. The defendant was Edward Cordial.

Small Cemetery Stands Next to Large Factory

Huntington, W. Va. (AP) — A small family cemetery stands in stark contrast near a big manufacturing plant here. The Everett family, which sold the site for the plant more than a quarter century ago, retained ownership of the plot.

Family members say a rose bush which still blooms in the cemetery, against a drab industrial backdrop, is more than 100 years old.

Amphibious Stills Bother South Carolina Sheriff

Lexington, S. C. (AP) — Sheriff H. M. (Bill) Caughman is having trouble with water-borne moonshiners. He couldn't find a still in an area where he was sure one was operating. After a frustrating search, he took a look at a raft anchored in a pond. There was the still.

Since then, he has found another amphibious outfit on a flatboat on the Edisto River.

Monkey Business

Missoula, Mont. (AP) — Monkey business developed on a railroad trip when a monkey escaped from its express crate. It rode the rods of a baggage car 49 miles between Missoula and Drummond. Finally cornered at the passenger station and recreated the monkey was sent to its mates at the U.S. Public Health Laboratory, Hamilton, Mont.

With the Armed Forces

Leon Cannon Jr. Serves With Air Force in Japan

Fifth Air Force, Japan — Airman Second Class Leon D. Cannon Jr., Beaufort, recently arrived at Johnson Air Base for assignment with the Headquarters, 3d Bombardment Wing (Tactical). The wing is a light-bomber unit of the Fifth Air Force, the air command responsible for the air defense of Japan and South Korea.

Airman Cannon's mother, Mrs. Verna Barbour, lives at route 1 Beaufort. The airman entered the U. S. Air Force in October 1951 after attending Beaufort High School.

During his tour of duty with the 3rd Bomb Wing at Johnson Air Base, the airman will have an opportunity to study the Japanese people and to visit many of the scenic and historical areas of Japan. Johnson Air Base is located near the capital city of Tokyo on the main Japanese island of Honshu.

Airman Cannon served at England Air Force Base, La., prior to his assignment to the Far East in 1955.
