Tractor Trailer, Car Smash Up

A tractor trailer and automobile collided at 10:30 Tuesday night on the Merrimon Road, but neither driver was hurt. Denby Abbott, Richmond, Va., driver of the tractor trailer, was charged with reckless driving and driving drunk.

Driver of the car, a 1953 Chevrolet, was Willie Lee Murray, who lives on the Merrimon road.

According to State Highway Patrolman W. E. Pickard, both vehicles were going south. The Chevrolet was attempting to turn left and the tractor trailer tried to pass at that time.

Both ended up in the left-hand ditch with the right front of the tractor trailer inside the car.

Abbott told the highway patrolman after the accident that he "was headed for Charleston." He pleaded guilty to both counts against him in County Recorder's Court yesterday.

Mrs. Guy Carraway in February celebrated her 25th anniversary as postmistress at Merrimon. She is shown above, seated at the roll-top desk in the postoffice which is located at the rear of her home.

Now 65 years of age, Mrs. Carraway succeeded her husband's step-mother, Mrs. E. F. Carraway, as postmistress. Born at South River, the happy-go-lucky Merrimon postmistress is the former Bessie Wallace.

The postoffice building was the former kitchen and dining room to the old Carraway home. In addition to the sign, Merrimon P. O., in front of the Carraway home, the American flag, flying high on a pole, denotes that Merrimon's postoffice is located there.

Mrs. Carraway is affectionately known as "Miss Bessie" by both colored and white who visit her regularly for letters and packages.
