Tourney Excitement Fills Air at Atlantic School

By FREDDIE SALTER

Hi everybody! Here's School Daze getting you up to date on things happening here at Atlantic High.

The talk of most of the students down here has been the tournament games. I don't think those students who went from here will ever get caught up on their sleep. It is a pretty good ride to Newport and four nights straight—Good Heavens—Let's hope we survive.

Some of you students out in the county probably have the same thought. School Daze would like to congratulate all the teams on their splendid and fair play. To you, Newport, we wish you the best of luck at Kenansville and hope you will be state champs!

We are the proudest of our boys' team! Again this year they have won the sportsmanship trophy by practicing fair play and displaying the best qualities of good sportsmanship. So we say to you, "Remember it isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game."

Freddie Salter

Students who will be missed playing ball on the Pirate team next year are: Barney Hill, Ralph Riggs, Dot Gillikin, Rachael Salter, Joyce Fulcher, and Martha Leary. We were glad to have them represent our school the past four years.

The seniors have selected their class day program after reading about ten. It is titled "A Feather of Gold" and it is very good. It doesn't seem as if the seniors will ever finish their grammar studies. We are awaiting literature at the present. Before long I guess we will be meeting "Macbeth."

The last book reports made by the senior class were booklets. These booklets have been returned to us. Most of them received good grades. It was a pretty difficult job compiling all the material we could find to illustrate the book on which we were reporting.

Some of the booklets illustrated biographies of famous men as, The Life of Harry S. Truman, and Stephen Foster, others, places such as A La France and books of travel, as North Carolina. These booklets were pretty and very neat. Surely the seniors deserve much credit for the efforts which they put forth.

Wednesday morning found many of the high school students milling around in the cafeteria. Things like this don't usually happen, but that day the students were looking at the many paintings which were posted in the cafeteria.

The paintings, done with finger-paint, were painted by the teachers of AHS at a party they and the cafeteria staff had the Friday before. Colas and cake were served at the party.

We have called the paintings modern art and some of them, I'm afraid, are beyond our comprehension. We have figured one of them to be flowers blooming by a stream, another, to be trees growing in a meadow. One we called butterflies, and yet, someone made the remark, "That one is spaghetti and meatballs!"

Well, the latter found the correct place in the school cafeteria. The paintings are very attractive and we will try to figure them all out soon as we can.

Fifth period Wednesday found the juniors and seniors with Mr. Johnson in the high school library. Mr. Johnson talked to us about banquet night, which is a most anticipated event in the life of every junior and senior. He asked us if we thought a program could be planned to go on as long as we would care for it to, after the banquet and prom.

The purpose of this is to eliminate those attending the banquet from being all over the county, and maybe some ill-advised enterprises. Also highways can be very dangerous. If we could have an all night program, maybe rent the Houseboat Inn here at Atlantic and be properly chaperoned, it would prevent things which are so dreaded by our parents from happening.

I feel sure that we seniors will go along with the juniors in whatever they plan for us and I'd like every junior and senior to remember the things that Mr. Johnson

Chairman Says Overplanting Increases Costs

Every year some farmers in North Carolina are greatly inconvenienced because they overplanted their allotment of a basic crop. Tilman R. Walker, chairman of the State ASC committee, has reminded Tar Heel farmers that it is definitely their responsibility to plant within their acreage allotment.

Other farmers make a deposit with the ASC Office to have officials revisit the farm and remeasure the acreage. In just about every case, this is an unnecessary drain on the farmer's pocketbook, and in every case, the time lost by these revisits to the farm is a great inconvenience to the farmer, he says.

That's just one of the reasons the farmer should remember that it is his responsibility to plant within his acreage allotment," Mr. Walker adds. Another reason is that every time a farmer plants over his allotment, he is wasting seed or plants, fertilizer and labor. As a service to farmers, ASC will send trained reporters to the farm to lay off a farmer's allotment before any planting. For this service, the farmer pays only the actual cost of the visit to the farm.

Only through premeasurement, Walker cautioned, can farmers be certain that they are not overplanting and bringing on themselves a considerable amount of increased expense, as well as quite a bit of inconvenience and delay.

John Felton, Carteret County; Leon Adams, Craven County; Leon Rowe, Onslow County; Herman Price, Pamlico County, and Wilbur Mallard, Jones County, were re-elected as directors of the Co-operative Livestock Market at the annual meeting Saturday at New Bern.

Mr. Mallard presided at the meeting and John Booth, Jones County, market manager, reported that 12,007 hogs had been sold on the market at an average weight of 208 pounds each.

Mr. Booth reported total sales at $385,895.05, with an average sales price of 16.48 cents per pound.

John Christian, animal husbandry specialist at State College, gave a demonstration on cutting hogs, and advised farmers of ways to raise the best livestock.

Atlantic Brownie troops met twice during the month of February. A record of the meetings, as reported by the scribes, follows: Atlantic Brownie Scout Troop 131 met at the Atlantic School library on Feb. 7. Mrs. Ruth Fulcher called the meeting to order, and called the roll. Linda Fulcher led us in our promise and pledge.

We sang My Country 'Tis of Thee, and several other songs led by Mrs. H. F. Webb. Then we finished our booklets on safety and good manners.

The meeting was closed by singing Taps. — Myron Ann Smith, Scribe questioned that Yeoman appear before the board to present the facts in the case.

Dr. L. J. Dupree and John Jones, Cedar Point, appeared before the board to request that the board get permission for a dredge now working on the inland waterway to put spoilage on a former road in the Cedar Point section. The road was washed out by hurricanes.

Gray Hassell, engineer, was authorized to phone the Atkinson Dredging Co., which is doing the work, to ask them to dump spoilage on the north side instead of the south.

Lionie Howard appeared before the board asking that it assist him in obtaining permission to put a 32-ton dragline across the Harkers Island bridge. He said the Highway commission had refused him permission and he has a job on Harkers Island he wants to do.

Walker Hodges, New Bern, who is doing work on the island for Lawrence Knuckles, Charlotte, explained that Mr. Knuckles was going to pay for Mr. Howard's opening a creek to shelter boats during storms.

The county attorney said he would phone W. H. Rogers, highway engineer, and explain the situation.

The board drew names of jurors for the April term of superior court and recessed.
