

Timber Owners Cheat Selves

Many Tar Heel timber owners are cheating themselves of extra income by not selling the tops of their trees for pulpwood after cutting sawtimber, says R. S. Douglass, State College extension forestry specialist.

With the current demand for pulpwood so high, it's good business to utilize this otherwise wasted part of the tree and realize this extra income, Mr. Douglass adds. At the same time, the timber owner will reduce the fire hazard to his forests.

Mr. Douglass says that a Sampson County farmer recently sold some timber and arranged for a crew to pick up the tops for pulpwood. At last count, this crew had already cut five carloads and expected to get at least two more carloads before they were through. It's estimated that the farmer will receive over $200 for wood that otherwise would have lain in the woods and rotted.

Home Ec Girls Keep Those Good Odors Coming To Us

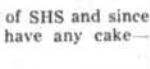

By MARY ELLEN CHASTEEN

"If I had a known you were coming I'd-a baked a cake, baked a cake..."

Well, hi everybody. Like that song? That's one the sophomore girls would sing to you if you were ever to spring a surprise visit here at SHS. They are well into their cooking unit in home ec and are really keeping the fires burning and those good odors drifting from the home ec lab.

I guess it is time to begin another visit through the halls of SHS and since you can't really have any cake—just pretend!

Mary E. Chasteen

Here it is March. Know what that means? Just three more months of school—March, April, and May. That means for seniors only three months until graduation and for the eighth grade the same. It won't be long before those eighth grade pupils of Mr. Davis and Miss Josie and those at Harkers Island will be freshmen, entering a new kind of experience.

The same thing goes for the seniors. So much is happening to them that they hardly know whether they are coming or going. I wish you could have seen them when they learned that their invitations had come. That does mean that graduation is right around the corner.

Basketball for the girls has ended with the postponed game with Dixon last Friday night. That was a surprise game which we didn't know anything about until the first part of last week. It was a very wonderful girls' game as well as the boys' game.

The final score was 53-68 in the favor of us. Gladys "Cannonball" Willis was highest scorer with 48 points and "Bert" Gillikin was second with 16.

For the boys there is still that other game. They played in the Seashore Conference at Swansboro this week. Their game with Dixon was a thriller, also with our boys taking over with a good margin.

We were so proud of four of our boys who were given honorable mention on the All-Seashore conference team. They were Terry Gillikin, Louis Thomas, Ron Styron, and Ken Davis. These boys have all played outstanding games in the past year and we are as proud of them as we can be.

The FTA met in the library Monday morning and although there was a short meeting a lot of business was discussed. Nancy Guthrie and Hannah Nelson volunteered for the library bulletin board duty this month. We have also decided to begin the morning devotionals over the inter-com system.

The reason we haven't been having them this year is because the hurricane damaged the speakers and main line to the high school building. We have also begun on our memory work and will recite or report what we, as FTA members, have chosen to learn for the year.

We have also discussed which teachers we will want to do our substitute teaching under. Believe me, folks, the H. L. Joslyn FTA Club is really one of the busiest in the school.

The high school has acknowledged spring with the beginning of the intra-mural sports. This past week the boys have played volleyball games at activity period. As there are two courts, all four grades can play at one time. Mr. Dail has posted a list of rules about the volleyball game in each room for the students to become more accustomed to them.

We are having a great time with this new sport and invite everyone to come out and join us.

Now, let's hear from one of those junior teachers I know all of you are dying to meet. This one I am sure many of you students from Beaufort know, as she came to us from Beaufort. We think she is great.

Say hello to Mrs. Lionel Salter (better known as Mrs. Annie Salter). Mrs. Salter hails from up Goldsboro way, but at the present lives at Marshallberg. She received her education at Goldsboro High School and Meredith College in Raleigh. She has an AB Degree, with majors in English and History.

Mrs. Salter says: "I have not always had a strong desire to teach, as I first thought of entering the journalism field, then later of going to dramatics school. However, I always liked school, found learning easy, and did some coaching while in high school and college."

"This contact with students made me think I might like teaching. I chose the high school age group because I remember so vividly my own wonderful high school days, and feel that I know and understand the interests and problems of this age group. Also, here I get an opportunity to teach the literature that I love so much."

You know what her reply to "Why do you like teaching?" was. Well, listen: "To me it is one of the most important jobs in the whole world. To help bring knowledge where there is ignorance, appreciation where there is blindness, and ingratitudes and tolerance where there is intolerance, is a very rewarding task."

"While I have found teaching at times very frustrating and very discouraging, I have never found it boring. No two days are ever alike. A teacher becomes a small, if unnoticed part, of so many lives."

Here at SHS Mrs. Salter is teaching English and civics and as one who does have a class under her, I assure you there is never a dull moment in the junior English classroom.

Her favorite pastimes are many, but she is so interested in music that she has sometimes regretted not going into the public school

A birthday party was given for James Arthur Green at his home on Saturday afternoon in honor music field. She says she loves the organ especially. Then she enjoys reading, dancing, and in the past has found such a great pleasure in amateur dramatics.

This last pastime seems to be a sort of hidden talent as everyone agrees that every play she helps with or directs herself seems to be among the best.

Meet the Math brain of the SHS teachers. Mrs. Mildred Simpson Davis is one of the favorite teachers here at SHS. Her hometown is Beaufort but she was born in Smyrna. Mrs. Davis came to SHS for 10 years, then finished her high school education at Beaufort. She also is a graduate of Meredith in Raleigh. She has an AB in Mathematics.

Mrs. Davis says she likes to teach math because she always liked to do anything that included Math.

As we have just finished our Drivers' Education here is a little reminder I would like to leave with you. This short article appeared in our school paper in the February issue.

The Chimpanzee: This is the character who hangs onto the roof of the car with his left hand while he drives with his right. That leads to all sorts of monkey business in traffic. Just what the big ape hopes to gain by such gorilla tactics, no one has been able to figure out.

Please remember that what you do while you are driving will determine whether another accident will occur or not.

Students are moving out and new students are taking their places. We are always sad to see anyone leave our big "family" but let's say hi to some new ones. In Mrs. Thelma Moore's fifth grade, Amos Lawrence from Beaufort is the new pupil, and in Mrs. Neta Hancock's sixth grade Iris Willis from Morehead City School is the new one. To both of them we say "Hi, and hope you like it here at SHS."

The eighth grade of Mr. Davis and Miss Pigott are buying their tickets to go to the Ice Capades at Raleigh. We are certain that they will enjoy themselves immensely. There is just one thing we'd like you to do—please think of us while you are 'way up there in Raleigh.

You know the FFA boys are really on the ball this year. They have made such a difference in SHS, we hardly see what we can do without them. Weston Taylor and Ray Willis have completed the task of painting the second grade's blackboards.

The boys have also, with the help of Mr. Dail and Mr. Owens, hauled sand from Harkers Island to put on the volleyball courts. They have also painted the passageway two-toned and put a strip of molding on the walls.

Future plans for the Ag Boys are to install steel posts in front of the school and make lawn chairs to sell in order to raise chapter funds.

Mr. Daniels' fifth period physical ed class has been working hard too. They have been cutting ditches to help drain the playground and hauling dirt by wheelbarrow to fill some of the holes.

Everyone, it seems, is working hard as they can to beautify the school grounds. Incidentally they're not even singing Chaingang!

That's all the news for now, folks. Hope you have enjoyed this little bit and I hope I can dig up a little more by next week. Every one study hard and be good until "Come Next Week" when we "Rock and Waltz" all the news out to you. "Til Then" I'll be "All by Myself" "Wanting You." "So long It's Been Good to Know You." "Sincerely Yours" — "Speedo" and the "Chaingang."

The superb flavor sends you! That's why you'll go for delicious Gill's Coffee too. An unbeatable blend of finest coffees plus a dash of seasoning for extra strength, real economy and rich, velvet-smooth flavor.
