Defendant Pays $400 Fine, Costs

Wilbur O. Nelson Found Guilty Monday on Two Motor Vehicle Counts

Wilbur O. Nelson was fined $400 and costs by Judge Herbert O. Phillips in Morehead City Recorder's Court Monday when he was found guilty of driving drunk and operating a vehicle after his license had been revoked.

Nelson was given a suspended six-month road sentence on condition that he be on good behavior for two years. A charge of no operator's license against him was dismissed.

Carl Levette Thomas was fined $100 and costs for driving drunk. He was given a suspended 90-day road sentence on condition that he be on good behavior for six months.

George Carlis Williams Jr. was fined $50 and costs instead of six months on the roads for careless and reckless driving. He was found guilty of driving drunk.

Don Richard Kelly was fined $25 and costs for having an expired operator's license with the full fine to be remitted provided he presents a valid license to the court within two weeks.

Costs Levied
Costs were assessed against James Harris, interfering with an officer in the line of duty; Cecil G. Quisenberry, no operator's license and running a red light; John Corbett Norris, failing to yield right-of-way.

Ralph Neil Daniels, speeding and following too close, and Ernest Perry House, no turn signals on truck.

Half-costs were assessed James H. Jenureau, expired license plates; Paul Edward Lee, no turn signal on truck, and Gerald Thomas Cullen, improper use dealer's plates.

Cases Dropped
Charges of public drunkenness against Harvey Lewis, and speeding against Edward Cannon Buck, were dropped.

Director Gives Port Report

Cargo tonnages that moved through the state ports during March were announced today by Col. Richard S. Marr, executive director of the State Ports Authority.

At Morehead City, shipments weighing 47,759 tons were handled. Dry commercial cargoes at 9,513 outweighed military shipments which amounted to 8,914 tons. Oil products accounted for the remainder and reached 29,333 tons.

Stone and broken concrete were loaded on barges at Morehead and amounted to 6,600 tons. Other commodities of the dry commercial category were tobacco at 1,151 tons and automobiles at 1,762 tons.

In addition to the barges, 22 ships called here during the month. Nine of these were naval vessels.

At Wilmington 22,769 tons were moved by six ships. Figures for the first quarter of the year show that the tonnage moved here in the current year reached 74,380, while for the comparable period in 1955 tonnage amounted to 45,165.

Most unusual commodity appearing on the month's list is four tons of monkeys, and the commodities moving in great quantity included scrap metal, burlap, woodpulp.

Town Tax Collector Comments on Rate

John Lashley, Morehead City tax collector, said yesterday that he has no idea what the town's new tax rate will be since the property has been revalued.

He said that he hopes tax notices will go out the last of May as usual, but it will be at least two more weeks before calculations on the new valuation will be ready to present to the town board.

It will be the board's duty to set the rate at a figure which will bring in the amount of revenue needed to operate the town, Mr. Lashley said.

Shrimp Fishermen To Attend Hearing

Shrimpers are invited to a public hearing at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 19, at the commercial fisheries building, Morehead City. C. G. Holland, commercial fisheries commissioner, announces that closing of shrimp waters at night, from July 10 to Sept. 1, has been proposed.

Also to be considered will be the closing of certain creeks and bays until the shrimp reach marketable size.

Closing of shrimping at night, between the dates proposed above, will not affect the night trawling to take the spotted shrimp, shrimp fishermen say. The spotted shrimp run is usually over by July.

C. J. Jackson Gets Six-Month Suspended Term

C. J. Jackson, who was shot by Police Chief Guy Springle March 31, was found guilty yesterday of resisting arrest, using profane language, and being drunk and disorderly. He appeared before Judge Lambert R. Morris in County Recorder's Court. Jackson was assessed costs and given a suspended six-month road sentence on condition that he be on good behavior for three years.

Chief Springle testified that he and Patrolman Mack Wade went to Jackson's home at 507 Pollock St., Beaufort, in answer to a call. Chief Springle said that he and Patrolman Wade entered the house and found Mrs. Jackson in bed. Glass and fish roe were scattered all over the floor of the house.

Chairs Overturned
The chief said that chairs were overturned and a window broken. Mrs. Jackson said that she wanted to swear out a warrant against her husband and Patrolman Wade escorted her back to the town hall to swear one out.

Chief Springle said he went out on the front porch and then stepped down on the sidewalk. Then he said he saw Jackson sitting on the north end of the porch.

The chief said Jackson told him that he (the chief) was favoring Mrs. Jackson, and that he (Jackson) was going to get himself some more beer.

Chief Springle said he told Jackson he didn't need any more beer. The chief described Jackson as a man who had been drinking over a long period of time.

The chief said he and Jackson walked across the street, the chief telling him not to go for the beer, but Jackson cursed and said "no god law was going to stop him."

Defendant Curses
Chief Springle said that he told Jackson several times that he was under arrest and that each time

The Parkview Mission of the First Baptist Church, Morehead City, became the Parkview Baptist Church of the Atlantic Association Sunday afternoon.

The organizational meeting was begun with the hymn, A Charge to Keep I Have, with Dr. John H. Bunn, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Morehead City, presiding. The devotion was given by Miss Joyce Taylor, educational director of the First Baptist Church, who read Matthew 16, verses 13 through 19, and offered prayer.

Following the election of Guthrie Colvard, missionary of the Atlantic Baptist Association as moderator and Mrs. George H. McNeill, as secretary of the meeting, Mr. Colvard presented the Rev. P. T. Willis Jr., who stated the purpose of the meeting.

The Rev. W. T. Cockman, pastor of Parkview Mission, read the roll of charter members which numbered 70. A motion was adopted that these members together with those who would come by July 1, 1956, would constitute the charter membership of the church.

The charge to the church was presented by the Rev. W. T. Robertson, chairman of the missions committee of the Atlantic Baptist Association, and pastor of the

Mr. Robertson pointed out three things which constitute a great church: first, great enough to reach its own members; second, great enough to reach its own community and influence that community, bringing them to God; and third, great enough to reach the world which is God's eternal plan for the church.

Following the presentation of the constitution, covenant and articles of faith by Mr. Cockman, the officers and pastor of the church were elected and presented.

They are as follows: J. E. Sykes, L. O. Crowe, Manly Horne, Thomas F. Fish, deacons; Mrs. R. T. Willis Jr., clerk; Mrs. Lonnie Barber, treasurer; Mrs. Manly Horne, and Mrs. John Deibert, Mr. Crowe, Mr. Sykes and Mr. Fish, trustees. Mr. Sykes, Sunday School superintendent; J. A. Durham, train-

Superintendent Says Future of Schools Lies in Willingness to Borrow Funds

Lloyd Fillingame to Serve Four Years on Theft Counts

Lloyd Fillingame, Beaufort, was sentenced to four years on the roads by Judge Lambert R. Morris in County Recorder's Court yesterday when he pled guilty to four counts of theft.

Fillingame stated that he was drunk when the crimes occurred and said he only gets in trouble when he is under the influence of alcohol.

Judge Morris, in passing sentence, stated that being drunk was no excuse.

Sheriff Hugh Salter testified on three of the thefts, an outboard motor from Jack Price; equipment from Clyde Jones Construction Co.,

and some other equipment from Gray Hassell.

Dan Walker, town clerk of Beaufort, told of damage Fillingame caused to town property.

The defendant was apprehended this past weekend, after he was involved in an automobile accident in Craven County. He was tried in Craven County Tuesday on a charge of stealing a saw and was bound over to Superior Court.

Fillingame's license had recently been revoked as the result of drunk driving convictions and he has appeared on numerous occasions in Carteret courts.

In 1951 he broke out of the county jail at Beaufort and when he turned up again, two years had elapsed and Sheriff Hugh Salter said he could not be tried on the charge for which he had been held at that time.

On Jan. 10, 1950 Fillingame was convicted in county recorder's court for destroying property and was given a six-month suspended sentence. In February of this year he was charged with driving drunk and leaving the scene of an accident, and failed to show up in court. His bond was forfeited. He has also been a defendant in Morehead City court.

Fillingame was put in the Morehead City Jail Wednesday night for safekeeping, the sheriff fearing that he might make good again an escape from the county jail.

A bond issue of between $500,000 and $700,000 is necessary to finance the county's school construction needs, according to H. L. Joslyn, county superintendent of schools.

The county is facing a growing school enrollment and lack of funds, a condition which has prevailed almost constantly since the mid-1940's but shows evidence of becoming worse.

Regarding the borrowing of a half million dollars or more, Mr. Joslyn said, "It's up to the people. If they want schools, they'll have to pay for them."

Mr. Joslyn commented that a million dollars has been spent in Carteret for new school construction in the past nine years and of that amount not more than $100,000 has come out of county funds. The rest has been state and federal money.

The county has approved a $95,500 budget for schools for the coming fiscal year, the largest in the county's history. With state and federal aid, the budget totals three-quarters of a million dollars.

Hopes Falter
The County Board of Education had hoped to have a new school building on Harkers Island by fall but the second $25 million the state hopes to borrow for school construction has not been made available as yet.

The holdup is attributed to the segregation issue. Out of the second part of the total $50 million, Carteret has been allotted $170,000, an insignificant amount when compared to what is needed.

Mr. Joslyn reports that plans for the Harkers Island building, which will be located on a new site, are being drawn and bids are going to be asked.

"Then we'll go to Raleigh and ask for the money," he said, "hoping that somehow it will be made available."

The new school site consists of more than 10 acres. Present plans call for selling the present school building.

In the 1956-57 school budget, money is earmarked for new buses, new shades and furniture at Harkers Island School as well as equipment at other schools, and $22,180 for school building additions.

Part of that $22,180 will be needed to complete school cafeterias at W. S. King and Queen Street schools.

Classrooms Needed
School building "additions" particularly means classrooms, Mr. Joslyn said. At Morehead City alone provision must be made to house five overflow classes next year.

Two more teachers will be allotted to the Morehead City School in 1956-57. In the high school alone, by 1960, there will be more than 500 students. At present there are slightly more than 300.

The Morehead City School Board, at its April meeting, decided to proceed with putting up a pre-fabricated building. It has been the hope of the board that work could begin on a new school at the newly-acquired site west of Morehead City, but the number of pupils is mounting faster than dollars for doing the construction.

Funds have also been earmarked in the new budget for acquiring school sites. The Harkers Island and Morehead City sites have already been paid for.

Mr. Joslyn commented that the grand jury in its recent report was wise in recommending that the Salters Path School be consolidated with another school in the county. This has long been the desire of the County Board of Education, but Salters Path residents have not favored the idea.

County Publishes Names Of Persons Owing Taxes

Names of county property owners who owe taxes appear in today's NEWS-TIMES.

Persons listed who do not pay taxes owed are in danger of losing their property. The properties, unless owners meet the tax debt, will be sold at public auction at noon Monday, May 7, at the courthouse, Beaufort.

The list will appear for the last time Friday, May 4.

Coast Guardsmen Attend Colorful Ceremony

Three hundred seventy-five officers and men from the Fifth Coast Guard district participated in change-of-command ceremonies at Coast Guard moorings, Berkeley, Va., Wednesday morning.

Rear Adm. H. C. Moore, chief of staff at Norfolk headquarters since August 1955, relieved Rear Adm. R. E. Wood as commander of the Fifth District. Admiral Wood has been assigned as commander of the 12th Coast Guard District, San Francisco, and the entire western area.

The weather was perfect for the colorful ceremonies. Coast Guardsmen were resplendent in dress blues and military decorations. Attending from Fort Monckton base were Lt. Cdr. James Van Etten, Morehead City, captain of the Conifer, and other officers and men of the crew.

In his farewell address Admiral Wood thanked the Coast Guardsmen of the Fifth District for their cooperation during his four years as commander. "I wish each and every one of you good luck, and may our paths cross again," he said.

Admiral Moore, a native of Long Island, N. Y., said he was aware of the big job that he had to assume and praised Admiral Wood for his excellent service as Fifth District commander.

Admiral Moore is expected to make an official visit to Fort Monckton and nearby Coast Guard stations in the near future.

Pre-Schoolers To Attend Clinic

The pre-school clinic for Morehead City Graded School has been set for Friday, April 27, 1956, at 1 p.m. in the school.

Forms are being sent to all known parents of beginning students for next year. These should be completed and returned to the school as soon as possible.

Any parent of an eligible pre-schooler who does not get a form, should call by the school and complete one. This will greatly facilitate the work of the clinic, said Lenwood Lee, principal.

To be eligible for school in 1956-57, a youngster must be 6 years old by Oct. 15, 1956. Birth certificates must be presented at time of registration.

Parents are urged to have their children vaccinated prior to the clinic, if at all possible. The shot record should be brought to the clinic.

41 Patients Attend Clinic

Forty-one patients attended the orthopedic clinic at the Morehead City Hospital annex Saturday morning.

Fifteen were new patients and the remainder had visited the clinic before.

Assisting Dr. Lenox Baker, orthopedist, was Dr. Richard Dodelin.

Volunteer assistants were Mrs. Skinner Chalk, Miss Nicoline Christiansen, Mrs. Charles W. Griffiths, Mrs. Walter Morris, Miss Ann Parrish and Miss Sybil Willis, all of Morehead City.

Other helpers were H. A. Hendrix, rehabilitation consultant from Greenville, and Miss J. E. Longacre, nutritionist with the State Board of Health.

County health nurses on hand were Mrs. Leota Hammer and Mrs. Leonard Lewis.

Dr. Luther Fulcher, health officer, expressed his appreciation to all who donated their services and to White Ice Cream and Milk Co. for milk for the children.

The next clinic will be Saturday, May 14. Registration will be from 8:30 to 10 a.m. No patients will be accepted after 10. Anyone with bone or joint trouble is invited.

President to Speak
President Dwight Eisenhower will deliver a foreign policy speech Saturday. It will be carried on WNCT, channel 9, 10 to 10:30 p.m.

Mrs. Dyon Simpson, Bettie, Wins District Demonstration Club Office

TV Program Will Salute Morehead

Greenville — East Carolina College will continue its current series of "Salutes to Eastern North Carolina Towns" with a salute to Morehead City. The program will be broadcast Sunday at 1:30 p.m. over WNCT, Greenville, Channel 9.

The salute to Morehead City will be the eighth telecast in the series. Rocky Mount, Kinston, Tarboro, Goldsboro, Greenville, Washington, and New Bern have been featured in programs over the past seven weeks.

The telecast is a part of the weekly East Carolina TV feature "Let's Go to College."

Those who will appear on the program include Mrs. J. W. Jackson, president of the North Carolina Garment Co.; Bernard Leary, past president of the Chamber of Commerce; Jack Holt, Morehead City ports director; Basil Wood, retired executive; and George H. McNeill, attorney.

Mayor Calls Special Board Meeting Today

Mayor Clifford Lewis, Beaufort, has called a special town board meeting for this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Three topics are on the agenda: opening bids for paving of Beaufort streets, membership in the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, and appointment of a committee to investigate remodeling and repairing the town hall.

Mrs. Dyon Simpson, Bettie, was elected treasurer of district 20, Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs, at the meeting in Morehead City Wednesday. Mrs. Hugh Pake, Bettie, chairman of the district, was succeeded by Mrs. M. B. Simpkins of Craven County.

Two hundred eighty-six women from Pamlico, Jones, Craven, Onslow and Carteret Counties attended the meeting at the recreation building, Morehead City. They had lunch at Captain Bill's Waterfront Restaurant.

Jones County women again won the gavel, the prize given to the club for coming the farthest distance to the most members.

Dr. Bessie McNeill of the home economics department, East Carolina College, spoke at the morning session on "Educating for Living Today."

Dr. McNeill, who has been at East Carolina six years, received her bachelor's degree at Cornell College, Iowa, her master's at Iowa State College, and her doctorate at the University of Iowa.

She has taught at Washington State, University of California campus at Davis, Calif., and at the University of Alabama.

Dr. McNeill was introduced by Miss Florence Cox, Raleigh, district home agent.

Guest soloist was Mrs. Herbert Waldrop, Newport, who sang Alice Blue Gown, accompanied by Miss Edith Lockey, Newport, at the piano.

The women were greeted by Mayor George Dill, Morehead City, Moses Howard, chairman of the county board of commissioners, Mrs. L. B. Pate and Mrs. Frank Wade, both of New Bern.

The afternoon session opened with a concert by the W. S. King School band under the direction of C. E. Smith. The district achievement report was given and election of officers took place in the afternoon.

Newport School Gets Complete Fire Inspection

J. C. Robertson, inspector with Factory Insurance Association of Charlotte and Charlie Gould Jr., Newport Fire Department member, conducted an extensive inspection of Newport school buildings recently.

The inspection, which took three hours, covered all the rooms of both buildings occupied by pupils in classrooms. Copies of the inspection report have gone to school officials. E. B. Comer, principal, assisted with the check-up.
