The sleek sailing vessel Caroly, a 75-foot Marconi-rigged yawl, arrived at the Morehead City Yacht Basin yesterday en route from Genoa, Italy to New York.

The yacht, named after the owner's wife, Caroly (Carolyn in English) made the crossing from Genoa to Buenos Aires in 112 days. From Buenos Aires to Morehead City, the Caroly made 23 stops, including Miami.

The owner is Ricardo Preve, who is in the rice growing, milling and distributing business. Aboard, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Preve, are Capt. Emilio Gariazzo, Carlo Gariazzo, the captain's brother, Count Giametta Beniscelli, newspaper man from Genoa, Dr. Raul Boero, Torola Bahardi, engineer, and three crew members.

The yawl is built of teak, mahogany and norway spruce and was designed by the Baglietto shipyard, Genoa. The cabin is papered with original 18th century hand drawn maps of the world as then known.

All bathroom fixtures in the owner's cabin were reportedly designed for Mussolini's yacht, but because of the dictator's timely death, the yacht was never completed.

An outboard motor was stolen from the Caroly in the city of Belem on the Amazon River in Brazil and when a complaint was made to the local police, the owners were told that they should consider themselves lucky that the thieves didn't steal the boat as well.

People stopping at the yacht basin yesterday reported, "There's an Italian boat just docked with wine bottles and kegs all over the deck!" That's what they look like, but all hopes were dashed when the owner reported that the casks and bottles were for drinking water only.

Council Hears Two Speakers

Harry Venters, assistant to the county farm agent, and B. J. May, ASC manager, spoke to members of the County Agriculture Council yesterday afternoon in the home agent's office, Beaufort.

The meeting was postponed from May 10 because three members of the council could not be present then.

Mr. Venters spoke on his work since he has been here and Mr. May spoke on the soil conservation and stabilization compliance program.

Mr. May says that not as many farmers are applying for assistance as he would like. The funds are available to farmers who carry out approved good farming practices.

Mr. May's office expects to start measuring, in about 10 days, the tobacco acreage. He added that probably not much will be done until boys return from college and can be employed to do the work.

The ASC office is also looking for a full-time compliance supervisor for a period of six to eight weeks this summer.

Kenneth Corbett Jr. To Serve Foresters

Kenneth Corbett Jr., with headquarters in New Bern, has recently been appointed service forester in District 4, which includes this county, R. M. Williams, county agent, announces.

There is a cooperative agreement between the U.S. Government and the State of North Carolina that enables each forest land owner to receive assistance in the management of his woodland through the N.C. Forest Service.

Mr. Corbett stated that a representative of his department will assist any forest land owner in handling his timber resources.

Mayor to Give Franklin Award

At Chapel Hill tonight, George W. Dill, mayor of Morehead City, will present the first George C. Franklin Memorial Award to the municipal officer in North Carolina who has performed the most outstanding work during the past year.

The Franklin award, established by the North Carolina League of Municipalities, is given in memory of Mr. Franklin who was an outstanding and highly-respected attorney for the league. He died in September 1954 at the age of 42.

Recipient of the award will be chosen by the Institute of Government, Chapel Hill, and will go to one of the career officers in municipal government enrolled in the course conducted annually for town officials by the institute.

Speaker at tonight's ceremonies, which will take place in the courtroom of the law building, UNC, will be Benjamin Cone, Greensboro, who was president of the League of Municipalities at the time of Mr. Franklin's death.

Morehead City's mayor is vice-president of the league and a member of the board of directors.

275 Receive Polio Vaccine

Two hundred seventy-five doses of polio vaccine were given by county health personnel Tuesday afternoon and quite a few persons were turned away. But Dr. Luther Fulcher said that he believes batches of the vaccine will be coming through more rapidly in the future than they have been during the past.

The shots will be given through the summer as the vaccine becomes available. In addition to the polio shots, 151 other shots were administered at the Tuesday afternoon clinics in Beaufort and Morehead City.

The county health department has also been blood testing migrant workers. Results of the tests were expected by today and today Dr. J. A. Soquel, Wilmington, who is with the United States Public Health Service, will be here to treat workers infected.

Dr. Soquel will give the treatment on the farms where the laborers are working.

CD Plans Drafted

Preliminary plans for a Civil Defense organization at Atlantic Beach were drafted Tuesday night at the beach. Attending the meeting were Jack Savage, George Stillway, George Smith, Murphy Jenkins, Dr. C. F. Keuzenkamp, Mayor A. B. Cooper and Miss Ruth Peeling, county civil defense director.

Beaufort Jaycees Give Cash Gift To Fred King

P. H. Geer Jr. Installs Officers at Meeting Monday Night

In appreciation for the service he has given Jaycees and the town of Beaufort, Jaycees on Wednesday presented Fred King with a cash gift. The presentation was made at Morehead City Hospital, where Mr. King is confined, by John Duncan and A. C. Blankenship.

Mr. King has been in the hospital since he was struck by a car Feb. 28. He said he hopes to be discharged soon. Mr. King suffered a broken hip and shoulder.

A TV set in his room helps him while away the hours but he said he's always happy to have visitors.

Officers Installed

At Monday night's meeting, P. H. Geer Jr., past district vice-president of the Jaycees, installed officers.

They are Danforth Hill, president; A. C. Blankenship, vice-president; John Duncan, secretary; James Steed, treasurer; Charles Chappell and Joe Long, directors.

Committee chairmen appointed by the president, are Mr. Duncan, membership, assimilation and orientation; Mr. Blankenship, public affairs, sports, civic improvements; Mr. Steed, ways and means; Thomas H. Potter, house and social affairs.

Mr. Chappell, awards, public relations and publicity; and Mr. Long, public welfare and safety. Each chairman will select his own committee.

Report Made

Jack McManus, chairman of the safety check program, reported that it will start at 3 p.m. Monday. The lanes will be located at the bridge and on Highway 101 and will be moved as necessary.

Manning each one will be a mechanic, an officer, a girl to hand out refreshments and Jaycees. Prizes will be given lucky motorists.

Ralph Albares volunteered as chairman of the Jaycee Beauty pageant and was appointed to head the event.

The installation of officers and business meeting followed dinner. The Jaycees met at the Scout building.

Curtis Pake, Bettie, Recovers from Burns

Curtis Pake, Bettie, general foreman at Trumbull Asphalt Co., Morehead City, is in Morehead City Hospital recovering from burns received Saturday morning when he fell against a container of asphalt while at work.

The hot asphalt spilled on him, burning his hands and searing through a high-top leather boot on the calf of one leg. His right hand is in bad condition but his family says that the doctor does not believe a skin graft will be necessary.

Southern President Expresses Confidence in Getting A&EC

8-Year-Old Girl Believed Drowned; Boats Drag Sound

Tense with anxiety, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lowe, parents of the missing 8-year-old Carol Lowe, helplessly watch as boats drag the waters in front of their home. The Lowses live in the home in Mansfield Park which until a year ago was operated as a convalescent home. With them is a young son.

Carol Lowe, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Lowe, Mansfield Park, was presumed drowned yesterday after she slipped off a rubber inner tube while playing in Bogue Sound.

Dragging operations to recover the body were in progress at press time yesterday afternoon, having started at about 8:40 a.m. Time of the accident was near 8:30.

According to Kenneth Baum, commanding officer of Fort Macon Coast Guard Station, who dispatched four boats on the search, Carol and her brothers and sisters were in swimming. Carol was on an inner tube and apparently drifted out from the shore.

Either she became panicky and jumped off the tube in an attempt to get back to shore or fell off. The only witness to the incident was a 9-year-old boy, Mr. Baum reported. The tide was low at the time, thus the child could have been out quite far and still believed she was in shallow water.

The child's mother was at work at the Broadway Cafe where she is a waitress and the father was also at work. The children were being looked after by a man who lives at the Lowe home and was identified as Jordan Bryan.

Mr. Baum said he was told that Bryan had been watching the children but went back into the house for a few seconds and when he came out again the girl had disappeared. He as well as two men who were sanding floors at Mitchell Village, Charles Conway and Tom Brinkley, looked for the girl but couldn't find any trace of her.

Observers said that the Lowe children of school age missed the school bus and therefore decided to go back home and go swimming. The Lowses have four children besides Carol.

In addition to two boats from Fort Macon, two boats from the Swansboro Coast Guard Station, with Dalton Burrus in charge, were on the scene. Other privately owned outboard boats which could operate in shallow water were also dragging with nets.

Mr. Baum said late yesterday afternoon that the body probably would not be located for two or three days.

Coast Guardsmen from Fort Macon participating in dragging operations were Chief Donald O. Tilton, William G. Taylor, William D. Smith, Billy L. Barbee, James H. Pittman and Frank D. Anderson.

Southern Railway is so confident that it will acquire the Atlantic and East Carolina Railroad into Morehead City, as well as the connecting Camp Lejeune Railroad that Harry A. DeButts, Southern president, said this week, "We have thrown all our resources into interesting new industries in the area."

In an interview yesterday Congressman Graham A. Barden said that he has been in close contact with the situation, now before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and said that he is "confident that the A&EC and Lejeune railway matter will be settled satisfactorily."

Mr. Barden is in favor of Southern's acquiring the A&EC and the federally-operated Lejeune line between Jacksonville and Cherry Point.

Paper Mill Probable

Mr. DeButts, in his statement, revealed too that a "large paper mill appears assured" for this area. Unconfirmed reports state that the mill would be located in the vicinity of New Bern and would be constructed by the Union Bag and Paper Co.

The Charlotte News this week quoted Clark L. Reynolds, assistant to the president of Union Bag and Paper, who said that his firm has been investigating a site on the Neuse River. He said that other sites in Texas and Arkansas are also being considered.

Mr. DeButts and Southern officials were in Charlotte this week and then left for Fort Mill, S. C., where they were to be the guests of a textile tycoon who is a member of Southern's board of directors.

Industry Desired

Persons in eastern Carolina are looking hopefully toward Southern's acquisition of the A&EC and Lejeune Railroad, believing that Southern's active industrial development department will lure industry to this area.

Southern Railway has stated that it will not take over the A&EC unless it can operate the Lejeune railroad also. The ICC's decision is being awaited.

Baby Suffocates In Its Crib

Shipped to St. Louis, Mo., for burial Wednesday was the body of two-month-old Donald Michael Campbell Jr., who suffocated in his crib at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The baby was the son of Carol and Donald M. Campbell, who live in the Gold Arrow Apartments, Bonham Heights, Morehead City.

According to Coroner Leslie D. Springle, Mrs. Campbell said she fed the baby at 7 a.m. After that she burped him and laid him on his stomach in the crib. She went back to bed and her husband, who is in the Marine Corps, went to Cherry Point to work.

At about 9 o'clock Mrs. Campbell said she got up and went to the baby and it was cold. The baby was brought to the hospital where it was pronounced dead.

Coroner Springle said the child had turned its head and smothered in a pillow in the crib. He said no inquest would be conducted. The baby was the Campbell's only child.

Year's Hottest Day Was Monday

The high temperature for the year was recorded Monday, 92 degrees, according to E. Stamey Davis, weather observer.

The past week has been sunny but windy. The low recorded was a week ago Thursday, 57 degrees. The second highest temperature was registered Wednesday when the mercury soared to 85. Farmers are hoping for some light showers soon, and when the wind shifted around to the north this week, wool shirts felt good.

The high and low temperatures and wind directions for the past week follow:

	Max.	Min.	Winds
Thursday	75	57	SW
Friday	75	63	SW
Saturday	78	65	SW
Sunday	75	67	SW
Monday	92	67	SW
Tuesday	79	71	NE
Wednesday	85	65	NW

The Beaufort Choral Club show will take place Tuesday and Wednesday, June 5 and 6, in Beaufort School auditorium instead of June 6 and 7 as announced in Tuesday's paper. Proceeds will go to Beaufort School.

Gloucester Club Sponsors Contest

A yard contest, sponsored by the Gloucester Community Club, is in progress at Gloucester. It will end Oct. 1. A prize will be given to the homeowner who keeps the nicest outdoor surroundings during the summer.

At the recent community club meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Piper, the group discussed the possibility of entering a community exhibit in the fair this fall. The garbage problem was also discussed.

Speaking at the meeting was George Stovall, Morehead City, manager of Carolina Power and Light Co., who told the members of the power company's policy regarding planting under its lines.

The talk was in conjunction with the club's highway beautification project. Two new members were welcomed. They were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. MacFarlane. The next meeting, June 12, will be at the MacFarlane home.

Music Groups to Present Program at 8 P.M. Monday

The Beaufort High School Band, assisted by the junior band, a sixth grade chorus and an eighth grade chorus, will present a commencement concert in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock Monday night.

The high school band will play Knightsbridge March by Coates; Overture Argentina by Buchtel; Gold and Silver Waltz by Lehár; Pan-American Promenade by Bennett; A Dream by Bartlett; Patio, French Market and St. Louis Cathedral from the French Quarter Suite by Morressey.

Highlights from Oklahoma by Hammerstein; On the Mall by Goldman; Syncopated Clock by Anderson; Lassus Trombone, a novelty by Fillmore featuring Berkley Piner, Michael Noe and Gerald Temple on the trombones, and Bubbling Brass by Eisch, a trumpet trio featuring Jimmy Murphy, Jimmy Davis and Tommy Jones.

The sixth grade chorus will sing Palomita Fiesta, Green Gum Cane, A Baked Potato and Ah, Lovely Meadows.

The eighth grade chorus will sing One World by O'Hara, Charlottown and My Hero from the Chocolate Soldier by Strauss. The two choruses will combine and sing Stout Hearted Men by Romberg, accompanied by the senior band.

The junior band will play East Post March by Weber, America the Beautiful, the school alma mater and Eagle Scout March by Weber. The choruses are an outgrowth of public school music classes, and the concert will be the third concert of the year for the members of the senior band.

C. F. Jones is band director and public school music teacher. No admission will be charged.
