

Officials Give Theatre Support Proceeds from Play, Peg, Will be Divided Between Two Groups

The Morehead City Recreation Commission, in session Wednesday night at the recreation building, assured the Carteret Community Theatre of the commission's full support in production of the play, Peg O' My Heart.

The play will be given in the recreation building auditorium Saturday night, Nov. 24. Net proceeds will be divided between the theatre and the recreation commission.

The commission agreed to sponsor ticket sales. Organizations which meet at the recreation building and benefit thereby will be asked to assist with the sales.

Miss Lillian Frances Giddens appeared before the commission to present the theatre's proposals. Mrs. Mamie Taylor, who is on the recreation commission staff in the summer time, has agreed to supervise a baby-sitting service in the building the night of the play so that parents may come and leave their children in the baby-sitting room.

Mrs. J. W. Thompson, chairman of the commission, who presided at the meeting, reported that the grounds around the building had been cleaned, grass cut and shrubbery trimmed.

The commission agreed that the appearance of the grounds has been vastly improved. It is contemplated, if enough money is available, to have the grounds looked after regularly next summer.

They commended Peter Block for extra work he did without pay. The commission refused a request to rent a portion of the building for a commercial enterprise.

Attending the meeting, in addition to the chairman, were Dr. D. J. Eure, Frank Cheek, Ethan Davis, Mrs. Taylor, secretary, and Fred Lewis, recreation director.

The next meeting will be held at the call of the chairman.

Rotary Reverses Meeting Routine

The Newport Rotary club reversed its usual procedure Monday night. Rather than eating and then having the business meeting and program, the Rotarians met at the Newport Community building and adjourned to meet at the Friendly Diner for dinner.

President Bob Montague heard reports from Junius Creech and Dick Lockett on the Rotarian-sponsored Teen-Age Club. In light of the facts brought out in the reports, E. B. Comer suggested a teen-age council composed of representatives from PTA, churches, and other civic clubs.

Derryl Garner, program chairman, gave a program on the United Nations organization. This week, he pointed out, is UN Week. He told of some of the accomplishments of the UN, and mentioned the objectives of the organization.

Nathan Garner, publicity chairman for the group, has announced that a clean-up and general repair meeting is slated for 1 p.m. Saturday. He said that the Rotarians will clean the grounds around the Community building and make minor repairs to the building.

Two Men Join Moose Lodge

Two new members, Elijah Lewis and Robert Davis, have joined the Morehead City Moose Lodge. They were initiated by the Degree Staff Monday, Oct. 15, according to lodge reporter Bill Johnson.

A steak supper has been planned for 7 p.m. tonight at the Moose Lodge, Atlantic Beach. Mr. Johnson says that reservations may be obtained from the steward secretary of the lodge.

Martin F. Beaver and Earl Holt have been named as candidates to fill the unexpired term of junior governor B. B. Baugus. Election days are Sunday and Monday.

A mass Moose initiation at Wilson will be attended by members of the Morehead City lodge tomorrow. A motorcade will leave Morehead City at 9 a.m. Mr. Johnson says that attendance at the initiation will give Moose a chance to hear fine speeches that will give them a better understanding of the Moose concepts.

There's no reason why anyone who wants to go to college cannot go. C. L. Beam, county veterans service officer, remarked this week that with the thousands of scholarships available any high school senior can get financial help for college.

"I'm extremely disappointed," he continued, "that our Carteret boys and girls are not taking advantage of these scholarships. Not only are they available to children of veterans but I have lists of scholarships available to any youngster who wants to go to college."

These days any child with average intelligence can obtain a scholarship, he said. The youngster doesn't have to be a genius. "I know our boys and girls can get these scholarships," Mr. Beam said, "they're just as bright as anybody else."

He regrets that in years past too few inquiries have been made through his office about scholarships.

High school seniors should apply during November for financial help in college. The scholarships will not pay the full cost of a college education, but they are helpful, Mr. Beam said, and there are numerous opportunities in college for boys and girls to earn money.

Children eligible for the veterans scholarships are those whose parents were killed or died as a result of service in the first or second world wars. Or they may be children of veterans who sustained 30 or more per cent of disability by virtue of their service in the armed forces.

If anyone thinks he or she may be eligible for scholarships, offered to veterans' families or to children in general, Mr. Beam may be seen for further information at the veterans' service office on the second floor of the courthouse annex, Beaufort.

If they wish, they may also write Director of N. C. Veterans Commission, 172 Revenue Building, Raleigh, N. C.

Bank to Sponsor Area Program

The board of directors of the Commercial National Bank, Kinston, passed a resolution recently calling for sponsorship by the bank of the Central East North Carolina Development Association, Inc.

According to Harry C. Wooten Jr., vice-president of the bank, the association will be patterned after the Northwest North Carolina Development Association which has improved the economic status of western North Carolina counties.

Mr. Wooten said that the bank will call a meeting with representatives of towns in the following counties in the near future: Carteret, Wayne, Lenoir, Greene, Pitt, Craven, Pamlico, Sampson, Jones, Duplin and Onslow.

The purpose of the organization is to promote, through regional cooperation, industrial, agricultural and recreational well-being of the area composed of the above-mentioned counties.

A copy of the resolution adopted by the bank has been sent to Gov. Luther Hodges and the Department of Conservation and Development.

Mrs. James Smith Heads Carteret B&PW Club

Mrs. Roma Noe, Beaufort, president of the Carteret Business and Professional Women's Club, has resigned and Mrs. James Smith, Morehead City, first vice-president, has assumed the presidency.

Mrs. Smith presided at the meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. W. I. Loftin, Hancock Park, Beaufort. Mrs. Noe has accepted a position with a florist's shop at Raleigh.

The club decided to sponsor three money-making projects this year, a turkey raffle, Mrs. Retha King, chairman; chicken salad supper, Mrs. D. F. Merrill, chairman; and a Valentine card party, Mrs. C. L. Beam and Mrs. Floyd Chadwick, co-chairmen.

A budget for the year of $460 was approved. The budget report was given by Mrs. J. R. Morrill. A report was given on observance of National Business Women's Week in September. Mrs. Clem Johnson announced that tomorrow would be the last day for persons to register to vote.

She suggested that every club member register, if they have not done so already, and vote on Nov. 6.

The program, on United Nations Week, was presented by Mrs. Julia Holt. Her topic was Influence of Women at Home and Abroad.

She mentioned that the status of women in Japan has changed considerably since the second world war. For example, a number of women are now members of the Tokyo police force and being paid salaries equal to men holding comparable positions.

The next meeting, Tuesday, Nov. 27, will be at the home of Mrs. Johnson, Mansfield Parkway, with Mrs. Grace Ayscue as co-hostess. A spaghetti supper will be served. Guests at Tuesday night's meeting were Mrs. Jerry Schumacher, Morehead City, Mrs. W. B. Longest Jr. and Mrs. Ralph Albare, both of Beaufort.

Prior to the meeting a covered dish supper was served.

Fire Missing

Beaufort firemen answered a fire phone call at 7:35 a.m. Tuesday morning, but couldn't find the fire. The alarm rung was Broad and Pollock but no house with an "overheated oil stove" could be found. Further efforts to locate the fire were unsuccessful, so it was chalked up as a false alarm.

Highway Association Head Reports on Road Progress

R. Stanley Wahab, president of the Seashore Highway Association, has announced that the bridges over the Ocracoke creeks are about two-thirds completed. In a meeting of the association Saturday at Ocracoke, Mr. Wahab also said that the streets in the town have all been widened and that all the necessary material for completing the highway are stock-piled on the island.

Joe DuBois, Carteret representative, gave a report on the progress made on the mosquito control program, which the association sponsored before the legislature two years ago. He said that state funds must be provided to continue the program, since no federal disaster funds will be available next summer.

The 36 members at the meeting voted in favor of a resolution in support of the dredging and stabilization of Ocracoke Inlet, to be submitted at the Oriental hearing tomorrow.

Glenn Tucker, Wilmington, discussed the need for a waterways commission with funds and authority to improve and maintain the many miles of waterways necessary to the development of the coastal area.

Mr. Wahab was asked to appoint a committee of five to meet with a committee from the Southeastern North Carolina Beach Association. The combined committees will seek an appointment with Governor Hodges for the purpose of requesting that a legislative committee be appointed to study ways and means of establishing a N. C. Waterway Commission.

The next meeting for the association has been scheduled for January in Wilmington. Officers will be elected at the meeting.

Roy A. Sandlin To Visit Lions

Roy Sandlin, district governor of Lions International, will attend the Nov. 13 meeting of the Down East Lions Club at the Sea Level Inn.

Jack Johnson, president of the club, announced Governor Sandlin's visit at the meeting Monday night at the inn. The board of directors will meet the night of the governor's official call.

She commended the club for the work it is doing and commented that its organization and its activity is an indication of the growth and development of the eastern section of the county.

The good news from down east, Miss Peeling said, is that things are happening and people are taking interest in new projects. Commenting on the proposed ferry from Cedar Island to Ocracoke, the speaker said that with an increase in the flow of travelers through the area, folks might attempt to "get rich quick" by throwing up shacks, hot dog stands or other honky-tonk sales places.

That kind of thing, the speaker continued, would attract nickel and dimes but not the kind of tourist money that is available to attractive business buildings.

Miss Peeling commented on publicity, its value and how an area can benefit from the proper type of publicity.

Charles Caudell Jr. gave the invocation and William R. Cockham, coach of the Atlantic basketball team, was introduced.

Combat

The Combat during the mid-September trip, landed approximately 1,800 pounds of headed red shrimp.

"The Aug. 30-Sept. 4 period was devoted to additional shallow-water exploration along the Florida coast north of Cape Canaveral. . . . Although several isolated trawling areas were located, the bottom was found to be mostly coral and generally untrawlable out to the edge of the continental shelf.

"Drags in 22 to 23 fathoms using a 40-foot trawl caught large rock shrimp at rates of 90 to 150 pounds per hour during nighttime fishing.

"While fishing at night during this period, several large schools of sardines (Sardinella anchovia) were observed and picked up on the depth recorders between 10 and 40-fathom curves."

According to the July statistical report published by the Fish and Wildlife Service, 283 pounds of the royal red shrimp were caught off the east coast of Florida in July, valued at $180. The shrimp ran 15-20 per pound headed.

North Carolina led South Carolina, Georgia, and east coast of Florida in shrimp landed during July. North Carolina's total catch was 1,116,099 pounds, valued at $358,015. South Carolina's catch was 921,000, Georgia 642,943, and Florida east coast 162,913.
