

New Trawler Delivered

The Miss Pearl, 55-foot standard Hatteras trawler recently delivered to V. J. O'Neal of Morehead City, operator of one of Eastern North Carolina's better known fishing fleets. The boat was built by the Morehead City Shipbuilding Corp.

Capt. V. J. O'Neal of Morehead City, best known to the fishing world as "Puck," is the owner of the latest 55-foot, standard Hatteras Trawler to be delivered by the builders, the Morehead City Shipbuilding Corp. The boat is named Miss Pearl, the name the neighbors have given to Mrs. O'Neal.

Miss Pearl is 55 feet in length, has a 16-6" beam, and draws 5-6" of water. In the engine room of the trawler is a 6071A General Motors Diesel Keel Cooled, with a 3.75 to 1 reduction gear. The boat carries a 1500-watt generator. The propeller is a 40" x 32" four-blade Southern wheel.

There are four 8-volt batteries, a 750-watt generator, a 1 1/2" gasoline driven pump, a 1 1/2" chain-driven pump connected with the winch shaft, and two 800-gallon fuel tanks. Miss Pearl is the first Hatteras Trawler to be equipped with plastic pipe for the bilge lines.

Using Leftovers Helps Out Budget

Today's homemaker recognizes the importance of utilizing left-over foods if her food budget is to be kept within its limits. But when her family turns up their noses at having to eat left-overs for two or three days, what is she to do? Kept in the refrigerator for any length of time, the surplus loses flavor and dries out or spoils.

Her food budget suffers because most of the left-over foods are eventually thrown into the garbage. She herself hardly realizes the extent of the waste.

But the Freezer homemaker is never faced with the problem of presenting successive meals from one roast; of innumerable refrigerator dishes containing a small portion of cooked food; of single servings of pie, cake, puddings; of small quantities of expensive, luxury foods such as fancy cheeses, etc., of paying high, small-unit prices for foods used infrequently or in small amounts.

Here are a few budget-wise and welcome additions to more interesting meals. You'll think of many more uses for left-overs. Pie Dough: A bit of left-over pastry, rolled with sharp or bleu cheese added, can be cut into straws or rounds, or rolled and cut as wafers. Bake and store in freezer for salad or soup accompaniment. Celery seed, grated onion, or well-drained chopped olives may be added to pastry scraps and used in the same manner.

Butcher Stores Weekend Cash

Matador, Tex. (AP)—Frozen lettuce was one item Mrs. Harold Campbell had not counted on storing in her ranch home deep freeze near Matador, Tex.

Putting away 500 pounds of frozen steaks and roasts, she noticed one unlabeled package. That she laid aside to thaw for lunch.

Then the Campbell Ranch received an urgent phone call from the butcher in town. He had started looking for the weekend receipts which he had hidden in the freezing department.

Had Mrs. Campbell noticed anything unusual in her purchases? Only the unlabeled package.

She then discovered, to the butcher's delight, that it contained about $1,200 in cool cash.

Police Buddies Meet on Street

Oklahoma City (AP)—Patrolman J. P. Perrine was boiling when he jumped from his car after it and another vehicle collided.

The driver of the other car, Phil Eisenhour, a former policeman, also jumped out ready for anything.

They were set with some pretty hot words when they recognized each other as old police buddies.

When accident investigator Bill Lewellen arrived at the scene, Perrine claimed he was at fault, forgetting to stop at the corner. Eisenhour said he was going too fast and went through a red light. Lewellen, faced with such a situation for the first time, scratched his head and finally gave both men accident forms to fill out after they had more time to think.
