

No Kidding, It's a Flounder!

John Wegner of the Institute of Fisheries Research holds a freak flounder which was taken Wednesday, May 1, by the Edith M., one of Capt. Ottis Purifoy's boats which operates out of Morehead City.

The fish is a "reverse" flounder, explains Dr. Earl Deubler of the institute. Its eyes are on the right rather than on the left, as is normal, and it is also colored on both sides. Normally a flounder is white on one side and its eyes are on the other or the "pigmented" side.

The fish was 12 inches long and is now preserved in the research fish collection at the institute. Dr. Deubler said that there have been many flounders colored on both sides and many "reverse" or "right-handed" flounders but the freak Edith M. fish is only the second of its type ever to be recorded. It's a "summer flounder". An item on the freak fish was being submitted yesterday by Dr. Deubler to Copeia, the journal of the American Society of Ichthyologists and Herpetologists.

Wes Conkling Installs New Jaycee Officers

Wes Conkling, ninth district Jaycee vice-president, was principal speaker and installing officer at the Beaufort Jaycee banquet at the Scout building last night.

Mr. Conkling, Jacksonville, told the Jaycees what he expected of them during the coming year. He said that with their new slate of officers they should continue to be one of the most active clubs in the district.

James Steed was installed as president to succeed A. C. Blankenship. Other new officers are Frank Langdale, first vice-president, Jesse Taylor, second vice-president, Earl Mac Now, secretary, and John Young, treasurer.

The outgoing officers, in addition to Mr. Blankenship, are Glenn Willis, vice-president, John Duncan, secretary, and Mr. Steed, treasurer.

New directors, replacing Joe Long and Charles Chappell, are Mr. Blankenship, Ronald Earl Mason, Glenn Willis, George Murray Thomas, Hubert King and Bobby Martin.

After installation ceremonies, the Jaycees and their wives and dates had a dance.

Cherry Point Invites Public To Visit Saturday

Cherry Point — Residents of the Eastern Carolina area will be able to tour facilities of the world's largest Marine Corps Air Station here Saturday, when the gates are swung open for Armed Forces Day.

Units of the Second Marine Aircraft Wing and Force Aviation Headquarters Group will be included in the open house, with static displays of all types of aircraft now in use by the Marine Corps.

Commands and departments at the Air Station will conduct the day of activities from 10 a.m. (EST) until 3 p.m. (EST). The program will consist of guided tours.

Conventional propeller-driven aircraft, helicopters, and jet aircraft will be included in the mass display. Equipment such as radio vans, communication jeeps, aerial cameras, photos, parachute packing gear, water purification and distillation units, and survival aids for downed pilots will be among the displays.

Military police will provide safe traffic control as well as ample parking space. Soft drink and sandwich booths will be in full operation to provide fountain and lunch services at a nominal cost. A shuttle bus service will be available throughout the day between the Air Station's main gate and the display areas.

Sidewalk Art Exhibit Draws Thousand Viewers

A thousand persons wandered by in a warm summer sun Saturday to look at work of county artists which was on display in Morehead City on S. Eighth Street.

The exhibit, sponsored by the Association of University Women, was scheduled to continue through the afternoon but cloudy skies and a few rain drops made it necessary to take down the exhibits at 2 p.m.

Chairmen of the exhibit were Mrs. Milton Roush and Mrs. Harry Venters. They expressed appreciation to Walter Edwards of Fry Roofing Co. for providing the workmen to string wire on which pictures were hung, to the Morehead City Police Department for providing free parking space to the women in charge of the show, to Lt. Cdr. John MacCormack, Atlantic, who registered exhibitors, and to Mrs. Virginia Brown, president of the AAUW, who assisted the exhibit committee.

Pupils of Camp Glenn and Morehead City Schools contributed art work. Three Camp Glenn teachers who were especially helpful, Mrs. Roush said, were Mrs. Ortho Duke, Mrs. T. D. Eure and Miss Joyce Taylor.

Exhibitors were the following: from Beaufort, Mrs. Laura Davis Piner, Mrs. M. Leslie Davis, Ann Swain, Joan Chipman, Mabel Jones, Sara Jones, Thomas Poole, Carol Gillikin, and Richard Klemm.

From Morehead City, Mrs. Hugh Porter, David W. Nelson, Mrs. Nettie Murrill, Ann Thomas Lewis, Jim Butts, Mary Murdoch, Sandy Olson, Dr. W. M. Brady.

Board Requests Moving Of Building 3 Feet

Gus Davis, builder of a new structure at the beach, has been requested to move the building back 3 feet from its original line.

The beach board revised its original request, that the building's north wall be 15 feet from the curb. Officials met last week in special session, several days after Mr. Davis had appeared before them to say that he would lose a third of his building if he complied with the town ordinance.

Mayor A. B. Cooper said that the board has interpreted the ordinance and the ordinance is being revised to avoid misinterpretation in the future.
