

Cherry Point Generals Invited

Mayor George Dill, Morehead City, center, tells Brig. Gen. Dyer, left, and Maj. Gen. John C. Munn, commanding officer of the Second Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, of Centennial events going on this week in Morehead City. General Munn holds a gold key to the city presented to him by the mayor.

Restaurant Welcomes Elaine

John Tunnell, right, shows some of the famous Sanitary Restaurant hospitality as he seats Miss North Carolina and her party Sunday night. The Sanitary was chosen Saturday as the most hospitable business in Morehead

City during Hospitality Month. The secret board of judges reached a unanimous decision in giving the honor to the Sanitary. They were the same judges who named a Hospitality Personality each week during July.

Town Reminds Fag Sellers of Laws

Newport town officials have requested cigarette-selling businessmen in town to cooperate in cutting the number of youngsters smoking cigarettes. In a recent letter to businessmen, Mayor Leon Mann Jr. pointed out that it is against the law to sell tobacco products to a child under 17. An older person who buys such products for a child under 17 is also violating law, he said. The appeal was made as the result of a "rising incidence of cigarette smoking among minors," the mayor declared.

New Rails
The Atlantic and East Carolina Railroad will start Monday to lay 85-pound rails from Newport to Morehead City.

Big Pump Causes Trouble With Water, Board Learns

New equipment for improving the water service at Atlantic Beach was the cause of trouble in the system, S. A. Horton, town water supplier, told the board at its meeting Friday morning at Fleming's Motel. He said he had dug a new well and bought a large pump for it, but the pump was so big, it sucked sand from the well and pumped it through the water lines. As a result, the water had to be cut off for eight hours last week and the system flushed out. Mr. Horton told the board that he had ordered a smaller pump and a chlorinator. The commissioners formally approved and appointed the town's police force. Members of the force are Bill Moore, chief, Murphy Jen-

Small Towns Will Dictate Future, Dr. B. F. Hall Says

What individual local communities do will determine whether the world will continue to exist in the next hundred years or whether man's new discoveries in science will bring destruction.

This was one of the points in a thought-provoking message brought to a Centennial congregation of 750 Sunday night at the Morehead City football field by Dr. B. Frank Hall.

Dr. Hall, pastor of the Pearsall Memorial Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, was pastor of the Morehead City and Wildwood Presbyterian Churches in 1933-38.

Speed of News

The minister said that the modern systems of communication let peoples all over the world know what is happening in this country an hour after it happens.

"The future of the world is not being decided in Washington or Moscow," the speaker declared, "it's being decided in Morehead City and communities like it everywhere."

He recalled how, as a member of a conciliation mission during the Arab-Israeli conflict, he visited a refugee camp with several other Americans. He said they no sooner arrived at the camp than they saw an American consular car overturned by rioting refugees and set afire.

Even the American diplomatic officials did not know what had set off the trouble. A few hours later, it was learned that there was a lynching in a small town in the Deep South in the United States.

The refugees had received this information by "radio Moscow," Dr. Hall said and in protest against the lynching attacked American property. Such a flare-up of violence, he continued, could be the starting point of a major war.

"It used to be," Dr. Hall declared, "that we could talk Christianity and live the way we wanted to. But the modern methods of communications no longer allow us this luxury of double talk."

Dr. Hall said that other cities have celebrated periods of existence far in excess of Morehead City's one hundred years, but remarked that the town need make no apologies for observing the past hundred years, for during this span of time man has made greater scientific progress than in the 19 centuries preceding.

Past Not Perfect

He warned the audience not to deify and attempt to perpetuate the past, but rather to recognize the ways in which there was failure and attempt to remedy such shortcomings in the future.

He was introduced by the Rev. A. G. Harris Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Morehead City.

Board Appoints A. D. Fulford Mosquito Control Supervisor

Odds-On Favorite

Favored to win the beard derby last night at the Grand Ole Opry show was George Roberts (Pete) Wallace, Morehead City.

A. D. Fulford, county sanitarian, was appointed supervisor of mosquito control by the county commissioners at their meeting yesterday at the courthouse.

The state required appointment of a supervisor before releasing any state funds. Mr. Fulford said that with the state's $5,000 that will match a county appropriation, the total amount in mosquito control will be about $15,000.

Of the amount received, $2,500 will be paid weekly to the supervisor.

R. M. Williams, county agent, accompanied by Fred Knott, assistant agent, and Harry Venters, also of the farm office, appeared before the board. Mr. Williams announced that Mr. Knott will be leaving here Sept. 1 to take a position in the extension dairy department, State College, where he will also work on his master's degree. Mr. Venters will do 4-H work until the first of July, when his employment under federal grant ends. At that time he will become assistant agent. The county board expressed its appreciation to Mr. Knott for his services here in the county. He started work here 15 months ago.

Sheriff Hugh Salter was asked to investigate a request by Bill Dugee, Newport constable for pay commensurate with his work in law enforcement. Mr. Dugee says that he is called out frequently and has to make trips to Beaufort to bring prisoners to court, but the fees he collects, as constable do not meet the expense.

A petition was read asking that Mr. Dugee be employed as deputy sheriff in the Newport area.

Freddy Snooks and Frank Lewis of the Beaufort Fire Department appeared before the board and backed up statements by Commissioner Odell Merrill to the effect

Miss Kinston to Attend Jubilee

Miss Kinston, will be a guest of the Morehead City Jaycees during the final four days of the Centennial Jubilee. She will take part in official Centennial functions, including the street and water parades.

Beach Property Owners Entitled To Car Decals

Under the Atlantic Beach Civil Defense program, each homeowner is entitled to a 2 1/2-inch square decal to put on the windshield of his car.

This decal will indicate that he is an Atlantic Beach property owner and is entitled to be on the beach when others may be barred because of hurricane or other disaster.

The decals consist of the Civil Defense emblem and have the words, Atlantic Beach, N. C., on them.

Civil Defense officials have decided to meet weekly with Atlantic Beach firemen at the fire station. They will meet there at 7:30 tonight.

The Civil Defense council consists of the mayor, A. B. Cooper, as chairman, with members of the town board as members of the advisory council.

Civil Defense officials are Jack Savage, director; Bill Moore, deputy director; L. N. Moore, director of fire service; Robert Bartz, director of communications.

Bill Moore, director of police service; Joe Zajac, director of welfare; Dr. C. F. Keuzenkamp, medical director; George Stillway, health director; S. A. Horton, director of public works; George Smith, director of transportation; and Harry H. Hill, director of war-dens.

Leslie Moore Recovers From Fall from Bicycle

Leslie Moore, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moore, Pollock Street, Beaufort, is recovering from a slight head fracture he received Friday afternoon when he fell from his bicycle.

Leslie was discharged from the Morehead City Hospital Saturday morning. Several stitches were taken to close the cut and X-rays had revealed a fracture.

Mrs. Moore said that Leslie was knocked to the sidewalk when his bike ran into a tree by the sidewalk at Ann and Marsh Streets. His bike and another boy's bike were tied together when the accident happened.

Miss North Carolina's Family Likes Duke; She, Three Sisters Go There

By ELLEN BORDEAUX

Miss North Carolina, lovely Elaine Herndon of Durham, comes from a family of Duke University graduates. She is the youngest of four girls. Two of her sisters graduated from Duke and another sister, Carol, is a rising senior. Miss Herndon, 18, will be a junior in the fall.

Folks have inquired how she can be a junior in college and only 18. She explained in an interview yesterday at the Atlantic Beach Hotel, that she entered school at 5 and attended summer school to graduate a year early.

She is very interested in extra curricular activities at school. While attending Durham High School, from which she graduated in 1955, she was a member of the National Honor Society, the Dramatics Club and the Literary Society. She was president of her home room and served on the student council.

Studied Music
She began studying piano when she was in the third grade and played the flute in the school band for two years. She served in the prom court both her junior and senior years and was a candidate for homecoming queen.

Elementary education is her major at Duke, where she is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. She was a member of Sandals, sophomore honorary, and was a finalist in the Angier B. Duke Scholarship competition in 1955. She replied "no comment" when asked about her romantic life.

Miss North Carolina flew with the Air Force to Bermuda and the Azores last summer to entertain the troops. She and her sister, Carol, were members of the dance chorus of Hoop and Horn, an original production of Duke students. The Duke Ambassadors, college dance band, were also members of the troupe.

Mother With Her
Mrs. E. M. Herndon accompanied her daughter to Morehead City.

They left Raleigh-Durham airport in a downpour of rain Sunday and had a quite rough trip here. They landed at the Beaufort-Morehead airport late Sunday afternoon.

Miss Herndon said she is looking forward to water skiing here. In addition to piano, she also likes to sing, dance, cook and sew. Some friends of her parents from Georgia were staying in Beaufort and she was looking forward to getting some sun with them yesterday afternoon.

Miss Herndon visited Atlantic Beach one day about two years ago, but has never been any other place in the county. She said she would like to go down east, but didn't know if her schedule would permit it.

Praises Jaycees

Asked how she liked Morehead City and Carteret County, she replied that she liked it very much. She especially praised the Morehead City Jaycees for taking such "wonderful care of me. We have a car at our disposal and are free to do anything we like."

Centennial events on Miss North Carolina's schedule are the water parade tomorrow night, the Jubilee Revue tonight, and the street parade Saturday. She will also tour Cherry Point Thursday with Miss Centennial, Ann Thomas Lewis, who is official hostess.
