Committee Hopes Dance

The Ribbon-Aires, a four-piece dance combo, will play for the post-Centennial dance at the Blue

Hibbon Restaurant tonight. The music will begin at 8 p.m. Purpose of the dance is to help make up the financial deficit of the Centennial committee. Incomplete audits show that the Centennial cost about $3,000 more than was collected, according to J. R.

Sanders, finance chairman. The Ribbon-Aires play rhythmic, sweet music for dancing and din-ing. The combo features a sax, piano, bass and drums.

The dollar admission, per per-son, will go to the Centennial fund.

R. G. Atkinson, manager of the restaurant, is furnishing the band and the building free of charge. The dance is informal.
