

County Appeals For Emergency Mosquito Funds

The county board of health has passed a resolution requesting emergency funds to fight the current plague of mosquitoes.

The resolution asks that the state board of health provide extra funds and if there are not funds available through that department that an appeal be made to the governor to provide more money.

The county's funds have been exhausted, A. D. Fulford, Mosquito control officer, said Friday. The total allotted the county and towns for spraying this summer was $8,965.69. The county received $4,865.69 Morehead City $1,950 and Beaufort $1,750.

The resolution, signed by Dr. Luther Fulcher, health officer, and by M. C. Howard, chairman of the board of health, pointed out that "there appears to be an emergency, caused by the glut of salt marsh mosquitoes... to the extent that life is almost unbearable... funds originally allocated and set aside for Carteret County to be used for mosquito control have been exhausted."

"There is such suffering on the part of our people and no local funds available with which to take care of such an emergency, therefore, the board requests that the State Board of Health request additional funds to cope with the present emergency... "If no such funds exist with the Board of Health at this time, that an appeal be made to the governor to provide such emergency funds at once."

Trawler Burns At Beaufort Dock Saturday

The 56-foot fishing trawler June T caught on fire while it was tied to the Gulf dock in Beaufort at 2:40 p.m. Saturday. Damage was estimated at $5,000 by Coast Guardsmen who helped extinguish the blaze. The boat is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Teich of Adams Creek.

Workers at the Gulf station smelled smoke and went to the dock to investigate. There they saw smoke coming out of the hold of the vessel. They called the Coast Guard and the Beaufort Fire Department.

The firemen had the fire nearly under control when the Coast Guard arrived by boat. After the fire was out, the Coast Guardsmen stayed and pumped the water out of the trawler.

Beaufort Fire Chief Herbert Whitehurst said that the fire was probably caused by defective wiring.

The June T was built last summer and shrimped in North Carolina and Florida waters. She has been shrimping out of Beaufort for several weeks this summer.

Truck, Car Collide Saturday Morning

A 1951 Ford and a 1952 Chevrolet truck collided on Arendell Street at Camp Glenn at 12:05 a.m. Saturday. Lt. Joe Smith of the Morehead City Police Department charged Albert E. Johnson Jr., Morehead City, driver of the car, with driving drunk and driving without a license. The driver of the truck, David D. Cuddahy, Cherry Point, was charged with careless and reckless driving.

Lt. Smith said that Johnson was driving east at about 50 mph when he ran into the rear of the truck which had slowed suddenly to turn. He estimated damage to the car at $500 and to the truck at $50.

Rotarians Show Slides Of Centennial Parade

Morehead City Rotarian H. S. Gibbs Jr. and Lee Nance of Ayden took charge of the Rotary Club meeting at the Rex Restaurant Thursday night. They showed color slides that they took during the Centennial parade.

The club presented A. B. Morton with an engraved cigarette lighter. Mr. Morton drove the truck that pulled the Rotary Club float in the parade.

Other guests at the meeting were Charles Carter and Allen Knott of Kinston, Ed Willard of Sea Level and C. W. Stamper of Beaufort.

No Poll Tax

Members of the Beaufort, Down East, Morehead and Newport Fire Departments need not pay poll tax this year. County Commissioner Odell Merrill said yesterday that he has learned through the Institute of Local Government that firemen are exempt from poll tax. Those who have already paid it will have the tax refunded.

Chief Demonstrates Safety Machine

Morehead City Police Chief Herbert Griffin demonstrates the city's new safety-teaching machine to police commissioner Ted Garner, center, and Mayor George Dill, right.

The Morehead City Police Department bought a safety-teaching device Thursday afternoon. The machine is in two parts. One is a model street intersection, complete with four miniature cars and traffic signals. The other is a panel with 18 signs commonly seen along the highway. It cost $600.

Police Chief Herbert Griffin says

the machine will be used in conjunction with safety lectures he plans to give at schools, youth meetings and civic club meetings. The chief raised the money to pay for the machine himself. He got contributions from the Commercial National Bank, Morehead City Garment Co., Capt. Otis Purifoy, Sound Chevrolet Co.,

Morehead City Drug Co. and White-way Laundry. Three thousand eight-hundred-page pamphlets are included with the machine. The booklet contains rules for safe bicycling, safe walking and safe driving. The machine was invented by E. M. Hanna, Aiken, S. C., police chief.

Water Committee Members Report to County Board

H. S. Gibbs Jr., chairman of the newly-appointed county water committee, and W. H. Potter Jr., member of the committee, appeared before the county board yesterday morning at the courthouse to report that the committee would undertake the work outlined for them.

Mr. Gibbs said he would write to the state water commissioners for additional information on the committee's duties. Moses Howard, chairman of the board, said that David Jones, county soil conservationist, who is a member of the committee, could explain some of the committee's functions.

Mr. Potter told the board that time and transportation would be involved and commended the board for appointing a water committee. Mr. Gibbs stated that he would call a meeting of the committee to get the water study under way.

Luther Hamilton Jr., attorney, appeared before the board and requested that the board declare a "neighborhood road" a road in the Russells Creek section. He said that a client who has property at the end of the road can't get a loan unless the road is on the county system.

Since the road does not have four families on it, as the highway department requires, John L. Humphrey, road superintendent, said he did not think it could be put on the system. Chairman Howard said he would consult highway officials.

No Action

Julius Willis, Davis, appeared before the board to request an adjustment in back taxes. The board took no action.

Lcdr. Troy Morris Takes Part in Training Cruise

Key West, Fla.—Among the Navy's "Weekend Warriors" participating with Anti-Submarine Squadron 861 in its annual two-week training cruise at Naval Air Station, Key West, is Lcdr. Troy Morris, Morehead City. Commander Morris is the maintenance officer of VS 861.

Members of Anti-Submarine Squadron 861 are called "Weekend Warriors" because they go on active duty one weekend each month in addition to their annual two weeks' active duty.

VS 861 conducted Operation "Contact Thirty-Six" as part of its two-week training program. This operation, first for a Reserve Squadron, called for a continuous tracking of submarines from the Key West area. The plane "on target" had to remain there until his relief arrived to take over.

The success of a mission of this type calls for close cooperation of pilots, crew members and support personnel on the ground.

VS 861 uses the SZF "Tracker," a twin engine anti-submarine plane built by Grumman. The "Tracker" is the same plane used in the regular Navy to find and sink enemy submarines. This plane carries all the latest electronic equipment developed by Navy research.

"First" are not strangers to VS 861—in 1955 they were the first Reserve Squadron to operate single-engine planes outside of the continental limits of the United States. This operation was conducted at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, while the squadron was assigned AF's or "Guardian," a single engine anti-submarine plane.

The squadron still has a few vacancies for both pilots and crew members. Anyone interested in joining Reserve Squadron VS 861, can obtain additional information by writing Lcdr. Morris, Box 463, Morehead City.

Swiss Liner to Sail From Wilmington in 1958

The Swiss liner, MV Arosa Sky, will sail from Wilmington Jan. 9 and March 17, 1958 on two cruises to the West Indies and South America.

John E. Smith Jr., president of the Caribbean Cruise Lines, who has scheduled the sailings, said that his firm may schedule a cruise from Morehead City to the Caribbean in the fall of 1958. J. D. Holt, manager of the Morehead City port, said yesterday there is nothing definite on that proposal as yet.

Lonzy Bell Waives Hearing In Morehead City Court

Leslie Morton Waives Shotgun Assault Hearing

Leslie Morton, charged with assaulting a police officer with a shotgun, was bound over to superior court yesterday under $1,000 bond.

Morehead City recorder's court judge Herbert Phillips gave him a 90-day suspended sentence for disturbing the peace and forcible trespass at the home of Mrs. Joseph Willis on N. 20th St.

Mrs. Willis called police at 3 a.m. Saturday and asked them to come to her house because Morton was there causing a disturbance. When they arrived, Morton had left, so they asked her to go to the station and swear out a warrant for him.

Lt. Joe Smith and Patrolmen Buck Newsome and Junior O'Neal took the warrant to Morton's house at Macon Court to pick him up. Morton met them at the back door and told them to leave.

He then closed the back door, got a shotgun and sneaked around the front of the house. He caught all three of the policemen and ordered them to stand still.

After talking for several minutes, Lieutenant Smith walked over to him to show him the warrant. When Morton reached for the warrant, the policeman dropped his flashlight, grabbed the shotgun and jerked Morton to the ground.

Morton, who was described as being about half drunk, jumped off the ground and came after the officer. Lieutenant Smith dropped the shotgun and hit Morton with his fist, knocking him to the ground.

Morton came back for more and Lieutenant Smith knocked him down again and the other policemen got him handcuffed before he could get back up.

Lieutenant Smith, by the way, removed the shell from the shotgun and is carrying it around in a safe place in his pocket.

Theatre to Meet

The Carteret Community Theatre will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the recreation building, Morehead City.

Lonzy "Baltimore" Bell waived preliminary hearing in Morehead City recorder's court yesterday. He is charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill Allan George, colored janitor of the Morehead City School.

Bell was picked up at 2 a.m. Saturday after George was shot in the right leg in front of Dudley's Place, 1313 Fisher St. Lt. Joe Smith of the Morehead City police force caught Bell as he was walking across the school ballfield.

He readily admitted shooting George and said that he had meant to kill him, according to Lieutenant Smith. He told the police officer that he had only one shot in the gun and threw it away after shooting George.

Lieutenant Smith says that George and Bell had been having trouble all Friday afternoon. Bell then got the gun and hid in some bushes near Dudley's and waited for George to show up.

When his victim did appear, Bell cut down on him but shot low because the bushes spoiled his aim. George had three buckshot removed from his knee.

Bell is being held without bond to await trial in superior court. Police found the shotgun Sunday when some colored children were playing with it.

Goldsboro Man Struck by Car

The funeral service for David Mazingo, 44, Goldsboro, who was accidentally killed in an automobile accident near Goldsboro Friday night, was conducted Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Mazingo was struck by a car driven by Miss Daisy Brock of Morehead City. According to the state highway patrol, Mr. Mazingo got out of his car and stepped into the path of Miss Brock's automobile, which was proceeding east.

With Miss Brock, who is employed at Raleigh, was Miss Barbara Oglesby of Morehead City. No inquest was held and Mrs. Mazingo, who was with her husband at the time of the accident, said her husband opened the door of his car and got out just as the Brock car was going past.

Besides his wife, Mr. Mazingo is survived by six children, six sisters and two brothers.

Poisonous Fish Caught

Caught from the Danco Sept. 1 was one of the few few poisonous fish in these waters. A scorpion fish, it is being held here by the man who hooked it, Mike Cybrynski, Greensboro. It is a brilliant orange and deep red color. The fish's top fin is ribbed with hollow "quills" through which poison is thrown from a sac along its back. The poison is ejected when the fish comes in contact with an enemy. When man is hurt by the scorpion fish, it's usually because he grabs it from a line before it's dead or in rare instances, steps on it. Persons who have been injured by the fish can become seriously ill.

The county's school needs over the next 10 years and the current need for whipping the mosquitoes were discussed by the county board at its session yesterday afternoon.

Members of the County Board of Education presented county commissioners with a comprehensive report on the growth of the number of pupils since 1947, the school facilities added and the school facilities that will be needed by 1961.

The education board specifically requested a million dollars now and a second million five years from now.

The comprehensive report (which will be given in detail in Friday's paper) was presented by H. L. Joslyn, county superintendent of schools. George Roberts Wallace, member of the board of education, suggested that a joint committee from the county board and the education board be appointed to work out details of financing.

Such a committee was not appointed yesterday but the county board accepted the education board's report and said the matter would be studied.

A. D. Fulford, sanitarian, in charge of mosquito control, presented a financial report on the mosquito control program covering the period from June 13 to Sept. 6, 1957. Mr. Fulford said that at present the county has spent $149.40 more than it has on hand for mosquito control.

The board authorized him to continue with the spraying program in the hope that the state will allot emergency funds to Carteret and that the county's remaining allotment for 1957-58, which is $2,000, will be available soon.

Commissioner Skinner Chalk's question, "What will we do for money next summer?" was not answered.

Chairman Moses Howard reported that Mr. Ussery, entomologist with the State Board of Health, spent two and a half days in the county last week studying the mosquito problem.

Chairman Howard expressed appreciation to Beaufort, Morehead City and Newport for lending the county the spraying machines while the county's machines were out of commission last week.

Mr. Fulford said that a new truck and new, larger spraying machine were scheduled to be delivered yesterday afternoon.

Commissioner Harrell Taylor commented that the spraying program is necessary, but it doesn't go far enough. "Not until you destroy the breeding grounds will you be able to get rid of the mosquitoes," he said.

Mr. Fulford estimated that $3,000 is needed to carry out spraying until the end of the season, which will be "the first killing frost."

Appointing of a county Civil Defense director was discussed, but no action was taken.

Robert L. Garner, county electrical inspector, was appointed to make monthly electrical inspections of the schools.

Woman Ordered To Leave Town

Patricia McMahon, 21, of Massachusetts was given 24 hours to leave Morehead City yesterday by Herbert Phillips, judge of Morehead City recorder's court.

She was charged with breaking and entering Aspenberg's Grocery and cohabitation with Phillip B. Moore. Moore appealed a one-year jail term when he was convicted.

Morehead City patrolmen Buck Newsome and Junior O'Neal spotted the woman walking down Bridges Street at 1:30 a.m. Saturday morning with a package. She tried to hide when she saw the car and when they stopped to see what was wrong she said that some men had been after her.

The policemen carried her to her apartment, only to find out later that Aspenberg's Grocery had been robbed. They started a search for her (she had disappeared from her apartment) that ended in her arrest by Lt. Joe Smith, who got a tip on where she had gone.

Moore was picked up at the apartment where the policemen had dropped the McMahon woman.

Beaufort policeman Otis Willis arrested John T. Styron of Beaufort Sunday night. He charged him with driving drunk and hit and run. Styron allegedly hit a parked car belonging to Robert Bruce Piner, Beaufort.

Four federal officers, Beaufort Police Chief Guy Springle, ABC officer Marshall Ayscue and deputy sheriff Bruce Edwards raided 322 Queen St. Friday afternoon. They found six half-gallon jars of non-taxpaid whiskey and arrested Joel Barn. It was Barn's third arrest since January, according to Chief Springle.

The Rev. Robert Suggs, pastor of the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Beaufort, is conducting a revival at the Emanuel Pentecostal Holiness Church, Raleigh. The revival began Sunday and will continue through Sept. 15.
