

Outstanding Club Member To be Honored Friday Night

Farm Bureau

teper. Mr. Creech has been a member of the Farm Bureau since 1932.

Since Mr. Creech was already "sold" on the Farm Bureau, Mr. Stroud had no trouble writing up the membership and collecting the $5 annual dues. Like most bureau solicitors, Mr. Stroud reviewed the advantages of membership in the Farm Bureau to show Mr. Creech that his money was well spent.

"The Farm Bureau provides income tax service for farmers, gasoline tax refund service, notary service, hospital care and hospital saving associations, a mutual insurance company for auto, farm, fire and life insurance and a strong organization that can get things done on a state and national level," he said.

"The Farm Bureau has a definite platform and sticks to it," Mr. Stroud continued. "The bureau is dedicated to preserving our freedoms, telling the farmers' story, promoting rural development, protecting the rights of states, asking for economy in government, expanding foreign trade, improving rural health services and getting adequate educational facilities."

Mr. Stroud concluded, "Our program is based on the idea that free thinking individuals, when given the facts and after discussing them together, will reach decisions in the best interest of all.

"This is how farmers, through an organized grass roots plan, get results on the county, state and national levels. The thinking of organized farmers is needed in America more today than ever before to protect and preserve our freedom."

The benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. J. E. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Church, Beaufort circuit.

Rotarians Hear Report on Port

Bill Davies spoke to the Morehead City Rotary Club about the new grain facility at the port Thursday night.

One of the major complaints of the ship companies using the port, said Mr. Davies, was that only one cargo, tobacco, could be picked up here, but with the present grain facility, although there is small storage capacity at Morehead City, more ships will find it desirable to make Morehead a port of call.

Grain is being brought to the terminal by both rail and truck and there are more ships booked for grain cargo now than for tobacco at any time past, he said. Grain is a commodity wanted in foreign countries.

Every person should be vitally interested in the port operation, said Mr. Davies, as it affects the economy of the whole community.

Visiting Rotarians were Lloyd Wygant, Ashland, Ohio, and Jack S. Sharp, Blowing Rock, Jim Sanders had Allen Knott, Kinston, as his guest.

Coast Guard Ups Limit in Active Duty Program

Norfolk—Rear Adm. Harold C. Moore, commander of the Fifth Coast Guard District, announced today that openings in the Coast Guard Reserve's six-month active duty program have been doubled for the months of October and November.

Under this plan, men between the ages of 17 and 21 will go on active duty for six months and then train in a reserve unit in their hometown. High school seniors may defer this active service until graduation if they prefer.

Further information on this program is available at the Coast Guard Recruiting Station in the postoffice building, Morehead City.

Toastmasters Club Sets Meeting for Tomorrow

The county Toastmasters Club will meet at Radio Station WMBL at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Dr. Russell Outlaw will be toastmaster and O. N. Allred will be topic master.

Prepared speakers will be David Willis, P. D. Bray, W. C. Wilkins and Jasper Bell. Their critics will be Dr. W. L. Woodard, Cecil Smith, John Baptist and F. H. Geer Jr.

The bottom of oceans are often rugged rather than flat. There are enormous sunken mountain ranges such as the gigantic Mid-Atlantic Ridge.

Lions Campaign Nets $534.96

Cliff Edwards, chairman of the Morehead City Lions Club White Cane drive, reported at the Lions meeting Thursday night that a total of $534.96 has been received to date. The money came from the sale of memberships in the NC Association for the Blind and from the sale of White Cane Pins on the street.

Last year the Lions raised slightly over $300 in the drive. Mr. Edwards pointed out that the money was well-spent. At present there are industries for the blind at Greensboro, Asheville, Charlotte, Winston-Salem and Durham.

President E. C. Watson read a letter from the state highway commission acknowledging the petition sent by the Lions concerning the establishment of a car ferry from Ocracoke to Cedar Island.

The club secretary was instructed to send $50 to the county welfare office to help pay for glasses. The Lions give $300 per year for this cause.

Next Monday night members of the Morehead City club will be at the Inlet Inn, Beaufort, to discuss the formation of a Lions Club in Beaufort. Anyone interested in such a club is invited to the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The following night the Morehead City Lions will visit the Down East Lions Club at Sea Level. State secretary Norman Trueblood and deputy district governor James Crowe will attend.

Visitors at Thursday night's meeting were Tom Hewitt, Morehead City, L. J. Hill, Beaufort, and Lion Joe Waltner, New Bern.

Power Goes Off Sunday Night in Morehead City

Power went off in Morehead City for six minutes shortly before 10 p.m. Sunday.

Carolina Power and Light Co. reported that a pole was leaning on lines at Fry Roofing. To get the pole out of the lines, the power flow was cut. The county was swept all day Sunday and most of yesterday by northeast winds and rain.

Guardsmen Can Pick Up Storm Duty Checks Now

National Guardsmen of the Morehead City unit can pick up checks now at the armory for their duty during Helene. Sgt. Dennis Goodwin, administrator, said the men must pick their checks up in person.

Total pay for the Guardsmen from 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 27, to 12:55 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 28, amounted to $545.68.

'Dodge Delivers the Best'

"No words of praise are too high for the 1959 Dodge," says Halsey Paul, left, of Paul Motor Co., Beaufort. For the delight of any day, drive a Dodge, he declares. The new Dodge is on display now at Paul Motor Co., Front Street.

The Anatomy of the Hula Hoop

Figure A shows how a child keeps a hoop in rotary motion by rapid reciprocating movement of the pelvis. All flexors and extensors of the vertebral column, the pelvis, and the thigh are used (arrows). Figure B shows how rapid tilting of the pelvis is synchronized with sagittal flexion-extension. Muscle groups act singly and then in concert to produce gyratory motion. The muscles involved (shown by arrows) are iliacus, psoas, quadratus, lumborum and erector spinae.

Cartoon below shows an adult who thought there was nothing to it.

Put down that hula hoop, Pop, unless you want a painful reminder that your lumbo-sacral joint went into lazy adult retirement years ago.

For the benefit of those puzzled parents who wonder what mysterious power is employed to keep a hoop gaily spinning around juvenile hips, Scope Weekly — a medical newspaper published for doctors by the Upjohn Co. — took hula hooping in for a clinical examination. Here's the verdict:

Hula hooping is an excellent form of exercise for youngsters, but can cause disastrous consequences in an adult. This is because it involves muscles that the average adult doesn't ordinarily use.

Patrol Looks For Hit-and-Run Car

A 1957 Ford driven by Otis Earl Lewis, route 1 Beaufort, was sideswiped by a hit-and-run driver at 10:30 Saturday night on the West Beaufort Road.

Patrolman W. J. Smith Jr. said that Lewis was headed east when a car turned west on to the West Beaufort Road from highway 101. It was going at a high rate of speed and hit Lewis' car on the left side and continued on.

The hit-and-run car is believed to be a green and white 1956 Ford. A headlight rim from the unidentified car was found on the road.

If anyone knows of such a car with a missing headlight rim, or knows any other helpful information about it, they are asked to call the highway patrol, PA #3772.
