Four to Attend Welfare Session

Miss Georgie Hughes of the county welfare department announces that she will attend the annual North Carolina Public Welfare Institute to be held in Raleigh Nov. 12-14.

Going with Miss Hughes will be Mrs. C. G. Holland, chairman of the county welfare board, Mrs. Elizabeth Easterling, a case worker, and one other staff member.

Dr. Ellen Winston, commissioner of the State Board of Public Welfare which sponsors the meeting, states that many organizations interested in programs related to public welfare are expected to be represented among the 500

J. A. DuBeise, Morehead City Chamber of Commerce Manager, has released a progress report for the first 11 months of 1958. The report includes a financial statement.

The chamber budget for 1958 was $10,465. Of that amount, $9,383.90 has been collected and $8,759.84 spent. The chamber has a current balance of $624.06.

Salaries to the chamber manager and his secretary accounted for $5,014.99. Advertising via pictorial brochures, maps, printing, magazines and newspapers cost $1,102.68 during the first 10 months of the year.

Office expense to date has been $775.73. Postage was figured at $504.26. Various industrial development projects cost the chamber $588.55.

Travel expense to meetings, hearings and conventions was $292.03. Telephone and telegraph bills were $192.30. The cost of maintaining membership, through collection costs, meetings and bulletins, was set at $164.30.

An old bill of $100 was paid and $25 of petty cash was spent during the first 10 months of the year.

Mr. DuBois listed the achievements of the various chamber committees. They follow:

Industrial development committee, W. B. Chalk chairman—This committee encouraged the expansion of local businesses, invited the Cooperative Savings and Loan Association, compiled and published an industrial survey of the county and cooperated with the state and Southern Railway in seeking new industries.

Advertising and publicity, Dick Parker chairman—This committee has published a pictorial brochure on the county, furnished photos and editorial matter to papers, magazines, radio and tv, promoted more traffic on US 70 and answered over 8,000 inquiries with complete information on business, recreation, scenic and historic assets of the community.

Transportation committee, P. H. Geer Jr. chairman—This committee has promoted a four-lane highway from Havelock to the port, worked for a new bridge across the Newport River to allow for port expansion, promoted an independent state waterways commission, pushed construction of a new bridge across North River and worked for completion of the All-Seashore Highway.

Tourists and conventions committee, J. Morton Davis chairman—This committee helped invite more conventions to the Morehead persons attending from over the state. All 100 county departments of public welfare will be represented.

Among speakers who will appear on the two day institute program are Judge Gustav L. Schramm of the juvenile court of Alleghany County, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Thomas J. Waxter, director, Maryland State Department of Public Welfare.

Anne Wilkens, professor, University of Texas Graduate School of Social Work; and Reba Choate, Washington, D. C., principal welfare specialist, Bureau of Public Assistance, US Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

City area than have ever been held here before. The past summer was also a record tourist season.

Civic affairs and public relations committee, Rufus Butner chairman—This committee promoted the formation of the county planning commission, urged landscaping and completion of the town park, improved mosquito control measures and worked with town and county school officials to improve schools.

Merchants committee, George Whittle chairman—This committee has taken over the Christmas lighting program. New and more impressive fixtures have been ordered for this year.

Military affairs committee, Frank Cassiano chairman—This committee has brought closer cooperation with our Marine Corps neighbors at Cherry Point and Camp Lejeune.
