

In This Issue: Salute to Seadogs

As the final seconds ticked off the clock, the big scoreboard in Reynolds gym told the story of the Seadog victory that gave them the state championship. Final score: Beaufort 62, St. Pauls 54.

It was a sly wink coach Mac McQuaid gave after the scoreboard flashed the final 62-54 in the St. Pauls-Beaufort game Saturday night, March 14. After this happy scene, the players dunked their coach in a shower. Some Seadogs!

Beaufort cheerleaders, looking snappy as usual in their green bermuda shorts and white shirts, kept the Reynolds gym jumping with their yells. For more pictures, see the special tabloid section in this issue.

Harkers Island Primary Grades to Give Program

At 7 p.m. Thursday the primary grades of Harkers Island School will present their annual spring program. Admission will be 25 cents for children and 40 cents for adults.

"Voices of the Spring" will be presented by the first grade under the direction of Mrs. Rebecca Bell. The dainty spring number centers around a lost child, stolen by a gypsy and left in a garden.

In the garden the lost child has thrilling adventures with characters such as the Bunnies, Snoopy and Droopy, The Three Bears, Mary's Lamb, The Three Bears, Bambi, a deer, the Wolf, and the Three Kittens. Through their guidance the lost child is reunited with her own father and mother.

10 Restaurants Take Part in Coffee Day

Mrs. L. E. Kelly and Mrs. W. H. Jones, co-chairmen of the coffee day program of the Easter seal campaign, announce that Friday will be coffee day in Morehead City. Participating restaurants will donate coffee receipts to the crippled children's fund.

A record number of restaurants are taking part this year, according to the co-chairmen. They are Sanitary Restaurant, Morehead City Drug Store, the Sport Shop, Broadway Cafe, Capt. Bill's, Busy Bee Restaurant, Blue Ribbon Restaurant, Mrs. Russell Williams' Restaurant, Mom and Pop's Cafe and Dora Dinette.

Kirchofer Resigns
R. C. Kirchofer, president of Anvil Brand, garment making firm at High Point, has resigned. Kirchofer is head of the bankrupt Kirchofer and Arnold investment firm, Raleigh, which had previously controlled Anvil Brand as well as Morehead City Shipbuilding Corp.

Hospital Starts Program to Raise $500,000 for Totally New Plant

Present Morehead City Facilities Inadequate

A program to raise $500,000 for construction of a new Morehead City Hospital has been endorsed by the hospital trustees, medical and nursing staff.

The campaign will get under way "in the immediate future", announces A. B. Roberts, chairman of the Morehead City Hospital board of trustees.

If $500,000 can be raised over a two to three-year period, hospital officials and town officials propose applying for $750,000 from the federal government under the Hill-Burton law.

This legislation permits the federal government to furnish 60 per cent of a total hospital cost, with the community furnishing 40. The new hospital would be a $1 1/4 million plant.

The Morehead City Hospital is a town-owned institution, but persons concerned over the crowded conditions at the hospital and lack of modern facilities feel that $500,000 may be raised more easily by voluntary contribution than by floating bonds and raising the tax rate.

At present, 10 cents of the town's tax rate is levied for the hospital and all of the town's liquor store revenue is turned over to the hospital.

Town and hospital officials have conferred with the State Medical Care Commission relative to the hospital needs in Morehead City. The Medical Care Commission, which must pass on all hospital construction in the state, has stated that it is not advisable to attempt to add to or renovate the present hospital on Shepard Street.

The commission has advised a completely new plant, according to Mr. Roberts, on a site consisting of 15 to 20 acres, situated beyond the present town limits. If that plan materializes, the present hospital property would be offered for sale.

To publicize the building fund campaign, and to raise money, doctors, nurses and others allied with hospital operation will undertake a home-made salted peanut sales program.

The nuts will be bagged in 10-cent bags and in one-pound plastic boxes. They will be distributed on the beach, in Morehead City and throughout the county.

At each sales point, a printed placard will invite persons not only to purchase the nuts, but to make a larger donation toward the hospital fund.

Site Sought For 4-H Camp

- Group Meets Thursday To Draft Plans
- 25 Acres Required; Chairmen Named

Hopes of establishing a 4-H summer camp in Carteret hinge largely on finding a site.

Carteret residents interested in 4-H work and the proposed 4-H Foundation met Thursday at the country club to discuss the camp. They are interested in having a site donated. Other possibilities of obtaining a site are also being considered.

No ocean-front site is wanted. The site should preferably be on a sound, river or lake, according to Earl Lewis, chairman of the county unit of the 4-H development program. Others assisting Mr. Lewis are Walter Teich, chairman of special gifts, and Mrs. G. T. Spivey, chairman of the general fund-raising committee.

The immediate major objectives of the program are scholarships and 4-H camp sites. Carteret has been termed ideal as a camp location.

The camp would accommodate 150 boys and girls a week for a period of 10 weeks during the summer. The 4-H'ers would come from all parts of the state. The camp facilities would also be available for other activities throughout the year.

At least 25 acres of land are needed. Money would then be required for constructing the camp. J. A. DuBois, manager of the chamber of commerce, is enthusiastic about the possibilities.

Mr. DuBois said that a camp attracts a lot of other income to an area. For example, he already has received letters from two families who want to rent cottages here while their sons attend Camp Morehead.

Attending Thursday's meeting, in addition to Mr. DuBois, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Teich were W. H. Potter, Dr. Russell Outlaw and Moses Howard.

Church Moves To New Location

The First Pentecostal Holiness Church, Beaufort, is building a new sanctuary on the airport road off highway 101 a mile from Beaufort.

The church was formerly located at Live Oak and Cedar Streets. That property has been sold to the Phillips 66 oil company.

The frame church on the lot has been torn down and concrete blocks that had been placed there for a new building have been moved to the airport road site.

While the new church is in process of construction, the congregation will worship in the Scout building on Pollock Street.

The new building, which will consist of church sanctuary and Sunday School rooms will be built at a cost of $30,000.

The church congregation numbers about 80. The pastor is the Rev. Robert Suggs.

Bridge Bid Asked

The State Highway Commission has called for a bid on .91 mile in construction of a bridge across north river, five miles northeast of Beaufort. Bids will be opened March 31 and reviewed by the highway commission Friday, April 3.

miracle

A lost purse was found and the finder returned it intact.

This happened Friday in Morehead City but nobody knows who found the purse. It was $74.

The purse belonged to Mrs. J. V. Waters, Morehead City. She lost it across the street from the First-Citizens Bank. When she went to look for it, it was gone. She was sure that she'd never see that $74 again.

When she got home, someone at the First-Citizens Bank and Trust Co. called and said her pocketbook had been brought into the bank. Everything that was in it was still there.

Now the Waters are looking for their Good Samaritan.

96 B&PW Club Members Meet At Hotel Sunday

Ninety-six Business and Professional Club women of district 9 attended their spring meeting at the Morehead Biltmore Sunday afternoon.

The meeting ended with a seafood dinner and distribution of door prizes.

During the business session, Mrs. Billy Haire, New Bern, was elected district director for the coming year. Mrs. Dolly Burton, Onslow Club, was elected to the state nominating committee, with Mrs. Marshall Ayscue, Carteret Club, as alternate.

The guest speaker was Miss Lois Frazier, Raleigh, immediate past president of the state federation. She was introduced by Dr. Rachel Davis, Kinston. Mrs. James C. Smith, president of the Carteret Club, introduced special guests.

Routine reports were heard. Special music prior to the business session was presented by Miss Ruth Durham, Beaufort, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Grant Leonard at the piano.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. W. I. Loftin, who was in charge of the program. Two guests of the Carteret club were Mrs. J. C. Sherrill Sr., Atlantic Beach, and Mrs. Larry McComb, Beaufort.

Mrs. Beulah Worley, district director, presented a gift for outstanding achievement during the year to the New Bern Club.

The programs bore a photo cover of Fort Macon. An historical sketch on the fort was presented to each person attending the meeting. Guests of honor were presented chrysanthemum corsages.

Mrs. C. L. Beam, Carteret club, was in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Rotarians Entertain Daughters Thursday

Daughters were the guests of their Rotary fathers Thursday night at the Morehead City Rotary Club meeting at the Rex Restaurant. Dr. Al Chestnut, father of three boys, was program chairman.

Mrs. S. H. Barrow introduced Mrs. Ernest Mais who gave a facial demonstration. The model was Doty Chalk, daughter of Rotarian W. B. Chalk.

Visiting Rotarians were Harold Cadmus of High Point and Dr. David Farrior, Beaufort. Allen Knott, Kinston, was a guest of Jim Bob Sanders.

Vo-Ag Students, Farmers Complete Welding Course at Newport School

Seven Newport vocational agriculture boys and a number of farmers from throughout the county completed a twelve-hour arc welding class in Newport School Thursday night.

The welding class was sponsored by the Newport vocational agriculture department and C. S. Long, teacher of agriculture, in Newport School. Four skilled welders from Rocky Mount were the instructors. They were John Craven, Carl Tippton, Floyd Killelte, and James Hopkins.

"The art of metal working, and particularly arc welding has advanced to a high degree of importance in our modern society. Whether in the school shop, the garage, on the farm, on the production line or on the work bench of the hobbyist, the arc welding machine plays a major role in both construction and repairs," Mr. Long comments.

Cecil Hall, Fred Simmons, and Ronnie Kelly all of Newport.

Milton Truckner, Pelletier; Neal Campen and Kerney Merrill, Beaufort. Other farmers attending one to two nights were Clarence Millis, C. T. Garner, W. R. Roberts, Fred Kelly, Billy Roberts, Manly Pollard, Francis Garner, Leon Williams, and Leon Harris, Harlowe.

Newport vo-ag boys completing the course were William B. Allen Jr., Jimmy Mann, Dicky Garner, Ronnie Edwards, Mitchell Smith, Allen Kelly and Leon Youngblood Jr.

Roasted oysters and grilled hamburgers were served and sponsored by the Newport Adult Farmer Association Thursday afternoon prior to the beginning of the last class. Regular member and instructors were present with their oyster knives and a good appetite.

Coast Guard Makes Two Trips

Coast Guardsmen from Fort Macon assisted two troubled boats over the weekend.

On Thursday at 5:15 p.m. the tower lookout at Fort Macon observed a 26-foot motor launch in trouble in the inlet. At 5:40 the Coast Guard 30-footer departed to investigate and arrived on the scene at 6:20.

The boat, which is owned by Ernest Piner of Beaufort, was taken in tow and moored at Beaufort. The crew of the Coast Guard rescue vessel were Curtis F. Josie, BM-3 and Harold F. Halsey Jr., seaman.

On Saturday the Coast Guard station received a telephone call at 3 a.m. from George Mewborn of LaGrange. Mewborn said his son and three other people were overdue at New Bern in a 17-foot outboard.

At 3:15 the 30-footer was dispatched to search the Neuse River area near Morehead City. At 3:30 a.m. notice was received that the missing persons had been located at Point of Marsh by a Marine helicopter. The 30-footer, whose crew was Kent Flowers, bos'un mate, Charles Jarman, EM-2 and seaman Albert Gillikin, then returned to the station.
