Ida Mae James Gets Suspended Term Thursday

Ida Mae James appeared in county recorder's court Thursday to answer charges of assault and was sentenced to six months in jail after the court found her guilty. The sentence was suspended on three years good behavior and payment of court costs.

David Evans Baxter appeared before the court, charged with having no operator's license. He paid court costs.

Lester Arthur Jr. and Richard Suggs, both charged with speeding, got off with light fines. Judgment was that Arthur pay $5 and court costs while Suggs paid costs.

Theodore Lawrence was ordered to pay $25 and court costs after being found guilty of driving on the wrong side of the road. He was also charged with drunk driving, speeding, and possession of non-taxpaid whiskey but was acquitted on these counts.

The case against Alford Taylor, charged with speeding, destroying personal property, and assault was ruled malicious prosecution and the prosecuting witness was made to pay court costs.

Bad check charges against George Equils and Josiah Long brought an order from the court for them to pay court costs and to honor the checks.

Carroll Gene Davenport forfeited bond when he was called and failed to appear. He was charged with public drunkenness and using loud and profane language in public.

In another case in which bond was forfeited, Walter Sabiston, charged with improper parking, was called and failed to appear.

Violation of shrimping laws brought orders to pay court costs to Duncan and Henry Willis.

Clifton Lee Glover was given 30 days in jail after the court found him guilty of drunkenness on the highway. The sentence was suspended on payment of $25 and court costs.

Sammie Johnson was given 60 days in jail and roadwork after being found guilty of assault and Clyde Everett paid $10 and costs for turning in a false alarm.

Roger L. Trott was taxed $25 and court costs for using loud and profane language in public and Juanita Rivers paid $10 and costs on charges of public drunkenness and using loud and profane language.

Highway Commission Wins 1958 Safety Award

Raleigh — The State Highway Commission has been notified it has earned the "Award of Honor" from the National Safety Council for its employee safety record during 1958.

The "Award of Honor" is the highest citation given by the Safety Council and North Carolina's Highway Commission is one of only six similar state agencies to have ever received it. The 1958 award went to only two states—North Carolina and Texas.

438 Attend Clinics

Attending the pre-school clinics throughout the county this spring were 438 prospective first graders, according to the county health department, which conducts the clinics. This number is the fewest ever to attend pre-school clinics but the health department believes many children were taken to their private doctors for check-ups.

Woman Resumes Work on Degree After 60 Years

Ithaca, N. Y. (AP)—After an interruption of 60 years, Mrs. Katherine L. Bradley, 84, is working again for her master's degree in Latin and English at Cornell University.

Except for writing a thesis, Mrs. Bradley had completed all the requirements when she was a graduate student at Cornell in 1897.

"I didn't write my thesis then," she recalls, "because I decided I wouldn't go on with my teaching after all."

In 1897 she married Lyman R. Bradley, also a Cornell student.

Candidates for the master's degree are required to write a paper on an original research problem and to pass a final comprehensive oral examination. Regarding the subject of her thesis, Mrs. Bradley says:

"I think it probably will deal with 'pax' (peace) in Livy, or perhaps with Tacitus." Livy and Tacitus were Roman historians.

Mrs. Bradley taught Latin and Greek in a private school near Philadelphia for a year before entering Cornell in 1896.

The widow says her four children and some of her six grandchildren studied the classics, but not the way she did at Smith and Cornell.

"Now," she says, "they dress up in togas and lie down to eat. They haven't the grounding and discipline we had."

Mrs. Bradley resides most of the year in Tallahassee, Fla. Her summer home is in Spencer, near Cornell's campus.

Last year she delivered a four-hour address on the 10 minor Hebrew prophets in the Bible before a church study group.

Cornell has other ties in the Bradley family. Her daughter, K. Mary Stimson, was a member of the class of 1932; a son, Benjamin G. Bradley was in the class of 1934. Two sons-in-law, Tuure A. Pasto and Clinton R. Stimson, were in the classes of 1934 and 1935, respectively.

The Wishful Public

New York (AP) — The Cancer Fund is $18.94 richer because of the public's penchant for tossing coins into fountains. The Renault display at the recent International Automobile show included a lily pond, which although not intended as a wishing well, turned out to be just that. The money was donated to the Cancer Fund.

Pupil Nominated For English Honor

George William Huntley III has been nominated for the annual Achievement Awards program, sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE).

In its second year, the awards program is being conducted throughout the nation to grant recognition to outstanding high school seniors for excellence in English. The writing abilities and literary awareness of each nominee will be judged by local state committees.

The winners will be announced in January 1960, by the NCTE, and the names of the Awards winners will be sent to every college and university with the recommendation that these students be considered for scholarship assistance.

According to J. N. Hook, NCTE executive secretary, the Awards program was initiated last year in response to President Eisenhower's statement that America needs its Emersons as well as its Einsteins.

Founded in 1911, the NCTE is a professional, not-for-profit organization of teachers of English at all levels. Currently the circulation of the council's five professional publications is over 51,000.
