Beaufort Sets Yule Parade For 7 P.M. Dec. 4

Beaufort merchants are planning a big Christmas celebration. New lights have been ordered for the business district and a parade is being planned for Dec. 4 at 7 p.m. Santa Claus will make his annual pre-Christmas visit. A community sing will follow at the courthouse.

Mrs. Wiley Lewis, general chairman, has announced the following committees, who are to have separate meetings this week and are scheduled to meet with the Merchants' Association Nov. 10 at the town hall:

Santa Claus, Daniel Lipman and Willard Willis; putting up Christmas lights and securing a truck for Santa, Carl Hatsell, Jack Barnes, L. J. Hill, Edgar Cole and the fire department.

Scouts and other parade units, Jack Neal, Crip Jones, G. T. Spivey, Bobby Martin and Ronald Earl Mason; bands and parade line-up, T. H. Potter, John Jones, and Clarence Stamer; pets and children, William Roy Hamilton, Johnny Willis, Mrs. Charles Noe and Harry Whitehurst.

Donations for Christmas festivities, Clarence Guthrie, Jim Wheatley, Leslie Moore, Jarvis Herring, Ralph Eudy, Calvin Jones, Gilbert Potter and Mrs. Ben Gibbs; advertising, Will Downum, John Steed and Finley Thompson.

Floats, J. O. Barbour Jr., Mrs. Glen Harris, Glenn Adair, J. P. Harris and Gerald Hill; parking meters, Bert Brooks and Billy Davis.

Lt. Lester Hill Reported Killed

Word was received Monday by Mrs. Myrtle Hill, Marshallberg, that her son, Lt. Lester Norris Hill, a Navy pilot, was missing.

Information Wednesday night reported that he was killed in a jet plane crash at San Diego while on an aerial tactical mission. The plane apparently exploded after take-off and crashed in the bay. Divers were scheduled to begin searching yesterday for the wreckage.

Lieutenant Hill was expected to be promoted in the near future. In addition to his wife, son, and mother, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles Conway, Marshallberg.

Fire Burns Apartment

Fire burned out the apartment of Marie Marbley, 1401 Fisher St., Morehead City, at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Marbley, a cook at Morehead City hospital, was at work at the time. Her grandson, Harold Marbley Jr., 18, who was home in bed, was awakened by the smoke. He turned in the fire alarm at 13th and Fisher Streets and then awakened people in the other apartments.

Firemen said that the blaze was probably caused from an imperfectly sealed crack around the stove. Mrs. Marbley said she had no insurance.

Saved from the apartment was a couch, some bedroom furniture, and the stove. She lost her living room furniture and tv. Her kitchen range and refrigerator were also damaged.

Firemen kept the blaze from spreading to the other apartments or the house next door. The apartment house is owned by Bea Collins, 1105 Avery St. She is reported to have carried insurance on it.

Jeep Recovered
The Jeep belonging to Aaron Craig, Newport, which was stolen this summer was discovered last Thursday night near the new schoolhouse road at Havelock. A hunter came upon it. The Jeep was the worse for wear. Sheriff Hugh Salter said a spring was broken and a tire was flat, among other things.

Carteret voters went along with the rest of the state Tuesday in approving issuance of state bonds amounting to almost $34½ million. The vote was light statewide as well as here. The total number of votes cast in Carteret was 1,348, the elections board announced yesterday. In a presidential election, as many as 5,000 sometimes go to the polls.

Getting the most votes for, and the fewest against, was the issue calling for $12,053,000 for mental institutions. This also got a heavy favorable vote statewide. The next most popular issue in the county was $140,000 for the State Blind Rehabilitation Center. This was followed by the vote for $18,891,000 for educational institutions, which got a big favorable vote throughout the state.

The most unpopular issue was $250,000 for historical sites. In this county, it got 545 unfavorable votes, but was still carried with a vote of 715.

Vote on the issues in this county was as follows:

Issues	For	Against
1. Educational institutions	1,077	235
2. Mental institutions	1,173	154
3. Community colleges	969	322
4. Hospitals	1,076	234
5. Armories	763	496
6. Training schools	1,053	236
7. Blind center	1,162	156
8. Southport port	777	502
9. Historical sites	715	545

Children List Favorite Costumes for Halloween

By ELLEN BORDEAUX

With the approach of Halloween tomorrow, little folks look forward to dressing up in their favorite costume and going out to trick or treat. A number of them will be trick or treating for UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, this year and the majority will be dressed as witches, goblins or other characters of the Halloween season.

Mickey Simmons, 13, Newport, was asked what kind of costume he would choose, if he could have any kind he wanted. "I'd rather be a skeleton, I guess," he replied. When asked why, he declared it would be "more scary."

Roberta Hodges, 6, Havelock, would love to dress up as Sleeping Beauty, "because she's so pretty." Influence of the Walt Disney film, Sleeping Beauty, evidenced itself again in the answer of Marsha Hunt, 9, Beaufort, who said she supposed she wanted to be like Sleeping Beauty, because she had heard the story so many times.

Little 6-year-old Terri Broda, Beaufort, whose big brown eyes grew bigger when asked what she would like to wear on Halloween, said she wanted to be a witch, so she could scare people. Right now, Terri's waiting for her two new teeth to appear.

Sandy Golda, 8, Newport, is going to dress as a majorette. The reason is obvious. Her mother has already bought her a majorette costume!

The witch crew would be strengthened if Vicki Johnson, 6, Havelock, and Candy Jones, 5, Morehead City, had their way. Vicki would like to be a witch "because they look bad." Candy says, "I'd like to be a witch because I like them. But I'm afraid of them too." Then as an afterthought, as if to reassure her listeners (and herself too), she added, "There really aren't any such things as witches."

Rodney Hunt, 7, Beaufort, chooses a ghost costume. When asked why, he answered, "Why not?" Jimmy Miller, 8, Beaufort, goes along with the ghost brigade. He's in favor of being a ghost "because they're scary looking."

Freddie Beaver, 9, Morehead City, casts his vote for a cowboy outfit. "I'd want to be a cowboy because I like cowboys. I like to watch them on tv."

Jane Davis, 6, Beaufort, would like to dress as a pirate "because they're ugly."

Dick Babcock Jr., 8, Beaufort, finds his favorite rig in the animal world. "I'd like to be a rabbit," he announces. "I like Bugs Bunny."

Some youngsters apparently like the spook theory of Halloween, while others feel that it's simply a time to play-act and dress up as their favorite character or hero. Whatever their aim, they are taking advantage of a wonderful night in the year when everyone can transform himself for a few magic hours into somebody else.

Charles T. Jones of Morehead City, charged with public drunkenness for the second time within 12 months, was sentenced to 30 days in jail. The court suspended the jail sentence on payment of $15 and court costs and one year's good behavior on the part of the defendant.

Judge Herbert O. Phillips continued seven cases until next week's term of court.

Charles McNeill, assistant operations manager of the Morehead City state port was the principal speaker at the Monday night meeting of the Beaufort Jaycees. He spoke on port development.

Giving a report on the district meeting held last week was Bobby Safrin. Members were reminded of the second quarterly board meeting to be held in Rocky Mount Nov. 6, 7, and 8.

The club expressed their thanks to Wiley Taylor for the filing cabinet which he donated and also expressed their regret at losing Mrs. Street Wetherington who has served their dinners at the Scout building. Mrs. Wetherington has taken over the dining room at the Inlet Inn.

Woman Appeals Morehead City Court Verdict

Shirley Maxine Mason of Beaufort was fined $200 and court costs Monday in Morehead City's recorder's court after she was found guilty of a multitude of traffic violations.

Included in charges against the woman were citations for speeding, careless and reckless driving, drunk driving, driving on the wrong side of the road, improper passing and resisting arrest.

The defendant pleaded not guilty to all of the charges. The court's verdict was appealed to the next term of superior court. Bond for her appearance was set at $250.

Another multiple offender was John Thomas Mobley of Washington who appeared to answer charges of having no operator's license, careless and reckless driving, making an improper left turn and driving with a revoked license.

After hearing the evidence, the court found the defendant guilty on all counts except the first. Mobley was sentenced to six months in jail, but this was suspended on payment of $175 and court costs.

George Dennis Sanders of Morehead City and Theodore H. Baker of Cherry Point were charged with driving the wrong way on a one-way street. A 30-day jail sentence for Baker was suspended on payment of costs. Sanders was ordered to pay court costs.

Willie Jones of Newport forfeited bond when he failed to appear to answer charges of littering the highway.

Robert Gaskins of Greenville pleaded guilty to obtaining taxi cab services with intent to cheat and defraud, by departing without paying fare of $8. The defendant's prayer for judgment was continued for 60 days.

Cecil C. Stephenson of Cherry Point was ordered to pay court costs for speeding. John Thomas Mobley, Washington, N. C., was made to pay costs and redeem the check, after he was found guilty of issuing a worthless check.

The simple assault case against Nathaniel Reece of Morehead City was not prosecuted. The case against Evie MacArthur Taylor of Newport was ordered removed from the docket. Taylor was charged with having no operator's license.

Archie J. Green of Silverdale, charged with having no operator's license, possession of an illegal amount of liquor for the purpose of sale, failure to stop at an officer's request and resisting arrest, was convicted on all counts except possession of the liquor.

His 90-day jail sentence was suspended by the court on the condition that he pay $75 and court costs and that he remain on good behavior for two years. He was acquitted on a charge of allowing an unlicensed person to drive.

William Marbley Jr. of Morehead City, charged with simple assault, was given 90 days in jail and roadwork. This sentence was suspended on payment of $25 and costs and a year's good behavior.

Charles T. Jones of Morehead City, charged with public drunkenness for the second time within 12 months, was sentenced to 30 days in jail. The court suspended the jail sentence on payment of $15 and court costs and one year's good behavior on the part of the defendant.

Beaufort Board Takes Next Step; Hearing to be Nov. 30

Beaufort town fathers passed a resolution Monday night "to consider annexation" of certain areas adjacent to present town boundaries.

Claud Wheatly, town attorney, explained that the resolution does not mean that the town will annex, it means that a hearing will be called. Following the hearing, the town may or may not annex new areas by ordinance.

The hearing has been set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 30, in the Beaufort town hall.

Prior to presentation of the resolution, mayor W. H. Potter said, "I am of the opinion the town is not in a position to take on something of this order, in view of the potential repercussions."

He said that he was apprehensive of bringing into the town "1,000 unwilling citizens." He recommended that the town continue to work on mapping the areas and "at the appropriate time, when we are ready to make a move, take in segments or the whole part as may be financially possible."

The attorney said it is not feasible to deny the outlying areas fire service, when they can call surrounding communities and obtain fire service. There are no levers, he commented, to make the persons in the suburbs vividly aware of the benefits they receive from the town.

The mayor said that everyone in the present town administration would "have a star in his crown" if they could enlarge the town and add to it a thousand cooperative citizens. He doubted that such cooperation would be forthcoming in view of the recent vote, 34 to 1, by those citizens who would be annexed. (The vote was against annexation.)

The resolution calling for the Nov. 30 hearing passed unanimously.

The resolution points out that all the land within the corporate limits of the town has been utilized to its full extent and there is no other area for development; that town residents are forced to move out of town to build homes; that unless a town progresses, it regresses; that the town possesses, in most instances, sufficient equipment and personnel to extend the necessary governmental services to adjacent areas, and expansion is necessary for developing a sound fire protection policy.

The resolution further states that all those at the hearing shall be Roderick Moore, assault; Jethroe K. Ezzell, careless and reckless driving; Jessie and Sadie Finch, violation of sanitation laws; and the drunk driving cases against Charlie Melvin Smith, Sarah Reeves Smith, Otis Norvin Fulford, Snowdie Bryant Rouse and William Amasa Murdock.

Wednesday's court action will see Beatrice Monroe tried for speeding, Ollie Hargett, public drunkenness; Jasper Dail, violation of fishing laws; Percy Allen Green, violation of prohibition laws; Ira Culpepper, violation of fishing laws; Julian Wade, public drunkenness; E. C. McIntosh, assault; Earl Davis, trespassing.

On Thursday the judge will hear cases charging Christopher Lockley with cheat and fraud; Guido Michael Mariane, violation of motor vehicle laws; Amos Locklear, careless and reckless driving; and the drunken driving cases against Shirley Ann Turnage, Lockwood L. Watson and David Brandell Merrill.

Stallings is a former member of the High Point police force. Dawkins is still on the force and has been for many years, according to Herbert Griffin, Morehead City police chief.

Stallings said that his wallet was in his trousers and before he went to sleep Tuesday night he rolled his trousers up and put them under his pillow. In the morning the trousers were found in the middle of the floor, with the wallet contents strewn about, but the money gone.

Stallings said the $1,400 was in a compartment nobody knew about. The $80 and a $20 cashier's check were in other compartments in the wallet.

The robbery is being investigated by Capt. Carl Bunch.

Garbage Can Ordinance To Go into Effect Monday

Morehead City's new garbage can ordinance goes into effect Monday.

The ordinance requires that garbage cans be no larger than 30-gallon capacity, have suitable handles and fly-tight lids.

The ordinance was passed by the town board Aug. 4, giving residents three months to comply with it. Reason for the ordinance, according to commissioners, is to improve sanitation (many receptacles now being used for garbage have no lids), improve the appearance of the town by having uniform garbage receptacles, and increase efficiency of the garbage collecting crew who frequently have been delayed by having to hoist heavy 50-gallon drums which formerly contained oil.

Unless the home-owners meet the garbage can requirements, they will be subject to prosecution in the town court.

Two Magazine Salesmen Ordered Out of County

Two youths, Curtis Leon Raynor and Wilgrier Raynor, were sentenced to two years in jail Tuesday in county recorder's court. Both pleaded guilty to obtaining money under false pretense.

The boys were apprehended in Beaufort Tuesday, Oct. 22 after they went from house to house trying to sell magazines. They claimed that they were from the "Hendricks Baptist orphanage at Greensboro." (There is no such place). One said he was trying to accumulate points so that he could get a scholarship to go to college.

They claimed to be brothers. After questioning of each, separately in the sheriff's office, their stories were found not to coincide. Judge Lambert Morris suspended jail sentences on condition that each pay $12.50 and costs and stay out of the county for two years.

Other defendants, their charges and the findings of the court were as follows:

Aaron Eugene Beaty — Allowing an unlicensed person to drive. Costs paid.

Harris Muckelvan — Careless and reckless driving, failing to yield the right of way resulting in money under false pretense.
